We are especially pleased at the reelection of Gov. Mickey. A dirty mean fight was made on him, but his fine administration has been endorsed by the thinking people.

It is suggested that Parker move to make Roosevelt's election unanimous. It is so near it that it will practically make no difference, but then it would look better to have it unanimous.

Take the wagonette when in Auburn if you want to go to any part of the city. John McElhaney prop.

We believe no mistake was made in the election of Chas. O. French as county attorney. He is a brainy young attorney who will do credit to the people that elected him to office.

At one time during the counting of the votes in Nemaha Tuesday night Berge had 16 plurality over Mickey and the republicans were feeling pretty blue, but the last ballots turned the tide the other way. Every republican got a good majority.

Sherm Kauffman of Brownville says he never killed any catamount or any other wild animal, as reported two weeks ago, and never saw any, so the probability is that the wild animal that caused so much uneasiness about St. Deroin is still at large, though nothing has been heard of it recently.

Willard H. Dressler is now one of the clerks in the navy yards at San Francisco. His father, John I. Dressler, got a letter from Willard Wednesday. He says he thinks he will like the work allright. A series of gospel meetings will be held at the Christian church commencing Nov. 13, 1904. D. M. Sayles of Bethany will do the preaching. A prayerful invitation is extended to everybody to attend these meetings. "Come go with us and we will do thee good."

J. W. SAPP.

A. B. & M. special came in from the west Monday afternoon, and went south from here. It was a new special car, running with a gasoline engine inside the car. It looked something like a street car. No engine is used except the car or coach. It is a new thing in the railroad business. A number of the railroad officials were on board.

Mrs. Kerker, Louie. May, Earl and Fay drove out to Auburn Monday coming back on the Brownville road. About four miles east of Auburn one of the wheels broke down, all of the spokes breaking off at the hub. Fortunately the horses stopped when spoken to. A spring wagon was borrowed and they came on home with no farther accident except the tugs came own once while going down hill.

Albert M. Lewis, a prominent farmer of Aspinwall precinct, died at his home Friday, Nov. 4, 1904.

Mr. Lewis was an enterprising, industrious man, a good citizen, highly respected, and his death is a great loss to the community. His sorrowing wife and children have our sympathy in their time of bereavement. The funeral services were held at Prairie Union church at 11 o'clock a. m. Sunday. Mr. Lewis was a member of the Woodmen of the World, and that order had charge of the services.

G. F. Larimore recently secured a patent on a new cement railroad tie which it is believed will gain favor with engineers now looking for a substitute for the short lived wooden tie. A socket and spring for a grooved common spike, which is firm and yet may be removed at will, completes the scheme, and as the inventor claims the tie can be produced at a cost but little above the wooden article the idea may prove quite valuable. A model of the invention is on display at the short orderhouse.—Humboldt Leader.

We have read and heard of the "dollar a plate" banquets given to politicians and big men in cities when their admirers want to honor them and at the same time allow the "common people" to take part, but we never attended such manifestations of popular approval. However, on election day we had the privilege of partaking of two such banquets—at noon and in the evening. They were given at the Minick hall by the ladies of the Christian church, and though the meals served were equal to those at a "dollar a plate" banquet, it cost those partaking only 25 cents.

Western railroading may be revolutionized by a new engine which the Harriman system is having constructed in New York, and which will be put to a practical test in the near future on the Southern Pacific.

It will use a combination of compressed air, fuel oil and electricity for power. There will be no coal, no ashes, no sparks or cinders, and it will require no fire or water.

The new engine is designed by Joseph H. Hoadley, president of the International Power company, and organizer of the American Locomotive company, in connection with Walter H. Knight, chief engineer of the International Power company.

The powerful new engine is calculated to have a speed of from 100 to 125 miles an hour. It is being built by the Corliss Works, at Providence, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Worcester, who for eight years have been missionaries in Southern Africa, gave a lecture at the Methodist church Wednesday night. On account of the rain the attendance was only fair. Mr. and Mrs. Worcester both made good talks, descriptive of their work in the transvaal. They were at Johannesburg when the Boer-English war broke out. They started back to America the last of March, and expect to remain about a year. They had a fine display of articles used by the natives in that country—wooden dishes, spoons, iron spears, war clubs, cloth made from the bark of trees, leopard, wild cat and deer skins, etc. Also the skin of a boa constrictor thirteen feet long, a piece of hippopotamus hide an inch thick, a lion's claw, and other curiosities.

Mr. Worcester was born in Richardson county. His wife formerly lived in St. Deroin, being the daughter of Christopher Vick, who died last spring. She is a sister of Mrs. Lankemper of St. Deroin.

Election in Nemaha

There was a good vote polled in Nemaha precinct Tuesday, and very little wrangling or disputing. Considerable scratching was done. The vote was 228, against 217 last year. The Roosevelt electors received 125 votes, Parker 58, Watson 28, and Swallow (prohibition) 10. The following is the vote on state and county ticket in detail, the republican candidate being given first, followed by the fusion, and lastly the prohibition:

For precinct officers the fusionists made no nominations. Two justices of the peace and two constables were to be elected to fill vacancies. The following is the vote:

Justices of the peace—Sanders 130; Minick 133.
Constables—Maxwell 133; Colerick 128.
Road overseers—Dist. 32, C. L. Russell 38. Dist. 33, J. H. Seid 23. Dist. 34, W. T. Russell 26.
There were 15 votes cast for the proposed constitutional amendment and 28 against it.
Elmer J. Burkett received 112 votes as preference for United states senator. The average republican majority on the state ticket this year was 15. The average republican majority on the county ticket was 12.
Last year the average republican majority on the state was 6, and on the county ticket it was 7.

The prohibitionist made a big gain here, polling 10 votes. Last year there was no straight prohibition vote.

No Pity Shown.

"For years fate was after me continually," writes F. A. Gullidge, Verbena, Ala. "I had a terrible case of Piles, causing 24 tumors. When all failed Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. Equally good for burns and all aches and pains. Only 25c at Keeling's drug store."

The election of a republican legislature, in spite of the exceeding skillful fight made upon the revenue law by the fusionists, will have a tendency to make the nomination of senators by the state convention the regular policy of the republican party in Nebraska. There is no doubt that the advance selection of Mr. Burkett as the party nominee for senator added strength to the legislative ticket in doubtful districts. The people wished to send a man to the senate who would support Roosevelt. They were satisfied with Mr. Burkett and were glad to know that the election of a republican legislature would not result in a senatorial scandal. They could cast their votes for straight legislative tickets with a clear conscience. A wholesome reform has therefore been accomplished in this state. If the voters remember this senatorial matter one year from next summer and insist upon having a hand directly in the naming of a senator they can wrest the power from the hands of the legislative manipulators and keep it indefinitely. Next to electing by direct vote, the nomination of senators by the whole party is the most promising reform now in sight in connection with this office.—State Journal.
