

Lieut. U. S. Grant III, grandson of President U. S. Grant, and Miss Edith Root, daughter of Secretary of State Elihu Root, were married Tuesday in Washington.

At least two Chicago banks are now paying in full all demands for cash by depositors. This action is believed to be the first step towards a return to normal conditions.

It is not generally known that the pure food law prohibits coloring butter, so our butter makers should not try to make December butter look like that made in June by the use of butter color.

The state canvassing board tabulated the returns from the various counties Monday and found that Judge Reese had a majority over Judge Loomis of 24,406. Anderson, republican candidate for regent, had 32,918 over Sundeau and Coupland had 34,274 over Millnrd. Graves, prohibition candidate for supreme judge, polled 5,158 votes. Stebbins, socialist, got 3,200 votes for the same office.

The wholesale house for whom H. W. Lowe packed a large portion of his tomatoes, and who labeled them with their own labels, has informed Mr. Lowe that his tomatoes took the prize at the recent pure food exhibit in Omaha. This speaks well for Mr. Lowe and one of Peru's thriving young industries. Our town was especially fortunate in securing a man like Mr. Lowe to put in a plant here.—Peru Pointer.

There is not a harder worker in the county than Herb Weatherfield, of near Howe. Just now Herb is sorely afflicted. He has been knocked out of the ring by King Corn. During the husking of last week Herb's hands became infected and his arms became badly swollen as a result of the hard work. Several boils added to his misery and he has been compelled to lay off while taking medical treatment.—Auburn Republican.

Dr. W. W. Keeling came near having a fire last Friday evening. For some reason the gasoline lamp in the store would not light when he first tried it. He pumped it up and tried it a second time, but still no light. He pumped it up a third time, and when he applied the match the gasoline, which had run down from the lamp on a show case underneath, caught fire. The doctor shut off the flow of gasoline and the fire soon went out. The glass top to the show case was broken but this was about the only damage done.

The easy financial condition of the Auburn banks, as well as the merchants, was demonstrated Wednesday. It was pay day on the Missouri Pacific and fully $15,000 was paid out in wages in the shape of checks to the company employes here. All were cashed at the banks or stores and no employe had any difficulty in getting his money.

Last Saturday was pay day on the Burlington and considerable money was paid out in checks to the employes of the road who live here. The employes found no difficulty in having their checks cashed by the local merchants.—Auburn Republican.

Death of W. H. Aue

William H. Aue, who has been in poor health for a long time, died at his home near Auburn at 3 o'clock a. m. this (Friday) morning. Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church in Nemaha at 1 o'clock p. m. tomorrow (Saturday). Burial in the Nemaha cemetery.

Denise Adams Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Cox of Howe, Nebr., died in Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24, 1807, aged 7 years, four months and 1 day.

Little Denise was a bright, lovable boy. Some time ago he began to fail in health. The best physicians in the county treated him and he was then taken to Omaha. Recently he was taken back to Indianapolis to consult the old home physician, but nothing could be done.

The heartbroken father returned home Tuesday with the remains of their dear one. The funeral services were held Wednesday at the Methodist church at Howe, conducted by Rev. G. W. Ayers.

That Thanksgiving Dinner

We had our Thanksgiving dinner at the Christian church, and when we got there and saw the provision that had been made to feed the hungry, we felt truly thankful. We were a little uneasy, though, when we looked around and saw Elder Sapp, Elder Gregg, Pres Barker, August Quiller, Dr. Frazier, A. G. Warren and a few more of that kind standing around looking hungry, but after we had sized up the heaping baskets full of good things we were no longer fearful and took a seat between Elders Sapp and Gregg with great faith in the ability of the ladies to see that we got plenty to eat. And we did. When Elder Gregg finally had to cry enough (the editor had quit long before this but Pres Barker and Doc Frazier were eating as if they had just got started) he called the attention of the audience to two inscriptions on the blackboard used in reviewing the last Sunday school lesson. The first was: The Way to Live. The second one: Be Temperate. We were all eating to live but few around us had obeyed the second injunction. For the first time we fully realized the usefulness of a mouth patterned like Dr. Frazier's, when we saw him eating chicken, pie, cake, etc. It is not very pretty but for utility it takes the cake—and the pie and chicken and most everything else in sight.
