Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How to Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

MR. BURKETT FOR SENATOR

Looking toward next year the republicans of Nebraska already foresee that the political feature of chief interest in this state will be the choice of a United States senator to succeed Charles H. Dietrich.

In the selection of senator the state will by common consent be divided by the Platte river. Therefore it may now be conceded he will come from the South Platte country.

In the list of eligibles for the high place Congressman E. J. Burkett of Lincoln stands preeminent and, if the Tribune mistakes not, his availability will continue to force itself upon the convictions of the republicans of Nebraska.

Mr. Burkett went to congress four years ago when he was thirty-two years old. He had had a term of legislative experience in the Nebraska legislature. With this he took to Washington youth, integrity, ambition and industry. With this strong combination he has forged to the forefront in the greatest forum of the world. He has established a reputation for close attention to detail. He has gained a prominent place on one of the most important committees of the house, that of appropriations, of which Mr. Cannon has been chairman. He has been the right hand man of Mr. Cannon, who has generously and freely acknowledged Mr. Burkett's valuable services. Mr. Burkett has likewise demonstrated his aptness and forcefulness in debate and on the floor he is one of the best of the republican members. His work in the departments for his state and constituents has been unflagging and effective.

Mr Burkett has developed at a marvelous rate. His best friends are surprised at the progress he has made in four years. His growth has been so fast they have scarcely been able to realize it. But when they see him in a campaign, as many of them have in the one just closed, his fitness for the work in which he is engaged dawns upon them with renewed satisfaction and force.

And then Mr. Burkett would be more conspicuously what he already is, a leader in Nebraska. He would unite all factions as no other man could. All would have special pride in him. The party will be unified and strengthened by his election. He would be a party counselor, whose services as such are needed, in this state. His sound judgment and splendid eloquence make him a leader the republicans would safely and gladly follow. He would arouse the enthusiasm of the young man and command the admiration of the older ones. In many of his high qualities he would fill what is now and has been for years an aching void in Nebraska's United States senators.

If the next republican state convention would endorse the candidacy of Mr. Burkett so confident are we of his ability to vindicate his own and his party's cause, we believe he would create a whirlwind of enthusiasm, the republican legislative tickets would sweep their districts and assurance would be made doubly sure.—Fremont Tribune.

ON A RIVER BOAT.

The Scale of Rank and Precedence is Sliding and Slides Only One Way.

Authority on board of a steambot is an interesting study. It runs on a sliding scale, but, unlike the gamut, it slides only one way. This is bad for the lower "C" on the steambot, but he has to stand it. A good illustration of how the thing works was given not long ago on a boat in the Delaware, says the Philadelphia Ledger.

The captain of a steamer was trying to make a landing at a dock, but the operation was attended with some difficulty. A line from the bow had been run out and made fast to a post, but the vessel's stern was swinging off into the stream. The skipper, with a scowl on his brow, stood on the bridge, abaft the wheelhouse, and stared at the first mate, who was hustling around on the hurricane roof amidships. Down below on the quarter-deck the second mate was helping the third mate, and a deck hand to take the turns out of the stern line, which was snarled up on deck instead of being fast on the dock.

"Mr. Olsen," said the captain, in a gentlemanly tone of voice to the first mate, "why in thunder don't you get that line out, you long, lean, lank, knock-kneed, tar-painted wreck of returning reason? Don't you see we're swinging off?"

"Aye, aye, sir," Mr. Olsen replied, respectfully, touching his cap to the skipper.

Then Mr. Olsen leaned far over the rail, and, raising his voice, he called the second mate's attention to a matter of very great importance.

"Mr. Peterson!" he yelled, "what's eating you, you tow-headed, block-eyed lubber? Do you want to choke the stream? Get a move on you, and be quick about it!"

"Aye, aye, sir," was Mr. Peterson's response to the delicate attention received from his superior. He then gave the third mate some instructions:

"Swanson," he gently but firmly remarked, "I'll crack your blooming skull if you don't hump yourself, you gaunt-eyed, bow-legged stock-fish feeder. Bear a hand there. Lively now, and get that line out!"

"Aye, aye, sir," said Swanson, in a humble voice.

Then Swanson gave the deck hand, who gets $12 a month, a clout on the side of the head that knocked him spinning. Then he jumped on him with both feet, and shouted: "Why in the name of the other place don't you pay out that stern line, you low-lived, white-livered, mule-eared, hog-backed, slab-sided, bench-legged, feeble-minded, nullis rubber? What are we paying you for?" And he finished the unfortunate man with a kick in the ribs.

The deck hand ran the line out and made the boat fast. Then he went down in the hold, where he anointed his person and clubbed himself with a handspike.

Mrs. Frank Chasson, Patterson, Ia. writes June 8th, 1901: "I had malaria fever in a very bad form, was under treatment by doctors, but as soon as I stopped taking their medicine the fever would return, I used a sample bottle of Herbine, found it helped me. Then I bought two bottles, which completely cured me.
