Few men would care to be done by as they try to do others.

A man makes no particular progress by patting himself on the back.

Virtue may be its own reward, but it is not its own advertising agent.

Wonder if Mr. Carnegie really intended to include the "heroine" in his generous offer?

A capitalist will respect you more if you try to borrow $5,000 than if you ask for only $5.

The Japanese have invented an extinguishable fire. They have also been using a fairly accurate one.

The man who will point a gun at a friend and tell him that "it isn't loaded" shows every indication of being loaded himself.

If the average girl doesn't play the harp in the next world any better than she plays the piano in this there's going to be trouble.

We are solemnly informed that the czar has a passion for bric-a-brac. Just now he appears to be anxious to secure some pieces of old China.

A Salt Lake girl received $4,000,000 the other day when she became 18 years old. Her friends are now anxiously waiting for her to pick out her duke.

Noodle manufacturers have formed a trust and boarding-house keepers will hereafter place only four noodles in each bowl of soup, but prunes will still be served five times a week.

According to a New York physician, thirty-two per cent of the criminals of this country are left-handed. It is easy to see that when a man puts his hand to criminal work it isn't right.

The Japs are reported to have invented a fire that will burn under water. If the Japs want to get right next to the hearts of the American people let them now invent a furnace fire that will burn without coal.

People who have investigated the subject agree in the belief that this country's army of grafters is more dangerous to the stability of the republic than the confederate army was in 1862. The firing must be continuous if the United States is to be saved.

Ex-Secretary Gage declares there is no truth in the assertion that every man who has over a million dollars got it dishonestly. Every man who has more than a million will agree with him, and the ones who have less than a million each can only guess anyway.

Commenting on the heraldic design of the two-headed eagle, a London paper has explained that there is no especial significance to such a double animal. It is simply the fusion of two figures placed back to back on the same shield. Some one suggests that the American eagle needs two heads, because he has to watch two oceans at once, and with continuous attention. Not at all. Any American knows that a true Yankee eagle can turn its head quickly enough to cover the home plate, and still prevent any one from stealing bases.

"The small number of words actually necessary for ordinary purposes in our everyday life is surprising, and nothing illustrates this better than the limited vocabulary of a little child." Dr. M. Harris said. "I have a daughter, 6 years old. She is able to make all her wants known, to talk freely and easily. If an adult knew just the number of words in a foreign tongue that she knows in her own he would be able to get along nicely in a conversational way with people who spoke nothing but that language. What the child's vocabulary comprises, how many words and of what classes I recently made it my business to ascertain in a series of investigations extending over a considerable period of time. I found that the total number of words she knew and used was just 352, omitting proper names, and that 54 per cent of these were nouns, 18 per cent verbs and 11 per cent adjectives, the remainder being made up of conjunctions, prepositions and pronouns."

Women interested in practical education are planning the establishment of a course in "mothering" in the London technical schools. They believe that the girls of the present day know too little about the cares of babies, and they propose to provide the girls with life-sized imitation babies of rubber, in the care of which they will receive instruction for a year. They will have wicker cradles, and two complete outfits of clothing, one for the early stages of life, when long dresses are worn, and the other for the beginning of the short-dress period. The pupils will be required to learn to dress and undress the rubber dolls, and to learn how to feed them and to put them to sleep, and to do all the many necessary things incident to the care of an infant. The children of the poor, who take care of their own baby brothers and sisters, know about all the things that would be taught in the course, and know them better than the school-girls will learn them, because they tend live babies. It is curious how the artificial life of large cities compels the adoption of artificial methods for teaching the young the simple facts which in a more natural life they learn from the beginning.

There is good news that there is to be a reform in sleeping cars. Hereafter instead of panels of pressed carving and heavy draperies and padded plush seats and a general cheap plush photograph album appearance, there is to be plain or inlaid panels, light curtains and as little upholstery as possible. All this will make the cars more sanitary and more comfortable as well as cultivating a better taste. It is said that bad taste has been spread by the decorations of the Pullman cars. People of no natural taste, seeing these, have adopted them as a standard, and the result is that thousands of homes have been made ugly by the copying of these abominations. The Pullman Company are to be congratulated in taking one step from their bazar ornamentations toward better taste and higher civilization. They could go another and a longer step by not charging $2 or $2.50 for a shelf in a car, when a very good hotel will furnish a whole room and better accommodations for 50 cents or $1 for the night. Also they might reform their perfectly devilish rule of charging $2 extra for air if the upper berth was not occupied. There ought to be a law compelling them to do this much for their patrons. Now they shut the upper berth down almost like a coffin lid, even if the upper berth is not occupied, and if the occupant of the lower berth wants the air of that inclosed place, he must pay $2 extra for it.

The public is a good deal like a pack of wolves. When a wolf goes down the pack, leaps upon him and tears him to pieces. Take a great financier, for example. There is Sully. A few months ago he had friends in Wall street by the hundreds. Men of wealth and of power were glad to sit with him in games of poker, to be seen with him on the streets, to be known as his friends and confidantes and confederates. Sully's methods were known just as well then as they are now, yet every man was his friend. Thousands took advantage of his methods to make fortunes for themselves. He failed, and instantly he is condemned; instantly, like wolves, we are upon him; not one out of all the thousands that made money through him stands up for him. His methods, profited by before, are now denounced. Yes, the public is like a pack of wolves—though it hardly seems just to say it without an apology to the wolves. There is no good reason to assume that the financier who falls is any more reprehensible than the ones that keep their feet. There are great swindlers without number to-day thriving and being lauded to, who just as richly deserve the penitentiary as they would if they should fall. Failure, which dooms wolf or man, is not in fact even an indication of wrong. Some of the noblest men and best enterprises have failed. No longer ago than 1900 the big brokerage firm of Price, McCormick & Co., went to smash with liabilities amounting to $13,000,000. Price paid 82 cents on the dollar and was discharged in bankruptcy from further legal obligations. But he voluntarily assumed moral obligation. It is now stated that the last dollar necessary to square the big account has been paid. Of course, Mr. Price's action has had many precedents. Mark Twain supplied one of them. It is a course that indicates standards of commercial honor that cannot be too much encouraged. We need more of the manhood that denounces dishonest and unjust methods in spite of their success and less of the wolfishness that tears to pieces the man, good or bad, who falls.

Korean Patriotism.

The Koreans have been called an unpatriotic people. This may be true if patriotism means a passionate desire for the welfare of one's country; but if a consuming desire for the preservation of national identity is patriotism, then the Koreans are indeed patriotic. The one thing they fear is national extinction, whether such extinction would mean better government or not. They would rather live without equitable government, without sanitation, without education, without any of the concomitants of civilization, if with these they must also accept foreign domination.—Century.

It is easier for a man to be a good husband, in the opinion of his wife's mother, than it is for her daughter-in-law to be a good wife.

A Reason for Sickness.

Healthy kidneys take from the blood every 24 hours 500 grains of impure, poisonous matter—more than enough to cause death. Weakened kidneys leave this waste in the blood, and you are soon sick. To get well cure the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, the great kidney specific.

Mrs. J. H. Bowles of 118 Core St., Durham, N. C., says: "I was sick and bedfast for over nine months, and the doctor who attended me said unless I submitted to an operation for gravel I would never be well. I would not consent to that and so continued to suffer. My back was so weak I could not stand or walk, and it aches constantly. The first day after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I felt relief, and in a short time I was up and around the same as ever, free from backache."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Bowles will be mailed to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price 50 cents per box.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

GOOD Short Stories

Kirk La Shelle, the comic opera writer, has a son aged 3, known as "Bill," who is very fond of his father, but has no liking for society—especially for an afternoon tea crowd. His mother entertained a lot of friends recently, and Bill was the center of admiration. The men tossed him in the air, and the ladies kissed him—to all of which he submitted politely; but when the first opportunity presented itself he crawled up into his father's arms, and said, in very woe, pleading ones: "Father, let's get out of this—I had have a rough house of our own."

Kemble, the artist, while sketching in the mountains of Georgia recently, employed an angular "cracker" as a model. The native, when asked what his hour's work was worth, told Kemble that he thought a dime would be about right. The artist showed him the sketches, and asked what he thought of them. "Wall," was the brawling reply, "seems to me it's mighty piddlin' business for a man to be in, but you must be makin' suthin' out of it or you couldn't afford to throw away money like this fer jest gettin' a man to stand around doin' nothin'."

"Rube" Waddell, the baseball pitcher, conceived the idea that he would like to put in the spring months playing on a college team, and asked a friend what course of study he would better take. "Shooting and fishing," said his friend, with all evidence of seriousness. "Great," said Waddell; "I could pass that easy," and he sat down and wrote to the dean of one of the Southern institutions, in regard to taking a "shooting and fishing" course at his college. He was pained later at receiving a stern note from the dean, who thought Waddell was making fun of him.

James F. Sweeney, a Massachusetts lawyer, had as a witness a very refractory woman, who, in answer to his most polite questions, would reply sharply and evasively. Her meek and humble husband, who was in court, looked much distressed. At last, at one of Mr. Sweeney's innocent questions, the lady vindictively cried: "Mr. Lawyer, you needn't think you can catch me; no, sir, you can't catch me." With his most pleasing smile, Mr. Sweeney responded: "Madam, I haven't the slightest desire to catch you, and your husband looks to me as if he was sorry he had succeeded."

A prominent Philadelphia educator in telling of his early struggles, recounts that he once taught school in a district where he kept bachelor's hall, the neighboring farmers supplying him with food. One day a young boy came running breathlessly toward him. "Say, teacher," he gasped, "my pa wants to know if you like pork." "Indeed, I do like pork," the teacher replied, concluding that the very stingy father of this boy had determined to donate some pork to him; "you tell your father if there is anything in this world that I do like, it is pork." Some time transpired and there was no pork forthcoming. One day he met the boy alone in the school yard. "Look here John," he said, "how about that pork?" "Oh," replied the boy, "the pig got well."

Lake Gave Man a Fortune.

The body of Baron Ladislaus Solnoszy, a millionaire member of the Hungarian house of magnates, has been placed in a magnificent vault near Budapest.

The baron, who received his title of nobility from Francis Joseph several years ago, owed his enormous fortune to a most remarkable accident. He began life as a farmer and took a ten years' lease on an estate belonging to Prince Esterhazy, near the shallow Neusiedler lake.

In the first year of the lease the lake, in a mysterious manner, dried up, and Herr Falk, as he was called at time, found that he could cultivate the immense lake bed, which consisted of exceedingly fertile soil.

The lake remained dry during the full term of his lease and he made a great fortune. Soon afterward the lake began to fill up again and now presents its old appearance.

Histrions and the Canal.

"The Panama Canal is all right for some people," said the sagacious theatrical manager, "but how's a company that gets broke in Rio Janeiro or Buenos Ayres going to walk back to the States if the continent is cut in two?"

The Preacher's Evidence.

Roland, Ill., June 27.—Diabetes has so long been looked upon as an incurable form of Kidney Disease that a sure cure for it must rank as one of the most valuable discoveries of the age. And every day brings forth fresh evidence that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Diabetes. Important evidence in their favor is given by Rev. Thos. B. Norman, the well-known Baptist minister here. Mr. Norman says:

"I had all the symptoms of a bad case of Diabetes and received so much benefit from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills that I cheerfully recommend them to anyone suffering from that dread disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure the worst form of Diabetes."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Diabetes, one of the final stages of Kidney Disease. All the earlier stages from Backache to Rheumatism are naturally much more easily cured by the same remedy.

A severe case of Ovarian Trouble and a terrible operation avoided. Mrs. Emmons tells how she was saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it.

"I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—MRS. LAURA EMMONS, Walkerville, Ont.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.
