We Are Not Bluffing.

It is an easy matter for any merchant to claim he is selling goods cheaper than anybody and nine out of ten claim it whether it is so or not. Common sense teaches anyone that the more goods a man buys the cheaper he can buy them, and the cheaper he buys the chearer he can sell and the cheaper he sells the more he sells. Never since we started in business in O'Neill have we had a larger of better stock than this fall and we know we own our goods as cheap as any firm in the state, and are determined to sell them at prices that will astonish the county.

We do not believe it pays to buy or sell poor, trashy goods even if they are week, at which time it is desired that all cheap and our business to-day after eight years trial proves that the trade has confidence in our goods and prices and if we have given satisfaction in the past we will more than please you in the future as we will spare no pains or expense to get your business. Our dress goods and trimmings are particularly attractive this season and you can not find a better selection this side of Omaha AND THE PRICES ARE RIGHT.

In clothing we will show many of the best styles ever made in ready made clothing equal to half the tailor made clothing and much cheaper

Cloaks, cloaks! You ought to see our beautiful new styles and our immense assortment. They will all behere about the time our new salesroom is finished and you can expect something extra in assortment and prices.

Don't invest a dollar in fall goods until you have seen our stock.

Independent Supervisors Again On Treasurer Scott's Trail.

BOND INSUFFICIENT THIS TIME

Rhody Hayes Appointed to Fill the Vacancy But Scotty Still Holds the Fort.

Whereas; In the opinion of the majority of the supervisors comprising the county board of Holt county that the existing securities on the official bond of Barrett Scott, county treasurer of Holt county, has become insufficient, there-

Resolved, That said Barrett Scott. treasurer of Holt county, be and he hereby is required to furnish additional freehold security for the better protection of the tax papers of said county: That a copy be served on said Barrett

Some people may have been led to suppose that the persecution of Scottie had ceased and that the alliance fossils had again become sane and were patiently awaiting the decision of the supreme court on their previous attempt at ouster, but such is not the case. They are as crazy as ever. Ever since Judge Barto sat down on them they have been snapping and snarling like so many lean and hungry wolves at bay. They have watched every move made by the treas urer hoping to find some excuse for an attack, but there being nothing in sight have attacked his bond, the best, or as good, as any ever filed in the county. And a great deal better than the one they approved for R. J. Hayes. for the same office, last spring. The treasurer of Holt county is compelled to give a larger bond than any other in the state, not even excepting the state treasurer or the United States treasurer. But Mr. Scott is not disposed to kick about a little thing like that so he secured the signatures of two more reresults. The board convened Tuesday and again took the matter up and were not satisfied with the "additional" se- manent organization recommended that curity, so introduced the following resolution, which was carried by the faith- Adopted. ful eighteen, this morning:

MR. CHAIRMAN-I move you that the the office of county treasurer of Holt county, Nebraska, be considered vacant and the same hereby is considered, declared and decreed vacant. For the reason that Barrett Scott, county treasurer of Holt county, Nebraska, has "willfully" and "negigenlly" failed and refused and still fails to furnish sufficient freehold security to the county for the faithful performance of his official duties and the safe keeping of the county money and that Barrett Scott has so failed to furnish such security for a period of more than ten days subsequent to the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the county hoard on him the reid of the service of a notice by the service of the service of a notice by the service of the service of a notice by the service of the service of a notice by the service of the service of a notice by the service of the service of a notice by the service of quent to the service of a notice by the county board on him the said county treasurer to furnish sufficient freehold C. M. SMITH.

The above motion, although made by Smith, was written by the alliance candidate for county attorne y, H. E. Murphy, and therefore it is not our intention to remark on the manner in which he spells negligently-'negigenlly" -or to take notice of the additional "1" in welfare and numerous other defects.

Following this motion of ouster comes one from T. V. Golden, which reads

I move you that Rody J. Hayes be appointed to fill the vacancy now existing in the office of county treasurer of Holt county, Nebraska, made vacant by the removal of Barrett Scott. Said appointment to take effect upon the said appointee taking the oath of office as required by law, and the furnishing of a good and sufficient bond in the sum of $200,000 and having the same approved

Now, honest, impartial and fairminded reader, is not this a pretty state of affairs? Is it not rank injustice and of the worst stripe of political persecution? These supervisors are not afraid that the county's money will be squandered, because these same supervisors have appropriated so much of it for their own salaries that the remainder is and are determined to have the office. They are not afraid of the bond because the one they approved for Hayes last spring was not nearly as good as the one Scott has at present. It is a sad commentary indeed on our present laws that a body of political parasites can put all honest officials to so much trouble America being obliged to keep the inner doors of his office locked in order to hyenas who would steal it in the name of the law. We never have, in the course of our newspaper experience, felt more like using harsh language than we do today, but we will only exclaim, as exclaimed Marie Antoinette on the block, "Oh liberty! what crimes are committed in thy name!" In Holt county it would be more appropriate to say, Oh law! what damnable outrages are attempted in thy name!

In accordance with the resolution which was approved after dinner, and finally reconsidered and accepted the Mr. Hayes went down into the coveted nomination. This made Murphy's office and demanded possession of same, friends rather tired. In his remarks but Mr. Scott informed him that he liked the place pretty well and thought himself very creditably, as he always he would hold the job. We suppose does. From a democratic standpoint this means another mandamus case. The bond is not worth over $10,000 at the

In striking contrast with this is the bond and justified two years ago at 2; O. F. Biglin 1; F. J. Toohill 2; L. $80,000 was not in the city. Scott's Radcliff 15; J. Carberry 7; D. A. "Keep off the grass."

Democratic County Convention. FORENOON.

The democrats of Holt county met in county convention on Saturday last.

Called to order by Chairman Doyle, who took occasion to make a ringing speech for true democracy, with no fusion under any circumstances.

M. D. Long was elected temporary chairman and C. C. McHugh temporary

The following committees were ap pointed: Credentials-D. A. Doyle, J

A. Golden, C. A. Peterson. Permanent organization-A. J. Meals, O. C. Bates, M. F. Harrington.

Order of business-A. Cruise, J. M. Stuart, A. L. Morse.

Adjourned until two o'clock. AFTERNOON.

Committee on credentials made its report which was adopted.

The committee also presented credentials from Sheredian and Dustin requesting parties living outside to cast their sponsible men on his bond and awaited votes. Quite a discussion ensued, which finally resulted in a ballot and adversely. The report of the committee on per-the temporary be made permanent. Resolutions committee reported the following:

Whereas, the history of our country shows the fact that the democratic party principles, democratic candidates and the democratic party.

We admire the stand taken by many of the members of the republican party in breaking away from that party, which taxation, class legislation and the fos-terer of trusts and combinations intended as the enslaver of the producing classes of our people, but we earnestl admonish them that the democratic party, with its unsullied record and bright promises for the future, is open to all honest men of this tax ridden country. The democratic party has in its national convention made its prom ises and its record is proof positive that those promises will be fulfilled.

In addition to the national platform which we indorse and approve, we further resolve that we indorse the incomparable administration of Grover Cleve and and his worthy lieutenants from 1885 to 1888, the honest and wise administration of Gov. James E. Boyd and our own and only democratic Nebraska con-gressman W. J. Bryan. Resolved, That we are in favor of state control of transportation charges on the railway system within the limits of braska, to the end that shippers shall not be subject to the avaricious demands of railroad corporations.

We are opposed to the bringing into any state of a lawless band of Pinkertons suppress the mechanics and laboring men of our country in their efforts to secure a fair proportion of the products of their labor.
