Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Home of Swamp-Root.

You Look Yellow

The trouble is, your liver's sick. One of its products, "bile," is overflowing into your blood. You can't digest your food, your appetite is poor, you suffer dreadfully from headache, stomach ache, dizziness, malaria, constipation, etc. What you need is not a dose of salts, cathartic water or pills—but a liver tonic

Theford's Black-Draught

This great medicine acts gently on the sick liver. It purifies the blood, renews the appetite, feeds the nerves, clears the brain and cures constipation. It is a true medicine for sick liver and kidneys, and regulates all the digestive functions. Try it. At all dealers in medicines in 25c packages.

Over 200 cattle stalls are already reserved at the coming State Fair to be held at Lincoln the first week in September and very few stalls are unoccupied in the horse barns

San Francisco's celebration of the fourth of July was an unusual one in many respects. There was an utter absence of fireworks, the authorities having issued orders against their use.

Evidently it may become the custom to precede the reading of the Declaration of Independence on the national holiday with a lecture explaining what preventive treatment to use against tetanus germs.—Ex.

From the Sargent Leader. The village board did the right thing in ordering the curfew bill rung at 8 p. m. It is time our boys were getting acquainted with their mothers and learning some of the reining lessons of home with mother and books. A mother should mean more to a boy and girl than a house servant.

After two and a half months of the "lid," made notable by a reign of lawfulness despite otherwise unfavorable conditions, the authorities at San Francisco have permitted the opening of six hundred saloons. On the opening day, says the report, extra policemen were detailed for duty in all the blocks containing saloons. This extra expense, it would seem, might wipe out the annual revenue of five hundred dollars each which the city receives as a license fee, but the report goes on to show that the profit is to be conserved from another quarter. "It is planned," says the dispatch, "to place all men arrested for intoxication at work cleaning away debris from sidewalks and streets."—State Journal.

San Francisco's mayor signed the retail liquor ordinance and the saloons resumed business July 5. A dispatch from that city says: "Liquor selling has been prohibited since April 18, and the city has been remarkably free from crime. Saloons formerly paid $84 a year license. They will be required to pay $500. It is announced that 2,000 licenses have been granted. Dr. Hassley of the health department says there has been a remarkable decrease in disease in this city, particularly in typhoid fever and other contagious diseases."

If so much good was realized under the most unfavorable circumstances from the prohibition of saloons, why not eschew the evil thing forever? Why go back to the old way after having tried a better one?

ROOSEVELT FOR PRESIDENT IN 1908

There is a general demand among the reform element of the republican party—and in fact many who belong to other parties join in this demand—for the renomination of Roosevelt as president in 1908. The people have confidence in him exceeding by far that of any other man. While he makes mistakes yet the people believe he is honest, and not only honest but a statesman who tries to serve the people, regardless of whether it will redound to his benefit or the benefit of his party or not. He apparently never thinks of that view of the question. He believes he is the servant of the people and is trying to serve them to the very best of his ability. Of course he will be opposed by the trusts, but that is a big recommendation in the opinion of the common people. Roosevelt insists he will not accept a renomination, and is honest in this, but he also insisted that he would not accept the nomination for vice president, but when it was tendered him he felt it a duty he owed to his constituents under the circumstances to accept. It may be the same way again. He is anxious to have certain measures enacted into laws, and may accept the nomination again for the sake of assisting in getting these laws passed. His influence with members of both houses of congress, regardless of party, is very great. In fact probably no president has ever had the support of so many members of congress of the opposite party in so many measures as has Roosevelt. Party lines are swept away in many cases and both parties vie in supporting the measures advocated by the president. And yet he is a strong partisan and as independent and outspoken as Jackson ever was. But he is a man of the people and for the people, first, last, and all the time, and this is recognized by all.

A Letter from Canada

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, CANADA, July 4, 1906.

W. W. Sanders: Dear sir:—As this is the glorious Fourth of July I will write you a little sketch of this great country or what I have seen of it. I came from Omaha by the way of St. Paul and Winnipeg to this place which is about 1200 miles west and north of St. Paul, and a prettier laying country man never looked over. But the soil from a little west of Winnipeg to Calgary is very poor, most of the way being very gravelly with scarcely enough grass to hide a jack rabbit as far as the eye can see on either side of the railroad and no timber and only once in a great while a settler's shack. But after you reach Calgary the country is good and is settled from 20 to 75 miles back from the railroad and homeseekers are still pushing back farther. I am disappointed in the country in one respect, there is no good timber in this part that is valuable, being poplar and diamond willow with a thick bush on most of the land outside of the sloughs which makes it look very ragged to me. But the soil is good and the settlers all seem to be prosperous and contented, but farther north, east or west, there is good timber and not so much bush.

Crops look well but backward compared with things in good old Nebraska they don't raise anything but small grain and vegetables with very little wheat in this part of the country and the cut worms have damaged that close about here considerably.

The Canadians have their Fourth of July the first, only they call it Dominion day and they had a big time here only they waited until Monday to celebrate as the first was Sunday. They had an exhibition like our state fair four days this week and it was fine. I never saw a finer collection of stock in my life anywhere and there were about 200 entries for the speed ring with liberal purses for all classes and the people came from all over the dominion to attend it and the way they spent the money was not slow.

This is the greatest country to smoke and drink I ever was in. They don't have very much night up here as it is daylight until nearly eleven o'clock and gets light in the morning between 2 and 3.

There is one thing I saw on my trip I never saw before that was a grand sight, and that was the snow capped peaks of the Rocky mountains which were plainly visible after reaching Calgary.

If you want to put any or all of this in print for the benefit of inquiring friends you can do so after revising it and I will close with best wishes for all the old neighbors and friends.

Yours truly, D. C. HOLMES.

Congressional Convention

The First district congressional committee met Friday evening at the Lindell hotel and selected Auburn as the place for holding the next congressional convention, and August 9, at 8 p. m., as the date. The representation for the convention was fixed at 173, based on one delegate for each fifty votes, or fraction thereof, cast for Congressman Pollard. This leaves the representation as follows:

Cass	26
Johnson	14
Lancaster	56
Nemaha	16
Pawnee	16
Otoe	20
Richardson	25
Total	173

Those present at the committee meeting were: Chairman J. M. Teegarden, Secretary Clapp, Vice Chairman Strode. Committeemen: C. D. Clapp of Cass, Frank McCartney of Otoe, R. F. Reynolds of Johnson, Gus Hyer of Lancaster, H. R. Howe of Nemaha, C. A. Chappel of Pawnee, C. J. Crooks of Richardson, representing Committeeman Cooper.

Congressman Pollard was present at the meeting and heard reports from the members. Judge E. P. Holmes of this county, who is a candidate for congress and will ask for this county's strength, was about the hotel during the evening, but did not attend the committee meeting.

It is understood that Congressman Pollard stated that he was not inclined to a primary were called he would be the only candidate before the people, although it is nearly certain that he will have opposition of Lancaster county in the convention, and that some other strength may be taken away from him. He was willing to run this risk rather than put the voters to the inconvenience of a primary with but one candidate to vote for.

With the exception of Lancaster county every county represented sent reports encouraging to Pollard, and it was said there would be no doubt of his nomination by the convention.

Because of the fact that Lancaster county had a democratic candidate for congress during the last congressional fight, and some of the republican strength was lost because of personal friendship, this county's representation is not sufficient when added to that of Cass or Richardson to make a nomination. Three counties of the seven, including Lancaster, are required to ask for a primary, believing that if make a choice, 87 votes being necessary before a nomination can be made. Even Lancaster, Johnson and either Nemaha or Pawnee could not make a nomination. This elimination of part of Lancaster county's power is believed to be an aid to Pollard.—Lincoln News.
