W. W. Sanders returned home Saturday afternoon after a week's pleasant visit with his brother, John G. Sanders, editor of the Garretson (S. D.) News. He stopped over night both going and returning with his son, Will F. Sanders, at DeWitt.

Oscar L. Minick of Bracken returned home Tuesday after a few days' visit with A. R. Titus and wife near Syracuse. He says Albert has a good crop this year and is prospering. He is going into the fine stock business raising thoroughbred cattle and hogs.

Next Monday will be a big day at Auburn. At 1 o'clock Hon. William Jennings Bryan will preach democracy to the faithful, either in the opera house on the north side or on the street, and at 8 o'clock the republicans will have a big blowout, with United States Senator Burkett and Geo. Sheldon as the speakers.

The C. B. & Q. has issued a new time card, going into effect last Sunday. No change was made in the time of trains on this branch. Greatly to the disappointment of many, the Nebraska City and Lincoln passenger will not run through to Atchison by way of Nemaha, as it was rumored would be the case.

Dan Bennett and family, who have been living in Belle Plaine, Iowa, for several years, arrived in Nemaha Tuesday and will make this their home. They have rented Mrs. Hill's house, south of the lumber yard and will move in as soon as their household goods arrive. It seems like old times to see Dan on our streets again.

As a result of the counsel of the officers of the county Sunday school association, our Sunday schools will hold teachers meetings. The Methodist teachers meet Tuesday nights, the next meeting being held at the home of A. R. McCandless, and the Christian teachers will meet Friday nights, the meeting this week being at the Park hotel.
