WORLD'S FAIR NOTES.

Hawaii, otherwise the Sandwich Islands, has decided to make an exhibit at the Exposition. Mrs. Lucas, lady manager for Pennsylvania, has appointed Miss Florence Lewis, a young colored girl, upon her auxiliary committee. Miss Lewis is one of the press representatives of lady managers in Philadelphia.

The National Farmers' Congress, at its recent session at Sedalia, Mo., heartily endorsed the World's Columbian Exposition. It is announced in the Berlin newspapers that the entire organization of the Imperial Opera Company of Berlin, Germany, will come to Chicago in 1893, to give operatic performances in the music hall to be erected on the Exposition grounds.

The furniture manufacturers of Chicago have taken steps to make a collective exhibit in their line, and they promise that it will open the eyes of visitors. The agricultural department of the government will make an exhibit of fac simile casts of all of the 200 varieties of edible mushrooms which grow in this country.

It is believed that the exhibit will be productive of great benefit in educating the people respecting this valuable article of food, which is abundant but now little utilized. The government of Russia has decided to haul exhibits for the fair at half rates on all government railroads, and at the same time it has suggested to private companies that they make a like reduction. A like arrangement has been effected in Germany.

Secretary Dickinson has sent out notices to the governors of the various states asking them to choose two members of their World's Fair boards to come to Chicago December 9th to attend a big World's Fair convention. This notice is sent out in accordance with a resolution adopted by a board of control, department chiefs and other officials, and to devise plans for state work. Mrs. Palmer adds a statement that she wants all women who are members of the various state boards to be present and learn about the plans for promoting the work women are doing.

Hugh Price, one of the Wisconsin commissioners, has made arrangements for securing for the World's Fair, a mammoth cork pine, a tree which is growing rare in his state. It is twenty-four feet in length, and will scale 2,500 feet. One plank is sixteen feet long, three inches thick, and forty-four inches wide, without a knot or blemish.

Professor Ives of the art department, reports that the artists of Russia are deeply interested in the exposition and have promised him to send to it a fine collection of their best work. The native flora of each state and territory will be shown at the Exposition, under the direction of Chief Thorpe, who has enlisted the lady managers to undertake the collection of specimens.

Four hundred railway lines have already agreed to return exhibits to the Exposition free of charge. Ten Truthful Thoughts. BY MARY AINDE DE VERE. When we feel the narrowness of these lives of ours, each in its own small circle, we are consoled by knowing that every star must move within its limits, though space be around it.

The rich are only envious in one attribute—their power to help the poor. It is only in looking on death that we comprehend immortality, and only utter weariness gives promise of perfect rest.

The friend who becomes a lover continues still to be a friend; but the lover who becomes a friend ceases forever to be a lover. When it is said of a man that he treats men and women just alike, you may be sure he treats them all as if they were men.

Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof; but sufficient unto a life-time is often the evil of a single day. Children are taught more than they ever learn, and learn more than they are ever taught.

Our bodies live in houses, because our souls live in bodies. Wisdom, like many other human attributes, is only for the time. We are wise today, that tomorrow we may look back and say, "how foolish we were."

The desire to teach is stronger than the desire to learn. We only study that we may be enabled to impart again.—December Ladies' Home Journal. P. C. Corrigan, the druggist, takes especial pleasure in supplying his customers with the best medicines obtainable. Among the many excellent preparations on his shelves may be mentioned Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, a favorite during the winter months on account of its great success in the cure of colds. There is nothing that will loosen a severe cold so quickly, or so promptly relieve the lungs. Then it counteracts any tendency towards pneumonia. It is pleasant and safe to take and fully worthy of its popularity.
