It's no disgrace to be honest so long as you are poor.

Remember the charity ball Easter Monday, April 18

Sioux City bid for O'Neill's normal but was not in it.

Samuel Closson has moved onto his farm near Chambers.

See those elegant pianos at 40-2 YOUNG & CO'S.

O'Neill now has daily communication by stage with Spencer.

Boys' white waists at the Chicago Clothing House. 39-2

R. R. Dickson had business in Ainsworth's court Saturday.

Some hotel man is losing money every day by not locating in O'Neill.

New safety bicycles at 40-2 YOUNG & CO'S.

County Attorney Adams and Treasurer Scott went down to Lincoln Sunday morning.

Bro. Bates, of the Graphic, cheered our sanctum up Saturday by a very pleasant call.

John Bear, chief of the Cheyennes, passed down the road Monday on his way to Fort Omaha.

Morris & Co., are sole agents for Landreth's garden seeds. Warranted all fresh and from crop of 1891. 36-7

Judge Kinkaid and Reporter King Sundayed in the city, returning to Ainsworth in the evening.

It is rumored that before many moons pass by, one of our young bankers will join the list of benighted.

WANTED—A middle aged woman or a good competent girl to do general housework. Mrs. DAVID ADAMS.

You can see a beautiful line of spring shirts at the Chicago Clothing House. A pair of them will not cost you much.

The State Journal's new catalogue has reached our table. It is a neat and handy reference book of the encyclopedia order.

If you want to sell, buy or trade horses go to the Checkered livery barn. DeYarman Bros. are always on hand to do business in that line.

There are no better seeds put on the market than Landreth's Philadelphia garden seeds. Morris & Co. carry a full line. 36-7

Jack Welton returned from Stuart Monday where he had been working a few days to give Glassner of the Ledger, time to get married and recover from the effects of the same.

FOR SALE—A good herd pony, 4 years old. Will sell cheap. Call on or address. F. R. STANNARD. O'Neill, Neb. 38-3

Petitions are being circulated entreating his excellency, the governor, to pardon Captain Yokum, who killed his man at Hastings and was found guilty of manslaughter.

I have for sale or rent all of the Globe Investment Company's lands in Holt county. C. L. BRONN, Agt. O'Neill, Neb. 28-4

Merna Reporter: That O. M. Kem is in Washington we do not doubt, but like the inquisitive boy who saw the scarecrow in a melon patch, we want to know "what the d—l he is doing there."

Landreth's garden seeds are as cheap in price as any and better in quality than the ordinary commission seeds in the market. Morris & Co. are sole agents. 36-7

The Clay Center Sun thanks some lady for a dish of radishes and then is unkind enough to say she is "in her element among the poultry." That probably means her to be an old hen.

For Rent—I will rent my farm, which lies four miles southwest of Emmet, on easy terms. It consists of 240 acres, of which 160 is fenced. HARRY HOWE. 39-4

One of our exchanges heads its local department, "Forest and Stream." Speaking without fear or favor one would say the sheet looks as though it might be edited by a Canadian lumberman or a riverman of the days of '49

The largest stock of harness, saddles, collars and whips in this county you will find at Fred Pfunder's harness shop. Will sell you a good harness cheaper than any man in the state. Call and see for yourself. O'Neill, Neb. 39-4

The council met Monday night and canvassed the vote.

Miss Kittie O'Neill, Postmaster Riggs' efficient and popular deputy, went down to Fullerton this morning for a week's visit with relatives.

Grand Easter charity ball at the rink next Monday night, for the benefit of John Grady. The public are cordially invited to attend.

Mike Sullivan says that if the people of Stuart want a larger representation in the county convention a larger portion of them ought to vote the democratic ticket.

O'Neill has a Keeley institute, will have a normal school. St. Mary's academy, flouring mill and now she wants a good hotel building. There is no better point in the state for a good hotel.

All the gentlemen whose names are on the committees for the charity ball, are requested to meet at the rink next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, for the purpose of completing all arrangements for the ball.

The attention of the eighteen faithful is called to a little rhyme written yesterday by Bobby Burns for THE FRONTIER:

The well laid plans of mice and men glang aft' agley.

We have a copy of a resolution passed by the Producers' Brotherhood in Padock precinct last week in regard to the Scott case; also a communication from Jerusalem, both of which will appear next week.

Mrs. S. F. McNichols received the sad intelligence last Thursday night that her mother, living in Colo. Ia., was not expected to live. She took Friday morning's train for that place, accompanied by her husband.

There were about twenty members of the A. O. U. W. of this city who went to Atkinson Monday night to attend the lecture which was given there on that evening by J. W. Tate. They all report a pleasant time.

The only way traveling shows can do business with THE FRONTIER from this time on is by putting up good, hard silver. We have grown weary of donating $10 worth of space for one or two measly cents.

Deputy Treasurer Weekes received a telegram from Scott last evening stating that everything was lovely in the supreme court. That means that a mandamus will not be issued, at least until the case on error is heard.

Ed Thompson purchased Pat Biglin's bull pup last week, paying $20 for him. "Ned" is a fine dog and Ed says he can whip anything of his weight in the state, which remark he stands ready to back with a large roll of the long green.

If you have any friends in the east you think would like to come west send their address to THE FRONTIER and a copy of our last "boom" edition will be mailed to them. This is a good time of year to advertise a little.

Three young ladies of the Ewing high school went down to the oratorical contest at Norfolk and returned with three gold medals as evidence of their ability. Their names are Irene Slayton, Mable Cleveland and Lena Clingman.

The report that the Sun man will be a candidate for supreme judge a year hence is probably without foundation. Of course Charlie knows enough law—he has shown it in the Scott case—but then the state is republican. No independent need apply.

My entire line of spring and summer goods are now on exhibition and are a sight worth seeing. Call and get bargains and a choice selection on spring dress goods of all kinds at Sullivan's Trade Palace.

M. M. SULLIVAN, Prop., O'Neill, Neb.

Sheriff McEvoy started Friday morning for some point in southern Kansas, where he went for the purpose of bringing Fuller back to Holt county for trial on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He returned last evening with the prisoner.

Holt county sups. should "resolve," "whereas," "be it known," "hereby," etc., requesting Judge Bartow to come off the bench long enough to attend a course of lectures on law in the Sun office. To this end they should ever pray.

We are making a special effort to reduce our stock of canned fruits before the warm weather sets in and are offering them at prices so low that any one can afford to use them. Come in and look over our list. 40-2 O'NEILL GROCERY CO.

The Sun says: "Judge Reese introduced three decisions of the supreme court to sustain his argument," referring to the Scott case. Really! three decisions! Any one ought to know that was just what lost the case for the gentleman. Three little decisions do not amount to much when contradicted by myriads of large ones.

We have a nice line of appetizers for the spring trade, when you don't know what to eat, look this list over: horse radish, chili sauce, Lew & Perrin's Worcester sauce, Hartford sauce, French & German mustard, catsup and a full line of sweet and mixed pickles, drop in when you want to tone up. 49-2 O'NEILL GROCERY CO.

Don't forget the great bargains on clothing at Sullivan's Trade Palace for the next ninety days closing out the entire line of clothing at cost for cash only. It will pay you to get prices before purchasing elsewhere; as you will save money on all lines of goods, particularly on clothing, boots and shoes. Remember the place, Sullivan's Trade Palace, O'Neill, Neb. 39-3

W. T. McConnell of Bayard, Ia., was in the city last Sunday, visiting with J. A. Hazellet.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Wes Evans are at home again after a short visit in Wisconsin.

Our enterprising merchant, J. P. Mann will put in a circulating library for the free use of his customers and friends.

Commencing with next week THE FRONTIER will give its readers an "all home print." The paper will be the same size as at present.

THE FRONTIER has no ambition to run a daily but if its business continues to increase as it has in the past two months an enlargement will be necessary.

Rev. J. W. Bates will hold Episcopal service at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, April 17, and on Monday evening the Right Rev. Bishop Graves will officiate. All are invited to attend.

Dried fruits have never been lower than now, we can show you a line at prices that will surprise you—we have also a lead on pail jelly—drop in and sort up on a few of these bargains. 40-2 O'NEILL GROCERY CO.

In speaking of Bartow's decision in the Scott case the Sun says, "In the mean time we will grin and bear it." No "grin" has been seen lurking around the corners of Hopkins' mouth. This angular gentleman of high altitude with the lean and hungry look never smiles any more. He is like the small boy who stuck the pin into his dad. The sun does not shine as brightly, the birds do not warble as sweetly, the grass is not as green and he is not so glad that he is alive.

A little boy, 5 years of age, by the name of Rudolph Gruber, whose parents reside near Inman, had both feet cut off by a locomotive at that place last week. It seems the little fellow had been watching the engineer oiling his machine and thought he would get under the tender and see what it looked like; so when all hands were at dinner he got under the iron horse and was just in the act of getting out when the engineer returned and started the engine. The little fellow was taken to Ewing at once and both feet were amputated by Dr. Watson. He will probably recover.

While it seems to be true that John C. Hayes is a republican and is short in his accounts, yet it is also true that the board, whose duty it was to see that Hayes gave a good and sufficient bond to indemnify the township against loss, was a democratic board. It consisted of S. B. Howard, supervisor, farmers' alliance; M. Slatery, democrat; N. Martin, clerk, democrat. No blunder more reprehensible could have been made. They should have had a bond from Mr. Hayes. It is only another exemplification of the ancient truth that if given rope enough the democratic party will hang itself every time.

The May Louise Aigen company was at the opera house last Saturday night and attempted to please a rather slim house. The slimmness of the house can be accounted for by the penuriness of the management and their failure to please, by lack of talent. Some sage, whose name we have forgotten, once remarked that the "American people would rather be humbugged than not" and by the way these fourth rate companies have been palming off their 25 cent shows at 75 cents per palm has led us to believe the aforementioned sage about correct in his diagnosis. A good theatre is all right but these itinerate troupes that wag at the end of the theatrical business should be stepped on.

The present season opens up with every indication of being one of unprecedented prosperity for O'Neill in particular and Holt county in general. With a Keeley institute already established and prospering, the normal school, rebuilding of St. Mary's academy, a flouring mill, a chioery factory and a system of water works, we flatter ourselves that a first-class start has been made. But we haven't got enough. We want everything there is in sight. Let the good work go merrily on. It is an undisputed fact that O'Neill has a class of the most energetic business men and citizens to be found anywhere. Political differences and business competition fade quickly away when any enterprise heaves in sight that will be conducive to the public weal, and to this fact, coupled with the advantage of location can be credited the prosperous events of the present year.

It is at once amusing and exasperating to do business with the average advertiser. For instance a clothing merchant comes into the business office and asks the price of a column ad. for a week, or a month, and when he is told that it will cost him, say $15, he generally gets frantic and wants to know if he looks green or if there are any fins visible around him and will say, "why man, I was just over to the Weekly Snide office and they only asked $7.50 for the same work." This class of advertisers generally lose sight of the fact that a newspaper has a circulation—a subscription list somewhere around the office and on that list depends the value of an ad. If an ad. in the Weekly Snide is worth $7.50, a like ad. in a paper with twice the circulation is worth twice as much. But how different the man when a customer comes in to buy a suit of clothes. He has been down to a cheap cash store and priced a $7.50 cotton suit and then comes to the advertiser in question who shows him an all wool suit for $15; then it is the buyer's turn. He will probably say: "The cheap cash store offered the me same thing for $7.50. Then the merchant will get mad and offer to let $10 that the competitor's suit is not all wool. This is our position exactly. While the service of our contemporary is probably worth all they ask, THE FRONTIER'S service is worth more. It is all wool and a yard wide.

A NORMAL FOR O'NEILL

That a Normal School Will Be Located Here There Is Little Doubt.

A FLOURING MILL SECURED

A Communication That Explains the Persecution of Scotty.

As stated last week, O'Neill will have a normal school. Mr. Yost, of the firm of Gunn, Yost & Co., of Fort Scott, Kan., was in the city Wednesday and purchased the entire Hazelt addition, comprising 119 lots. On this land will be erected a handsome 3-story structure to cost about $30,000, a cut of which was shown us this week by Mr. Millard, who was instrumental in making the sale.

The value of this new institution to our city cannot well be over estimated. It is said their school in Fort Scott has added over 2,000 population to the city and the one at Wayne has operated in the same manner to the extent of nearly 1,000.

This firm asks no bonus or anything of the kind. However, these lots will be for sale and judging from the effect these schools have in other places will be a safe and highly remunerative investment.

The management will run no boarding house in connection with the school, which fact will make an opening for another enterprise in that part of the city in the shape of a boarding house for students.

In speaking of the success of the normal at Wayne, operated by the same company, the Journal, of that place says:

In the five months since the opening, about 100 students have enrolled from the following localities: Cedar, Dixon, Habel, Burt, Cumming, Stanton, Pierce, Hall and Boon. The work during this time has not been confined to the lower branch, but has included the higher branches of mathematics, latin, sciences and literature. We notice on the program of the present term which opened a week ago yesterday, two classes in geometry, three classes in latin, natural philosophy, botany, general history and other work of this grade, besides classes in French, German, bookkeeping, shorthand, music, etc. No one doubts but that 200 students will be in attendance during the summer session, which opens the 7th of June.

A Sure Thing.

A meeting was called last Saturday evening in the club room for the purpose of discussing a proposition for a flouring mill to be located at this point. The meeting was well attended and much interest manifested. Mr. Fahy was elected chairman, who called upon Mr. Darr to state the object of the meeting which was to the effect that if a cash bonus of $2,000 was given a mill would be erected at a cost of $10,000. Upon motion a committee consisting of Messrs. Fahy, McCafferty and Darr was appointed to solicit subscriptions. They proceeded at once with the work and secured $1800 without leaving the room. The other $2000 has since been subscribed. The power will no doubt be furnished by the Elkhorn river. This is something that O'Neill has been sorely in need of for some time and will be a great drawing card for the city.

If Not Conspiracy, What Then?

The following communication in last week's Plain Dealer throws some light on the "persecution of Scotty." It is an old saying that "when thieves fall out honest men get their dues" and the truth of the saw was never more fully appreciated than in the present instance. It proves conclusively that the ousters were not acting in good faith; they were not afraid of the county losing any money but it was necessary for them to manipulate the treasurer's office in order to work some political schemes for the fall campaign. Hopkins wanted to be treasurer. Golden wanted to be senator and here hangs the tale which is unfolded in the communication published below. Verily, there was method in their madness. But here is the communication that gives the whole snap away.

PADDOCK, Neb., April 6. EDITOR PLAIN DEALER: There is a good deal of talk about the action of the county board in this section. One to read what is said in the alliance papers in this county concerning these malcontents would almost believe that they were genuine reformers. I wish to say that Bartow Scott today has the backing of the best element of the alliance in this section. Hopkins is as mad as a setting hen because he was not appointed in place of Fahy, and swears that John Crawford, Cord Smith and Tom V. Golden had made a fool of him, as they had promised to appoint him if they were successful in ousting Scott. Hopkins now swears that if Tom Golden is nominated by the democratic senatorial convention and endorsed by the alliance for state senator he proposes to kick out and will fight him to the hilt. He says that he has been before he signed the complaint against Scott. He said, "they made a straight bargain with me and instead of their appointing me they gave it to that rascally Hays." Hopkins says that the matter of ousting Scott was fully determined upon before the trial and there is no use of denying it. Judge Bartow's decision gives entire satisfaction in this section, as being in accordance with law and justice.

STRAIGHT ALLIANCE.

The Latest.

When you want to invest in a new suit of clothes you naturally want to get something that is new and stylish and up to the times. If you will call and look over our stock we can show you the latest and noblest things to be found in the clothing line and our prices cannot be beaten.

We have just opened our line of light underwear and fancy shirts. They are beauties and among them you can find many new styles that have come out this season.

In ties, collars, cuffs and hats you can always rely on getting the latest styles and best goods at J. P. MANN'S.

Pattern Hats for Easter.

Mrs. N. Martin is now showing a line of Pattern Hats much cheaper than you can buy them in large cities. Build up your own city and save money by buying at home. 39-2

KEELEY COCK-TAILS.

It was particularly demonstrated last week that hard cider and Keeley would not mix.

Manager Mathews and his estimable wife handsomely entertained a quartet of "jags" Sunday evening.

Visitors are always welcome at the club rooms, but we want it distinctly understood that petty larceny will not be tolerated. We miss several books.

At the regular meeting of the club Friday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: president, Cy Murphy; vice-president, W. A. Westfall; secretary, R. W. Mathews.

Dick Barrett graduated this week. Dick has been a very close student, never missing a "shot" or a "dope." He goes out completely cured and a firm believer in Keeleyism. It is such cures as Dick's that convinces the skeptics.

We violate no confidence when we say that Dr. Allen is a talker from the headwaters of Talkerville; also, that his appetite is a wonder to the public and an honor to his landlord. A few such boarders would drive a man to drink or bankruptcy.

Mr. Toune, of the Sioux City Journal, was an agreeable caller at the club rooms Tuesday. Mr. T. is a graduate of the Hot Springs institute and a firm believer in Keeleyism. His personal experience has made him an eloquent advocate of the treatment.

Four musical "coons" with guitars, banjo and mandolin, gave a pleasant musicale at the club rooms Sunday afternoon. The inspiring strains woke up Judge Westfall and he favored the audience with the highland fling, after which Harry Mathews, in his rich, deep reservation tones sang "Rocked in the Cradle of the Dope" with such sweetness and pathos that the clock choked with grief and the electric wires coiled up with remorse.

Judge Westfall received a bill from a red-nosed rum-seller named Az Perry, stating that he was indebted to the aforesaid r. n. s. to the amount of $17.98, and that he had 20 minutes to pay it in. He also wrote him a letter, from which we extract the following:

"I enclosed you will find bill for whisky furnished you. I let you have whisky when no one else would and went over to O'Neill where you could get free whisky at the Keeley. I was going to put it in Barbank's hands for collection but he told me you had three weeks to pay it in from the time you arrived at O'Neill. You told me when you left that you would pay me in 20 minutes.

The judge says he will do nothing until he finds out what that odd 3 cents was for.

The following is an extract from a letter written by James O'Hanlon, of Chadron, to Manager Mathews. It explains itself.

CHADRON, NEB., April 9, '92. W. D. Mathews, O'Neill, Neb. Dear Sir: I and I arrived home all o. k. and are feeling well. For my part I never felt better than I do now. I say this in favor of the Keeley treatment and am sure that it is a success in my case. It has done my mother as much good as it did me. She had a young son when I was a child for O'Neill. I have never thought of liquor unless some one would ask me about the treatment or if I thought I could drink it. I tell them that I could drink whisky but I do not want it and would be a fool to try. There are about eight of us old jags here and we are going to organize a B. E. C. club tomorrow. YOUNG VERY TRULY, JAMES O'HANLON.

Mr. De Van Vleck, of Rushville, graduated with honor on Saturday. He made the following address to the club boys:

Comrades of the Club—I thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me in electing me as president of this club, and for your attention and consideration you have shown me while acting in that capacity. During my term of office I was thinking of coming to this institute I supposed I would be looked down upon as a self-confessed drunkard, but upon my arrival here I found it entirely different. The patients, the officers of the institute and the citizens of O'Neill said in language and actions too kind to repeat, that they would render all the assistance in their power to anyone who was making an honest endeavor to recover from the degradation and shake off the clutch that the demon drink has upon him. I have only time to say a few words this evening as many of you are anxiously waiting to go to the show. While I have had the honor to preside our club has not met as often as it should owing to a number of circumstances, the absence from the city of a number of working members, the inclemency of the weather, etc. During my service in the army of a little over two years the comrades I formed with the boys of my company and regiment while on the march, in camp and in battle, was and is strong indeed; and I remember the boys now, after 27 years, with feelings of affection, but I do believe that during the three weeks that I have associated with members of this club and the officers and managers of this institute I have formed friendships stronger than any formed during my army service. Then if I had fallen I would have been remembered with honor and affection, while if I had been called by death when drinking and carousing I would have been buried in disgrace, shame, and I feel now that my three weeks' treatment has been my redemption and you have all been my companions while being raised from the dead. I know that when I reach home next Sabbath morning and tell them that I am certainly cured of all desire for drink, my wife and little ones will be the happiest family in Sheridan county.

Comrades of the club, managers and officers of the institute and citizens of O'Neill, I sincerely thank you for your kindness, consideration and courtesy to me while here and I shall always remember you all with feelings of kindness and friendship and I shall ever have a warm place in my heart for you. Again I thank you.

Language is sometimes powerless to convey the deep emotions of one, who, stirred by thoughts that lie nearest the soul, endeavors to give expression to his feelings in saying farewell to those whom the ties of friendship have endeared. Of this truth we were forcibly reminded while listening to the parting words of Van Vleck, prior to leaving the institute on Saturday of last week. Mr. Van Vleck had taken treatment at this institute the necessary three weeks and during his stay did, by his innate manhood and courteous deportment toward all with whom he came in contact, struck that chord of sympathy that "makes all men a-kin," and the impression left upon those who soon will follow him to their various homes will be much more lasting than the short period of time that made his companionship so enjoyable. As a veteran of the army of the union his bravery on the fields of battle is attested by more than one scar and wound. No badge or decoration is needed to tell the tale of his suffering in his country's cause.

And while the comradeship of the soldier, who slept under the same blanket, who suffered the many hardships and rejoiced over the same victories, are not forgotten, yet in words that found a kindly response in every listening heart, he said: "I, through the aid of means that seem almost divine, have been enabled to conquer a foe more insidious, dishonorable, than death by the bullet of an armed foe, and I regret to leave those who assisted me in this effort to regain the manhood bestowed upon me by the great Creator, more than I did the soldiers with whom I endured the terrors of war. I go home a man, not a slave." Noble words from a noble man. NEMO.

Rev. Lowrie went down to Osmond this morning to organize a Presbyterian church.

The Sun: If the people of this county continue to elect republicans to office we want have as much as a sand hill left to call our own.

The above item is probably meant for Ex-Treasurer Hayes, who has a shortage in his accounts. We would imagine that a democrat would be rather loth to mention this subject considering that their own and only democratic treasurer, Meals, was short a few thousand himself. But excuse us, Sun; we forgot that your politics are alliance at present. Since you left the democrats probably you can see nothing good in either of the old parties.

Page Points.

The new school bell is hung and peals forth her welcome sound calling away to school.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. C. Wood were down from Minneola Saturday. They are preparing to go to Oregon in the near future.

Miss Pearl Dicky closed a very successful term of school at Middle Branch last week.

W. W. Page is home from his weekly trip to O'Neill and will go to work on the road this week.

Barney Stewart is down from the Keeley shaking hands with friends who rejoice with him that he is free from the drink habit.

C. J. Malone has moved onto W. W. Page's place and J. Stewart occupies his room over the mill.

Our new station agent expects his family this week.

J. F. Maring left Friday evening for his new field of labor at Atkinson. We hope he will have the pleasant surroundings he deserves for we all know him to be a true gentleman of uncommon worth and ability, and his leaving here is unanimously regretted.

T. A. McMillen and family and E. E. Hunter expect to remove in a few days to the east. We regret to see them leave but wish them well.

Mr. Howe of Kansas is in town looking up a location. He thinks of starting a barber shop here.

Better Prices Than Ever.

I have added to my stock a fine line of ladies' spring jackets and dress goods of the latest styles. Call and get prices that will astonish you at F. J. McManus.

Stock Cattle!

We have on hand and are prepared to furnish stock cattle of all ages and in numbers to suit purchasers. Time given on approved security. Call at section 13, township 28, range 13, or address, FRANK ANDERSON CO., O'Neill, Neb. 39-1f

Republican Caucus.

The republican voters of Emmet township will meet in caucus at Emmet April 16, 1892, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting two delegates to attend the county convention April 23. A full attendance is desired.

T. B. MARING, Committeeman.

Sixteen Reservations.

Forty-five hundred homesteads of 160 acres each will be opened to the public April 5. The way to get there is through the Sioux City & Northern railroad to either Watertown, S. D., Hankinson, N. D., or Brown's Valley, Minn. For further particulars address W. B. McNider, General Passenger Agent, Sioux City, Ia.

A Suggestion.

We wish to make a suggestion to persons troubled with rheumatism. Try a few applications of Chamberlain's pain balm. If that does not bring relief, dampen a piece of flannel with the pain balm and bind it on over the seat of pain. The first application is almost sure to relieve the pain and by its continued use many severe cases have been permanently cured. 50 cent bottles for sale by P. C. Corrigan, druggist.

A Kansas Man's Experience With Coughs and Colds.

Colds and coughs have been so prevalent during the past few months that the experience of Albert Favorite of Arkansas City, Kan., cannot fail to interest some of our readers. Here it is in his own words: "I contracted a cold early last spring that settled on my lungs and had hardly recovered from it when I caught another that hung on all summer and left me with a hacking cough that I thought I never could get rid of. I had used Chamberlain's cough remedy some fourteen years ago with much success and concluded to try it again. When I had got through with one bottle my cough had left me and I have not suffered with a cough or cold since. I have recommended it to others and all speak well of it." 50 cent bottles for sale by P. C. Corrigan, druggist.
