Mr. Gering thanked the convention the honor conferred upon him in a ief but eloquent address. He conatulated the democracy of Nebraska pon the magnificent assemblage sfore him, and stated that he could in the assemblage as in a mirror a omplete refutation of the slanderous stement that the democratic party of ebraska was prepared to abandon its rinciples for a policy of fusion with scordant elements. He said that ere was no occasion for this convenon to adopt a policy or prepare a vstem of campaign. The recent na-onal convention at Chicago had aleady done that.

A committee of five on credentials as appointed and then the committee permanent organization was anounced as follows: J. A. Connor of ouglas county: R. S. Bibb, Gage; J. Patterson Cass; J. M. Costello. lolt, and Judge Wilbur of Dakota.

At this juncture a motion was made adjourn until 2 o'clock, but it was rithdrawn in order to permit Hon. J. terling Morton to read the following ribute to Hon. A. J. Poppleton of Dmaha: "Thirty-eight years ago a democrat. ust in the sunrise of a studious and nanly career, began with others in he first session of the legislative asembly of the territory, to lay the oundations in Nebraska of civil govrnment. With other able and temerate, frugal and industrious pioneers. e sought to establish on these plains an educated and prosperous commonaith. No man labored more faithfully in the cause of democracy and good government, and Omaha and Douglas county often honored themelves by honoring him, cailing him frequently to the highest positions of rust and responsility, and always with beneficent results to the community. In 1866, when the first state legislaure selected United States senators. vithout a caucus and without solicitaion on his part, the democrats. twentyleven in number and only seven in the minority, with hearty spontaneity, gave every vote to Andrew Jackson Poppleton. Again, in 1868, Mr. Pop-pleton was called by the democracy of the state of Nebraska to make a campaign for congress against Hon. John Taile, and no one who heard Mr. Poppleton in that series of speeches will ever forget his eloquence. His well trained mind. his vast natural ability, his tremendous acquirements, his glowing earnestness which warmed every word, and a presence which inspired confidence, made him a master, and the majesty of his oratory at that time has never been surpassed in the state. Truthfully, ably, conscientiously, for more than thirty years, Mr. Poppleton advocated the principles and policies of a genuine democracy. As a propagandist of the true economic and civic faith. which can alone save popular government from overthrow and destruction, for nearly forty years Mr. Poppleton has stood pre-eminent in the northwest and intellectually the peer of any lawyer or publicist in the American union.

"But, alas, in the early afternoon of a most successful and useful life, Mr. Poppleton is irrevocably bereit of the sense of sight stricken with absolute and incurable blindness.

"Therefore, to Andrew J. Poppleton, shut out from the dear ligh, of day, this convention of the Nebraska democracy sends greetings of grateful remembrance. acknowledgement of his valuable and long services, and the assurance that the light of his labors for justice and popular government, like an unclouded sun illumines its march toward the overthrow of class legislation and monopoly."

Mr. Morton was visibly affected at the conclusion of the reading of the paper, and with a voice trembling with emotion he moved the adoption of the tribute. The motion was put and carried by a rising vote.

The convention then adjourned until 2 o'clock.

On reassembling the committee on ten years, have leased it for another

THE PLATFORM.

The democracy of Nebraska in convention assembled hereby renew their devotion and fealty to the principles and policies of popular government as exemplified by the record of the democratic party since the days of Thomas Jefferson.

We cordially indorse the democratic platform adopted at the Chicago convention, emphasizing its utterances upon the question of protection and the passage of a force bill.

We congratulate the people of the country on the nomination of Grover Cieveland and Adlai Stevenson.

Railroad and all other corporations of whatsoever kind must be held subservient to the law making power of the state, and within constitutional limitations railroads and all other corporations in Nebraska are and must continue amenable to legislative restrictions and regulations. And to better effect a reconciliation between popular and corporate interests in Ne-braska, and for the purpose of establishing justice and maintaining an identity of interests between the common carriers and the people of this state, between servants and masters, we recommend the adoption of the constitutional amendments now pending creating a board of railway commissioners elected by the people of the state. We favor reasonable and just laws regulating railroad charges. We believe that senators of the United States should be chosen by direct vote of the people, and we favor the election of presidential electors by congressional districts. We denounce the republican party for its system of contract convict labor whereby it has given a single individual the monopoly of all the cheap convict labor of the state, and brought it in direct competition with the honest toilers of the state, and not content ten years before the expiration of the first term.

We condemn the giving of bounties and subsidies of any kind as a perversion of the taxing power. The state of Nebraska has and exercises the right of regulating the sale of intoxicating drinks in the interests of good order throughout the entire commonwealth. But the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of such drinks within the state is contrary to the fundamental principles of social and moral conduct.

We are in thorough sympathy with the toiling interests of the country and we observe with deep solicitude the conflict between capital and labor, and charge these conditions to the vicious legislation enacted by the republican party, for the purpose of disbursing taxes among the favored few and the maintenance of privileged classes. We denounce the employment of Pinkerton hirelings as arbiters of the contest between empital and labor and are in favor of a law making compulsory the settlement by arbitration of all disputes between corporations and their employes.

The democracy of Nebraska de-mand an open and fair discussion before the public of all political questions, and denounce as undemocratic and un-American any attempt to deprive our citizens of their political rights or privileges as such because of their race or religious faith. We congratulate the people of the stockade built by the monustate upon having secured the Austrament commission in the southlian ballot, by means of which every citizen is insured the right to cast his vote according to his judgment, free from intimidation and corruption.

The following resolutions were then unanimously adopted:

Resolved. That we endorse the course of Hon. W. J. Bryan in congress and point with pride to him as a resolute champion of the masses against the classes.

Resolved. That we endorse the economy exercised by Governor James E. Boyd in the management of the public institutions under his control.

Resolved, That the splendid efforts of the New York World and the Omaha World-Herald in aid of the western campaign are warmly appreciated by the democracy of the state of Nebraska in convention assembled, and we do cordially commend their work in that behalf.

LONDON IS IN DOUBT.

Many Believe While Others Disbelleve

That Cholera Is in the Metropolis. London, Aug. 31.-What with the assertions and denials made regarding the presence of cholera in England it would be hard to decide whether or not the cholerine cases that have occured have been true Asiatic cholera or not.

In some quarters it is positively asserted that there is doubt that true cholera has effected an entrance into the country, while on the other hand it is just as positively asserted that the disease is nothing but simple cholera from which no danger need be ap-

Dr. Whitcomb, the sanitary officer at Gravesend who inspected the steamer Gemma, which arrived there from Hamburg on Thursday last, and three of whose passengers subsequently died from what was said to be Asiatic cholera, emphatically denies that the disease was the dreaded eastern scourge. He attended all three of the victims in the hospital and says they died from cholerine. He further says that the emigrants on the Gemma were not of the poorest class but were greatly superior to the general run of foreign Jews who arrive here.

The London Evening News has reopened the agitation against the entry of pauper aliens. It demands that the government issue an order to prevent the entry of imports or immigrants from cholera-infected ports. It adds that several of the immigrants from the steamer Portia have now gone to the east end of London, where they will probably develop the cholera in the next few days and become centers from which death will spread throughout the city.

WASHINGTON IS CHOSEN.

Knights of Pythias Go East for Their Next Blennial Conclave.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 31.-The Supreme lodge has decided upon Washington city as the place for the next encampment of the Knights of Pythias. The vote was a close one, and on the final roll call Washington received 62, while Louisville followed with 50. Indianapolis was not in the contest after the preliminary skirm ishing. No other business was considered. The consideration of the proposed changes in the constitution were made a special order for Wednesday.

WILL ARREST GREENHUT.

Litigation Soon to Be Resumed Against the Whisky Trust. Boston, Mass., Aug. 31.—The whisky trust litigation will soon be resumed. President Greenhut, who has been in Europe for some time, is expected back about the first of September, and the capias sent out by the United States court in Boston is in the hands of officers in the West, who will arrest Mr. Greenhut as soon as he returns. It is stated that information has been received from the West by the defendants that when the cases are called in Chicago, the judge, before whom the matter is brought, will decline to go into the question of the soundness of fendants for appearance in Boston.

Maj. McKinley Challenged.

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 31.-A challenge has been issued from here on bethe great rally at the opening of the TALT HALL HANGED.

His Friends Make No Attempt to Save Him from the Gallows.

Norron, Va., Sept. 5 .- Talt Hall, the Kentucky desperado, was safely hanged at Wise Court House at noon yesterday. There were fears of an attempt at rescue, but none was made. The murderer, who had been kept constantly under the influence of liquor the last few days, made a speech on the scaffold. The drop fell at 12:34 p. m. and life was pronounced extinct seventeen minutes later. His neck was broken by the fall.

The particular crime for which Hall was sentenced was the shooting of Special Policeman Enos B. Hylton, at Norton, Va. Hylton was taking a prisoner to jail, when Hall demanded that he release the man, and, upon the officer's refusal, shot him in cola blood. Hall had eloped with Hylton's sister after murdering her husband, and Hylton is said to have sworn to kill the man who murdered his brother-in-law, and it is pretty certain that Hall heard of it and took advantage of the fact of Hylton having a prisoner under arrest to pick a quarrel with him and kill

RIOT AT CLEVELAND.

A Thousand Citizens Object to the Location of the Soldiers' Monument.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5 .- A crowd of one thousand citizens attacked the ment commission in the southpublic east section of the square yesterday, demolished one of the gates and compelled the men inside to stop work. There is great indignation over the attempt of the commissioners to locate the new soldiers' monument in that part of the square and remove the old statue of Commodore Perry. The city tried to stop the work through courts, but failed. Thursday the board of trade adopted resolutions against the site and appointed a committee to plead with the commissioners to change the location. The commissioners declared that they would have nothing to say to the committee. Tomorrow night the 'Taxpayers' league will hold a protesting mass meeting on the subject.

Ask for Troops to Protect the Mills. Madison, Wis., Sept. 5 .- A committee of two mill-owners arrived from Rhinelander, Wis., at an early hour yesterday morning to consult with Gov. Peck upon the situation of the strike in their mills, and if possible to persuade him to call out the State militia to help quiet the riotous strikers. The committee remained closeted with the Governor until 5 o'clock, when the Governor took the 5:10 train for Milwaukee. As far as can be ascertained nothing definite resulted from this consultation. Appearances indicate that the strike will be settled without the intervention of the troops.

Shot His Wife and Her Sister.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 5 .- E. S. Nixon, a traveling man, late last night shot his wife and her sister, Mrs. Joseph McArthur of Cedar Rapids. The women were badly wounded, but not fatally, and both are now in Cottage hospital. Nixon was jealous of his wife. In the evening he told her he was going to leave the city, but instead bought a revolver and waited for the male friends he supposed would call. He says he saw two men enter the house. The women deny there were any men in the house. Nixon is Borden with a bond of $50,000. Her sureties are Frank L. Almy. Joseph A. Bowen of Fall River and Frank S. Stevens of Swansea.

Will Desert the Canadian Marine. SAULT. STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 5 .-It is believed that the new regulation will freeze out many of the Canadian boats. The Algonquin and other vessels are already on the way to Chicago to go into the grain carrying trade. RAILROAD MEN TOO SHREWD FOR DESPERADOES.

Missouri Pacific Officials May Thank an Accident for Their Escape-A Very Well-Planned Robbery Frustrated by

Sr. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5 .- Plans were laid for a big train robbery on the Missouri Pacific railroad last night a short distance this side of Kansas City, but it was frustrated by a slight accident. The train that was to have been robbed was passenger No. 4 from the West. It was ten minutes behind time, and a fast freight was sent out ahead of it. At a point called "Dead Man's Curve" the freight slowed up. Suddenly two red lanterns appeared on each side of the track, and the engineer whistled for brakes. As the train came to a standstill men rushed down from the sides of the cut. All were armed and masked. One of the gang shouted from the middle of the train that it was a freight, and ordered the engineer to go ahead. He threw the throttle wide open, and made the fastest possible time to Pleasant Hill. At that point he wired back to every station to head off the passenger. It was stopped at Little Blue. There was another freight there, and it was decided to send it out ahead of the passenger to keep the robbers busy until an armed posse could be sent on the passenger. freight was stopped at Dead Man's Curve by the lanterns and stood still for nearly five minutes, but none of the robbers showed themselves on the track. The trainmen remained on board, and, when ordered with an oath to move on, the engineer made quick time to Pleasant Hill, where he telegraphed to the passenger at Little Blue. When No. 4 moved out it had ten armed men concealed in various parts of the train. When the train reached Dead Man's Curve it went through creeping, as if challenging an attack. There were no signs of robbers or any signal to stop.

An application was made before Judge Truett but a clause was omitted in the bonds making them responsible for any penalties which the Captain and Mate were liable for infringement of customs regulations. The case was adjourned to enable the Captain to have bonds amended. The Sealers' association sent bonds for the cargo but the judge refused to release it.
