J. H. Dundas announces in this week's Granger that he is a candidate for congress, and also announces a characteristic platform upon which he will run.

Amos T. D. Hughes died at his home at Howe, last Sunday morning at the advanced age of 72 years, 10 months and five days. Funeral services were held from the M. Mr. Hughes was one of the pioneers of Nemaha county, having come here in 1885, and soon afterwards homesteaded the farm on which he ever after lived.

Henry Harmon died at his home in this city on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 14, aged 82 years and 10 days, after a brief illness of grip and pneumonia. Mr. Harmon and family were the first to settle near the present site of Auburn. He homesteaded a farm a mile east of the city in 1855 and it was on this farm that Mr. and Mrs. Harmon reared their family of fourteen children, eight sons and six daughters, all of whom are now living except one daughter. On March 1, 1899, this worthy couple celebrated their golden wedding, with a family reunion at which all of the children were present. Three of the sons are in the ministry of the Christian church, Harvey at Columbus, Ind., Andrew at St. Paul, Minn., and Nathan at David City, Nebr.

Take the wagonette when in Auburn if you want to go to any part of the city. John McElhaney prop.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

The Nebraska Advertiser

W. W. SANDERS & SON, Prop's.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1905.

Dr. B. F. Lorange of Brock has decided to locate in Auburn, and will move there by the first of next month. He is a fine physician and a good citizen.

The bill introduced in the house of representatives by Ernst, float representative from Nemaha and Johnson counties, providing for a binding twine plant at the penitentiary, was passed by the house Tuesday by a vote of 66 to 19. Howe and Peabody both voted for the bill.

The trains have been very irregular for the past week. Monday train 98 from the west did not arrive at Nemaha until 9:30 p. m. Tuesday there were no trains at all. Wednesday passenger train 97 from the north did not arrive until after four o'clock, and train 98 did not get here until 7 o'clock Thursday morning—15 hours late.

Amos T. D. Hughes, one of the pioneers of Nemaha county, died at his home at Howe Sunday, Feb. 12, 1905, aged 72 years, 10 months and 5 days. Mr. Hughes came to Nebraska in 1857. After serving with the second Nebraska regiment during the war he settled on the farm adjoining Howe, where he has lived ever since. He leaves an aged wife, three sons and four daughters.

Whereas, the allwise Creator has seen fit in his providence to take from our beloved brother, S. K. Anderson, his daughter Hazel, and thereby depriving him of a kind and lovable daughter, we as his fraternal brothers of Victory lodge No. 195 I. O. O. F. Nemaha, Nebr., do most sorrowfully resolve

That we deeply sympathize with him and his family in this sad bereavement and will render to them all the help we can to lighten their sorrow and loneliness.

That a copy of these resolutions be presented to him as a lasting testimony of our sorrow in this sad affliction.

That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the Nemaha Advertiser and a copy be reserved as a part of the records of this lodge.

The secret of establishing a stand of alfalfa is told by Prof. A. M. Ten Eyck, of Manhattan, Kan., in a special article in this week's Homestead. It is "good seed, a proper seed bed and land adapted for growing the crop." Each of these points is covered by Professor Ten Eyck so that the mere novice could hardly fail to grasp it. Good seed has a bright, clear color and is well filled. It is free from weeds, especially dodder. It should test 90 per cent of germination, methods of testing being given. It is only necessary to sow twelve to fifteen pounds to the acre, and some get a good stand with less. It should be sown with a grass seeder attachment to the drill, or broadcast. The seed should not be covered deeper than one or two inches. The ground should be loose down to that depth and reasonably firm below. It is safest to sow without a nurse crop. Those and other points are ably presented. Every reader of the Advertiser interested in this great and growing subject should read the Ten Eyck article and others appearing in The Homestead. We are glad to take subscriptions at this office.

We will send the Advertiser, the weekly Lincoln State Journal, the Iowa Homestead, the Farm Gazette and the Homemaker, all one year for only $1.50. The regular price of these papers is $3.25.

There is probably more snow on the ground today than has been known by the oldest inhabitant. That is at least true as far as the records of the local weather bureau show. The people of Nebraska are now manifestly between two very severe calamities—serious floods because of a sudden thaw or the loss of thousands of cattle on the ranges from lack of such a thaw.

It is not meant to say that more snow has fallen this winter than in any other. In fact the weather bureau records show that such is not the case. The fall thus far this winter has been twenty-eight inches. The snowfalls have been so bunched, and such uniformly cold weather as prevailed, that there have been but slight intervals of thawing. The weather bureau estimates that six-tenths of the entire precipitation for the winter is now on the ground.

This estimate agrees approximately with actual measurements. One old gentleman who lives on a farm near College View, a level stretch where no material drifting could be noticed, said that several measurements made Friday showed fourteen inches on a level. That was before the fall of Saturday and Sunday and after the light fluffy snows had become packed and hardened.

The records of the weather department show that the heaviest snowfall within its observations was in the winter of 1897-8, when up to this date in February it had reached 59.7 inches. The next in depth of precipitation previously recorded was 1892-3 when the fall was twenty-four inches.

Ranchmen say that this year's fall and the accompanying cold weather is sure to prove disastrous to live stock in the western part of the state. This will not prove the case among cattlemen who were prepared to feed, but there are all over the western portions cattlemen who have brought herds into the range country to subsist on the buffalo grass, which has been covered now continuously for about four weeks. A ranchman who has just come in from a month's riding over the ranges says that thousands of cattle are on the verge of starvation, with no prospect of relief. The most expeditious thaw possible could not save some of them, especially cattle brought in from the south.

On the other hand a sudden thaw would start an immense volume of water toward the gulf and swell Nebraska streams beyond the danger line. Every exposed square foot of the state is buried deep in compact snow, and the same is true of the eastern mountain slopes. It is time for the lowlanders in this and neighboring states to begin hunting places high and dry, suitable for camping grounds in case the current cold snap is succeeded by a spell of genial warmth of sun and sky. One peculiar phase of the winter's phenomena is that there has been little sleighing. Of course this is primarily because residents of this climate are not equipped with snow traversing vehicles. Snows that afford opportunities for fine sleighing are so scarce in this state, and our snowfalls are so soon dissipated by our winter warmth, that few incline to the luxury of sleighing equipments. That is one of the peculiar conditions of a climate susceptible to frequent and sudden changes.—Lincoln News.

Fraud Exposed

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit, through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease, for over 35 years. A sure protection, to you, is our name on the wrapper. Look for it, on all Dr. King's, or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. BUCKLEN & Co., Chicago, Ill., and Windsor, Canada.

As individualism in matters of dress becomes more pronounced, the boundary lines of fashion grow more and more vague, says The Delineator for March. And continuing, in the article "Fashion in New York". There are many unusually attractive designs for Spring, and chief among them is the shirt-waist dress. Both plain and fancy effects will be worn, the style depending entirely upon the occasion. For morning wear the silky mobairs in either plain or plaid effects are newest and at the same time most practical while for the dress that is to have a touch of elaboration there are pretty silks, with taffeta in the lead. There is nothing like a trim, becoming tailor-made for allaround use. There is infinite variety in the Spring coat. It ranges from the jaunty, abbreviated bolero to the graceful, enveloping redingote. Drape effects characterize the simplest shirtwaists as well as the dressy gowns.

The last cry in things fashionable is shaded leather, especially in the form of belts and stocks finished with buckles of hammered copper or silver.

The same handsome fabrics that are used to make the top garments of older persons are suitable for the small maid's coat, and, while the same designs are not employed, there is similarity in the long lines and the graceful fulness that characterize them. The softest cloth weaves, silk and pongee are suggested for the dressy little coat, while that intended for greater service may be made of heavy serge or chevot. Even in these tiny wraps is the vest introduced, suggesting a harmonious combination of materials as of colors.
