

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

San Francisco has had no saloons since the earthquake, and the mayor announces that they will be closed for an indefinite period. All saloon licenses have been revoked by order of the board of commissioners, at the suggestion of the mayor. In San Mateo county, just over the border from San Francisco, the supervisors allowed the saloons to open their places of business. The dispatch says:

"The result was disastrous. Thousands of men and women flocked over the border and indulged in drunken orgies. It produced the nearest approach to riotous conditions that has existed in the city since the great catastrophe. Chief of Police Dinan appealed to Sheriff Mansfield of San Mateo county begging him to see that all grog shops within his jurisdiction be closed. Today Sheriff Mansfield made answer that he would close drinking places despite the action of the supervisors of the county, even if it was necessary for him to go to the extent of calling upon the militia to aid him in the work."

Why not close the saloons for all time? The result of a saloon being opened anywhere is always disastrous. Drunken orgies always exist. Families are always broken up and misery ensues. This is one of the necessary results of the saloon. Then why not decide that the saloon must go. No amount of money can pay for the boys and men that are ruined, the crimes that are committed and the suffering of innocent persons caused by this monstrous evil.

Falls City was disappointed with the report of its imported miner expert on the prospects of coal in Richardson county, and an authority on minerals lately expressed a fear that the Peru deposit might be merely local. Perhaps it is to demonstrate that Nebraska is a mineral state despite such discouragements that northeast Nebraska farmers have dug up a soap mine. A mound of sand has been discovered, reads a dispatch from Sioux City, of the right consistency for scouring purposes and containing besides the necessary ingredients to produce a lather. All that seems to be lacking in the deposit is cartons ready labeled and a supply of recommendations such as "I used Nebraska Natural Bounty soap six thousand years ago and have not used any since," signed, "A Moundbuilder." Doubtless samples of the new soap will be placed on exhibition in Sioux City together with samples of the perfectly preserved butter which according to another Sioux City dispatch, was dug out of a Missouri river sandbar last year after fifty years or so of underground oblivion.—State Journal.

Attorney General Brown, who has been giving the Nebraska grain dealers' association such a chase, has commenced suit against the Nebraska lumber dealers' association. It must be conceded that he has so far made a mighty good case against the grain dealers; but if the assertions of the retail lumber men be true, he will not be able to make a case against them, though he may reach the wholesale dealers. A failure to prove the retail dealers in a trust, would be just cause for them to thank Brown for bringing the suit, for there are hundreds of customers over the state who believe prices are controlled by the association; and when they are shown that such is not the case among the retailers, by a decision of the court, the retailer will no longer rest under suspicion. A full investigation will not injure, but rather help innocent parties. If the trust is composed of the wholesalers, they can be reached by the general government.—Hastings Tribune.

For the benefit of those who are raising chickens we give the following: "Many people are troubled a great deal during the summer with mites and fleas—wherever there are fowls or birds mites will be found. Take small white onions and put a few in each nest and hang a few around in the hen house. Do this and you will never be bothered with another mite or chicken flea.—Medical Talk.

Devil's Island Torture is no worse than the terrible case of Piles that afflicted me 10 years. Then I was advised to apply Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and less than a box permanently cured me, writes L. S. Napier, of Rugles, Ky. Heals all wounds, burns and sores like magic. 25c at W. W. Keeling's, druggist.

From County Superintendent Carrington
On the whole Nemaha county has been fortunate in having good teachers this year which always insures good schools. School property has been well cared for—the school rooms and premises have been kept in excellent repair, clean and orderly and the instruction and discipline excellent.

Outside of Auburn there are 101 teachers in the county. Out of this number there have been eleven failures. Fifty one schools have been conducted and taught to the satisfaction of all concerned, many of them being model schools. Nineteen were taught, governed and cared for just fairly well. In the light of these facts we may feel encouraged.

The June Delineator is a most attractive number, containing the usual array of the latest styles, with the interesting fashion chronicles of Helen Berkeley-Lord and Endoard La Fontaine, and literary features of greatest excellence. Burton E. Stevenson contributes the first part of The Pose of Sharon, a mystery tale that will tax the ingenuity of its readers to solve, and there are short stories by Kathryn Jorboe, and Wolf Von Schierbrand, the former a story of new Japan and the latter a Russian narrative.

Under the title, The Revival of an Old Assembly, Peter Ferneau describes the ball at the Aster House, New York which was called forth national comment at the time it was held, in April. Gustaav Kobbe interestingly tells the story of Home, Sweet Home and there is a variety of excellent verses. For children, there are Stories and Pastimes, among them one of Alice Brown's Gradual Fairy Tales, and for the woman of the home, many articles of housewifely interest, including a chapter on Dirt and Danger in the Markets, in The Delineator's Campaign for Safe Foods.

Brownville Briefs

Mrs. A. L. Barber is visiting relatives in the northwestern part of the state.

Rev. Ayers and Joseph Ponn have returned from a business trip at Nebraska City.

Frank Cole will move his family to Salt Lake City this week where he expects to make his future home.

Ed Majors sold his realty in this place and with his family has gone to western Kansas where he owns a quarter section of land.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Steuterville will go to Louisville next month and will visit other points in the state during the "homecoming" of Kentuckians.

John Cranmer came in from The Hub one day last week. John says the lid is on at Auburn and it seems that the "cranks" are determined to keep it on. "Rah for the cranks. But things do change. A few years ago everyone who had the temerity to oppose the whiskey deal was dubbed crank but strange to relate the epithet is now on the other side—where it belongs.

Sherman Kauffman left last Saturday to search the river shores and drifts with the hope of finding the body of his brother Fred. This is his second trip. A clairvoyant in Kansas City told Mrs. Rauscholt, his sister, that Fred was drowned, and that "his body is lodged among something that looks like trees, above the bridge at Rulo, on the left hand side as you go down." "If I were there," declared the clairvoyant lady, "I know that I could go straight to him."

Saloon, or no saloon, that's the question, and the "paramount issue" which has been stirring our little village for several weeks past. Seems a hard proposition, too. Even a few of our most pronounced advocates of the hideous institution are not certain that all is well, that never yet has ended well. And the future has a sombre doubtful appearance. Even Judge Stull has been heard to say: "O, the saloon has a good deal of ill connected with it, but it seems that Brownville has always had a pretty hard pull, when it didn't have one." No disrespect to his honor, however, he is a lawyer and works for his clients. A man may be a lawyer though, and still have a fund of good sense, and such the judge is known to possess—therefore he can have nothing but loathing in his heart for this Brownville proposition. It might be well for the young men who come from Peru, Nemaha and the jug boys over the river who patronize our Pull, to take their bearings at that point on the Missouri where recently two of our fellow citizens lost their lives. They, i. e., these two stalwart young men, left this port in a boat in the night, plentifully provided with a variety of the Pull. But they are dead and so let them rest.

O, breathe not their names
Let them sleep in the shade
Where cold and unhonored
Their relics are laid,
Sad, silent and dark
Are the tears that we shed
Like the night dew that fall
On the grass o'er their heads.

One noticeable symptom—the effect of the poison cup—is the manifest apathy of the set with whom the dead boys trained. These have no words of pity for them nor their untimely fate, nor do they express the least sympathy for those who dearly loved them—notwithstanding their many faults So much do these horrid distillments brutalize men.

The Designer for June is already hinting of vacation days, Mary Wilsyth contributes an interesting article, "A Camp in the Woods," and Laura B. Starr one on "The World's Children at Play," while the Vacation Suggestion Department supplies two practical outlines for spending a few weeks pleasantly and inexpensively. Fancywork consists of embroidery, lace making and souvenir postal cards; and "Home-Made Wedding Cakes" and Strawberries are paid special attention in the "Kitchen Kingdom." All kinds of summery garments are shown in the regular fashion department. "Finishing Summer Skirts" is treated of in "Points on Dressmaking," and the making of a lingerie hat is described in the "Millinery Lesson." All kinds of decorations for wash dresses and the latest in parasols are pictured and described.

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

This great stock medicine is a money saver for stock raisers. It is a medicine, not a cheap food or condition powder. Though put up in coarser form than Theodor's Black-Draught, renowned for the cure of the digestion troubles of persons, it has the same qualities of invigorating digestion, stirring up the torpid liver and loosening the constipated bowels for all stock and poultry. It is carefully prepared and its action is so healthful that stock grow and thrive with an occasional dose in their food. It cures hog cholera and makes hogs grow fat. It cures chicken cholera and roup and makes hens lay. It cures constipation, distemper and colds in horses, murrain in cattle, and makes a draught animal do more work for the food consumed. It gives animals and fowls of all kinds new life. Every farmer and raiser should certainly give it a trial.

It costs 25c. a can and saves ten times its price in profit.

PITTSBURG, KAN., March 25, 1904.
I have been using your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine on my stock for some time. I have used all kinds of stock food but I have found that yours is the best for my purpose.
