Ninety-Two Persons Injured in Yesterday's Fight.

A Scheme to Assassinate William O'Brien Discovered -- The Irish Are Ready for Serious Trouble--Other General Foreign Matters.

CORK, Oct. 30 .- As a result of last night's fierce fighting between the factions ninety-two persons were mor or less seriously injured. The majority of the visitors departed after having their cuts and bruises bandaged cr otherwise at ended to. Many, however, were found to be so seriously wounded that it was found necessary to detain them for more thorough treatment.

With the light of morning came the startling announcement that the police were in posession of information going to show that a plot had been concocted to assassinate William O'Brien. At first the story was believed to be a canard, but as soon as it became known that Mr. O'Brien had hurriedly decamped in consequence of the discovery, the excitement became in-

At the moment of filing this dispatch the streets are filled with angry men who threaten to arm themselves with more deadly weapons than blackthorns and stones. Strong guards of police are stationed in the vicinity of the gun shops and wherever it is possible doing their best to keep the turbulent and belicose mobs in motion but it is a difficult task. The report of the murderous conspiracy has terribly enraged the mob and they threaten to cast aside the light restraint which they have thus far put upon themselves and outdo the Parnellites in deeds of violence. At an early hour Leavitt arrived to fill the engagement of Mr O'Brien. The self-respecting of Mr O'Brien. The self-respecting and law-abiding citizens are becoming seriously apprehensive th t the events which are di gracing the Irish cause in this city will assume dimensions so great as to make imperative the calling out of British troops to protect the Irish people from themselves. The candidates will be formally placed in nomination on Tuesday next, and the election will occur on the followconvention.

SOME OFFICIAL ADVICE.

Comptroller Lacey Will Suggest a Change

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 31 .- Since the report was published that Comptroller Lacey, in his report to the coming session of congress, would advert at length to the recent bank failures in Philadelphia and suggest numerous remedies through legislation which might supersede the defects in the national banking laws which were revealed by the failures in question. he has been overwhelmed with inquiries, suggestions and advice from financiers and would-be financiers all over the country. Many of these have been ex-tremely radical, others bordering on the ludicrous. A good many of his correspondents have suggested that the government should run a training school for bank examiners, but the comptroller counts such an idea as absurd. He thinks, however, that something should be done to increase the efficiency not only of bank examiners and bank directors, and he is strongly inclined to hold that the latter should be compelled to give all their time to the institutions with which they are identi-fled, and that they should be held just as respon ible for all kinds of business that is transacted as are the subordi-nate employes. There is little doubt but that he will recommend in his re-port the establishment of a force of supervising bank examiners, with full power to suspend their subordinates.

IT IS QUAY AND BARDSLEY.

Evidence Found Which Implicates the

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Evidence of financial relations between John Bardsley and Senator Quay was discovered yesterday. It is in the form of a due bill, which shows that Bardsley drew from the Keystone bank on November 29, 1889, $8,877 and dispatched to Quay. Mr. Quay deposited the bill in his bank at Beaver and the Keystone bank paid it, as the indorsements was seen at his home in Beaver in regard to the certificate of deposit for $8,877 from the Keystone bank to Bardsley, made payable by him to Senator Quay, through the Beaver deposit bank, on November 29, 1889. He made the following statement: "In October, not in November, 1889, I gave a note to a gentleman representing the city committee of Philadelphia for $9,000 upon which to raise that amount of money for the campaign of that year. Of what was done with it I know nothing personally, except that the note was afterwards returned to me canceled, paid, as I understand, by the republican state committee. The Bardsley draft is for the amount of the note, less amount of discount. I had forgot-ten the details, but presume that Bardsley procured the discount of the note for the holders, taking a certificate of deposit in his own name, which was forwarded to me for indorsement, and that I deposited the certificate here and sent a check for $9,000 to Philadelphia. The gentleman who the note is from can, and I have no doubt will, explain that transaction. I know nothing of Bardsley in it, except the report that his name appeared in connection with the certificate, and had no communication with him then or since upon the subject."

Quay's Explanation. PITTSBURG, Oct. 28.—Senator Quay

The senator said he was satisfied that the date, November 29, was a forgery, because the transaction had occurred in October, within ten days prior to the election.

Among staristics cited were the following: There are 17,500 children endeavor societies, with 110,000 members; England has 150 societies and Australia 500. Societies are rapidly being or-ganized in Chins, Japan, India and all missionary lands.

STOPPING RAILROAD TRAFFIC

Seven Bridges on the Georgia Central Burned by Friends of Train Robb rs.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 28.-Seven bridges on the Georgia Central railroad, between Macon and Savannah, were destroyed by fire last night. It is supposed to have been the work of a gang of desperadoes. A few weeks ago robbers held up the passenger train near Mahan and robbed the express car, and a few days later the robbers were arrested. Another gang held up the train near Savannah and robbed the express car. They were also cap-tured and jailed, and nothing more was thought of the affair until days ago, when the Southern express officials began receiving anonymous letters from the friends of the jailed robbers threatening to tear up the road and wreck all passenger trains unless the men were released. No attention was paid to the letters until last night, when seven of the bridges and trestles on the road were destroyed by fire. The loss is very heavy and all traffic has been stopped.
