Mrs. Clay Allgood committed suicide at Council Bluffs, Iowa, recently on account of extreme destitution and the fact that her children had been taken away from her. Mrs. Allgood was formerly from Brownville, being the daughter of Henry Knepper. One sister, Fannie Knepper, committed suicide about thirty years ago.
Friends in this city received word the first of the week to the effect that George Codington had struck it rich in the oil fields at Cleveland, Oklahoma. It will be remembered that he leased his lots in that city to an oil firm. The company drilled a well on his property and succeeded in bringing in one of the best wells in the field. The flow of oil was developed Friday or Saturday. Mr. Codington's royalties from this source will amount to a considerable sum. His many friends here will be glad to learn of his success.—Auburn Herald.
The worst storm for several years held sway Tuesday. The storm began Sunday with a light drizzling rain. Monday it was colder with a little rain and snow, and that night the wind howled and the weather turned colder, and Tuesday morning we had a blizzard on hand to welcome us when we got up. It snowed and blowed all day and the thermometer huffed the zero point, being from two to four below in the morning and evening. Stock that was not sheltered suffered severely and people who had to be out doors did not enjoy the cool breezes to any great extent. The conclusion was unanimous that this part of the union was not a very good winter resort if you did not like a bracing atmosphere.

Mrs. Celia Canady and daughter of Auburn were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Seid from Tuesday until Thursday, when they went to the home of C. O. Tompkins of Aspinwall precinct.
We will send the Advertiser, the twice-a-week Lincoln Journal, the Iowa Homestead, the Farm Gazette and the Homemaker, all one year for only $1 50. The regular price of these papers is $3.25.
A hard coal burner has been put up in the bank, and Frank Titus is congratulating himself because he doesn't have to build fires these cold mornings. But Elmer Allen tells him just to wait until he finds the fire out some extra cold morning, and has to rekindle it, and then he won't think it quite so fine.
We learn from the Grangar that Elder W. H. Winters, son-in-law of Mrs. S. T. Argabright, is lying very sick at the home of his brother, John Winters, in Lincoln. The elder, who resides in Indian territory, came to Nebraska two or three weeks ago on a visit.
Mrs. W. G. Maxwell invited a number of our young people to a party at her home Wednesday night, to meet Miss Fannie Noyes and Mr. Floyd Noyes of Lincoln, and also as a farewell party to her son, Alva Maxwell, who goes to Lincoln to attend a business college. A delightful evening was spent by those present.
Your account is balanced up and we always have time to write a receipt. We extend a special invitation to old timers, start the new year out right, pay up your old debts and try and keep from contracting new ones that you can't pay when you agree to. This advice is free but the goods you owe us for is not free.
Edwards & Bradford Lbr. Co.
The patrons on the rural routes should understand that the rural carriers are not compelled to get out of their wagons to leave mail where there are snow drifts about the boxes. If the patrons do not clear away the snow the carriers will not leave the mail. If the roads are impassable on account of drifts the patrons should break them so the carriers can get through. Otherwise the carriers will miss them.
The Christian Sunday school will give on New Year's eve an oyster and ice cream social. There will be also other things to sell. There will be three or four booths and one of the booths will contain fancy articles and some wearing materials. We solicit the aid of all members and friends. Come out and help us, we will only charge you 10 cts for oysters and 15 cts for fresh oysters. This social is given for the benefit of the Christmas tree.
The people of Nemaha are assured of a treat on Saturday night, Dec. 31 when the Peterson Sisters Concert Co. assisted by Sidney Landon, entertainer, will be here. The Peterson Sisters are from New York state and are both a lady quartette and an orchestra, playing instruments as well as singing. They play mandolin, violin, guitar and piano, and are fine singers. Sidney Landon is one of the best entertainers of the day. His impersonations are great. The entertainment will be of so diversified character as to suit all classes. Get your reserved seats at the Keeling drug store. General admission, 25 cents; reserved seats, 35 cents.

A Frightened Horse
Running like mad down the street dumping the occupants, or a hundred other accidents, are every day occurrences. It behooves everybody to have a reliable Salve handy and there's none as good as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Burns, Cuts, Sores, Eczema and Piles, disappear quickly under its soothing effect. 25c. at Keeling's Drug Store.

The Christian Sunday school gave a good Christmas entertainment Saturday night, with recitations, songs, etc. One of the most pleasing features was an old fashioned fireplace. Six little folks came in, ready for bed, in nightgowns and carrying candles, and hung up their stockings. After they went out Santa Claus came in and filled the stockings. After the entertainment the presents on the well loaded Christmas tree were distributed. The church was filled full, all the standing room being occupied, and then many were unable to get inside.
The Methodist Sunday school treated the scholars to candy, nuts and oranges Sunday morning. In the evening a fine program was given, entitled "Bethlehem's Star." The songs and recitations were all fine and were well rendered. Rev. G. W. Ayers gave a short talk at the close. Although the night was quite stormy the church was filled.
