SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

The republican electors of the Thirteenth senatorial district are requested to send delegates from their several counties to meet in convention at O'Neill, Nebraska, on the 20th day of August, 1892, at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for senator from said district, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the convention.

The several counties are entitled to representation as follows, being based upon the vote cast for Hon. George H. Harms for attorney general in 1890; same as in state convention.

Boyd 5Holt 11
Gardfield 2Wheeler 2
It is recommended that no proxies be admitted to the convention and that the absent votes of a county be cast by the delegates present.

NEIL BRENNAN,
Chairman.

No mistakes were made at Lincoln.

UNITED Holt greets harmonious Douglas.

"HARRISON, Protection and Crouse," is the battle cry.

GOVERNOR MCKINLEY started the campaign in Nebraska in good shape.

THE republicans of Nebraska use a very large cap H in spelling Harmony.

THE state platform is all right, and the more it is studied the more popular will it become.

THE procession should be kept moving. The men in the lead know no such word as defeat.

TWENTY thousand people listened to Governor McKinley at Lincoln. It was a grand demonstration.

It was not the fault of Sol Draper or Ed. Fry that Knox county's vote on treasurer was cut in two.

It is reported that Col. Walt Mason is soon to be married. That would be a Masonic event that would rejoice the press boys.

THE proprietor of the World-Herald has the distinguished honor of being a son-in-law of the republican candidate for governor.

THAT horny-handed old farmer, Van Wyck, with his million dollars, is a splendid candidate for the independents. He can afford to come down handsomely.

GEORGE A. ECKLES, formerly a respected resident of this county, is the republican nominee for county attorney up in Dawes. Mr. Eckles is worthy of election.

BROTHER LESSINGER should wait until the votes are counted before he has republican candidates defeated. Give the people a chance to say something about it.

THE Norfolk News remarks that "if Joe Bartley runs at the polls as well as he did in the convention, the other fellows may as well move to make it unanimous now."

THE Niobrara Pioneer and THE FRONTIER were the first papers to advocate the nomination of Judge Crouse, and it is in order for Ed. Fry to ask us over to take something.

THE Fremont Tribune says: "Melbourne was employed to go up to O'Neill and Jampen Doc Mathews senatorial boom." That is not a hard job, but he couldn't even do that. He couldn't dampen the ardor of a boom.

TOM MAJORS, the gallant soldier-statesman, was the personal favorite by large odds in the convention and would most certainly have been nominated for governor but for the position he occupies in the political world in connection with matters of public record. Mr. Majors appreciated this and accepted the situation gracefully.

It is a great ticket and a winner.

TOM SMITH stood by Holt county like a veteran.

HOLT county to Dodge county: Thanks and—shake.

EVERYBODY says it is a good ticket. Even the World-Herald admits the fact.

It was trouble and care, but Jo got there, with votes to spare, and then it was bats in the air.

In the demonstrations of joy after Bartley's nomination the writer lost several hats, but did not kick very hard.

THE republicans have put new men to the front. The old timers, while mostly good men and needed to help out, required a little rest.

MIKE SULLIVAN, as the democratic contingent at the Lincoln convention, acquitted himself creditably, and the gentle smile when Jo was nominated proved that he was happy.

THE republicans have placed before the people the best and cleanest state ticket ever selected in Nebraska, and it will receive a vote so large that there will be no talk of contests.

LEW CHAPMAN will make a most excellent county attorney, his qualifications being second to none. He is modest to a fault and hence does not make any uncalculated noise, but he will at all times be found ready to do business.

CLARK McNISH is a jo-dandy, and the little send-off the up-the-valley boys gave him on the platform at Wisner on the homeward trip Saturday was deserved, and proved to him that his faithful work for Bartley was appreciated.

"DOUGLAS county ninety-one votes for Jo Bartley," proclaimed by Chairman Broatch, about settled the matter, and the Holt gang cheered, you bet. Douglas can call on Holt for anything she has in stock from a jack rabbit to a black-tailed deer.

KEM is before the people for re-election, but we opine he will have a hard time explaining his record to the satisfaction of the voters who elected him two years ago. If the republicans do not put up a man at Chadron today who can beat Kem they are n. g.

THE FRONTIER is on top this time, and has cause to feel good. Crouse, its first choice for governor; Gene Moore, its first choice for auditor, and Jo Bartley, its first choice for treasurer, are all on the ticket. THE FRONTIER smiles a big, beaming, audible smile.

THE choice of J. G. Tate for the second place on the state ticket was indeed a happy one. It adds materially to the strength of the entire ticket. Mr. Tate is one of the best speakers in Nebraska, enjoys a wide acquaintance, and numbers his friends among all parties.

THERE is no other man that could bring the strength to the state ticket as the standard bearer as does Judge Crouse. He is a man of the people, for the people and with the people on all the questions of the day, and so well and favorably known that introductions are unnecessary.

THE Fremont Tribune has been a true friend of Jo Bartley for many months, and its able editor is hereby invited to come up and shoot our chickens, catch our fish, and drink our artesian well water, to the content of his heart, the satisfaction of his stomach and the strengthening of his brain.

THE democratic papers that have been stating "with authority" that Blaine would not take a hand in the campaign for Harrison do not relish the announcement that he is arranging to take the stump in his usual active manner. Blaine is not a sulker by any means, and will render valuable service to his party.

THE Holt boys are good workers, and no mistake. There was not a drone on the delegation nor in the contingent. Every man was on the look-out. There was not a nook or corner in the city of Lincoln where politics were on tap but that our boys were on to, and no opportunities were lost to make friends for our candidates. Some men have cause to damn their friends, but Bartley is not one of them.

JOSEPH SUCCESS BARTLEY, of our neighboring sister city of Atkinson, will receive tangible and substantial congratulations from the city of O'Neill next November. In fact O'Neill will second Jo's election as well as his nomination, and will join with Atkinson in beating the tom-tom, blowing the bazaar, changing the ram-jam, and we might add irritating the interior "after the battle is won."

HOLT county has indeed been highly honored by the republicans of Nebraska in the placing upon the ticket the name of Joseph Bartley as a candidate for the most responsible and important office of treasurer. It is an honor not only to the republicans of this county, but to every citizen, not considering party affiliations, and we believe it is so appreciated. If the result at the polls does not demonstrate this we shall be very much mistaken. The county vote for Jo Bartley should be practically unanimous.

ALL things considered Jo Bartley's success at Lincoln was remarkable. It proves that a nifty man, with friends to back him who know how and are zealous workers, can accomplish a great deal in politics as well as in anything else. Such victories are accomplished only by persistent, united and untiring efforts. Mr. Bartley we know fully appreciates the efforts of his friends, and is not so foolish as not to realize that to them is due great credit.

JUDGE KENASTON ably presented the Spencer side of the Boyd county contest to the state convention, and while not successful he has the satisfaction of having done his duty to the cause he represented, and his people owe him a vote of thanks. The disagreements among the republicans of our new sister county are to be regretted by the republicans of the entire state, and we sincerely trust that they will soon be satisfactorily and amicably adjusted. The contest should not be carried to the polls, and both the Butte and Spencer factions should make concessions for the sake of harmony and get together. The ranks should be united for the big fight against the enemy in November.

CONGRESSMAN Watson punches the present congress pretty hard. He says: "This congress now sitting is one illustration. Pledged to reform, they have not reformed. Pledged to legislate, they have not legislated. Extravagance has been the order of the day. Absenteeism was never so pronounced. Lack of purpose was never so clear. Lack of common business prudence never more glaring. Drunken members have reeled about the aisles, a disgrace to the republic. Drunken speakers have debated grave issues, and in the midst of maudlin rambles have been heard to ask: 'Mr. Speaker, where was I at?' Useless employes crowd every corridor. Useless expenditures pervade every department."

GEN. VAN WYCK works all the rackets, pulls all the strings, manipulates all the wires, that any politician in the world does, but if he proposes to mollify, solidify and enthrone all his admirers by presenting them with books that cost wholesale $3.00 each, it strikes us that his campaign will prove a trifle expensive, but as he is a millionaire we presume he can stand it. Our old friend Uncle Peter Cauble appreciates the handsome copy of the "Pathway of Life" the general sent him, and no doubt will endeavor to make the would-be governor's political life in life up about Emmet royally successful. It is not known how many copies of this most excellent work Gen. Ean Wyck has contracted for, but as he has secured this low rate it is to be presumed he has arranged with the publishing house to take all of the latest edition of 25,000 copies. While the writer is not fully in the general's confidence we are told that he intends to present these books to the men in the party of real influence rather than the bell-wethers. Those of our alliance friends who are over-looked should make a kick by writing to Van at Nebraska City.

In the selection of candidates for members of the lower branch of the legislature the republicans of Holt county evidenced the very best of judgment, and it is the opinion of this paper that the people will ratify at the polls the wisdom of the convention. Mr. Clark and Mr. Eisele are old settlers who have been identified with every movement inaugurated for the public good, no matter what the character of the movement might be. They are farmers who farm their farms, and not the kind of farmers who farm the farmers, referred to by Mr. McKinley in his speech at Lincoln last week. Mr. Eisele's farm in the southern portion of the county shows that hard work and close attention to business makes farming profitable, and Mr. Clark's home southwest of Inman proves the same thing. Both are practical, every day, honorable gentlemen, a credit to the county and in every way worthy and competent to represent our people in the state legislature. Understanding our needs and with the disposition to do what is right by all they will prove faithful representatives, who will fight as valiantly corporation dictation and unjust demands as they did for their country when rebellion threatened destruction. Messrs Clark and Eisele are all right.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET. The republican press of the state is a unit in endorsing the ticket nominated at Lincoln, says the Bee, and even the democratic papers can find no fault with the nominees. The straight-out democratic Plattsmouth Journal says: "The republicans have probably nominated as strong a man as they have in the state for governor."

Says the Nebraska City Press: "With Judge Crouse as the standard bearer of the republican party in this state the outlook is certainly assuring. A man whose official or personal integrity has never been questioned, he will draw to his support the full moral strength of the party. He is not a man who will have to be defended. He can rather himself take the aggressive, and carry the battle into the camp of the enemy."

"The republican state convention has redeemed itself with the people," says the Broken Bow Republican. "The selections are the best that could have been made, and greatly increase the chances of the republican party in Nebraska."

The Lincoln news speaks of the ticket as "the best that has ever been presented to the people of Nebraska. The action at the state convention removes the republican party from the influences that have hampered it in the past and places it in the hands of the people. The people elected the delegates to the convention. The people nominated the ticket, and the people will elect the ticket."

The republicans of Nebraska are no longer trying to "get together." They have "got there."

The Beatrice Express declares: "It is a clean ticket from top to bottom and will be supported by a united party. The platform upon which its stands is solid and clean in all its parts. There will be no knifing and no kicking done, but with a solid front the republican party of Nebraska will this year march to victory without defeat anywhere along the line."

The Lincoln Journal says: "The strong points in favor of the candidacy of Judge Lorenzo Crouse are becoming more evident to the republicans of Nebraska with each new day. His unassailable private character, his long and useful public service, his marked ability as an executive officer and his great popularity with several classes of citizens who wield a strong influence in deciding elections in this state will undoubtedly place him at the head of all the candidates early in the race and bring him in far in the lead when the ballots are finally counted."

The World-Herald thus speaks of the nominee for governor: "Judge Crouse, who was nominated by the republicans for governor, is probably the only member of the party in the state whose leadership can be hoped to rally the broken ranks of republicanism in Nebraska."

He is one of the few republicans in the state whose public life and party record have been above reproach and marked by a sturdy and honorable antagonism to the corrupting control of corporations. His voice has often been raised in solemn protest against the high-handed manipulation of republican state conventions by the railroad rings which so long dominated them."

Coming from a democratic source, the World-Herald, this is pretty good: "The nomination of Joe Bartley of Holt county, for state treasurer was a direct slap at Old Man Republican. His paper has persistently maligned Bartley, who is one of the most courteous gentlemen in Nebraska. For 10 years Bartley has been a banker at Atkinson, and during all that time it is said he has never been engaged in a law suit or foreclosed a mortgage. For these and other reasons Bartley is very popular in Northern Nebraska."
