When the publishers decided to issue the Journal twice a week at the same price of the old weeklies, $1 per year, they struck just what the public wanted -something between the old-fashioned weekly and the high-priced daily. The success of Semi-Weekly Journal has been immediate and continued. It has distanced every one of its once-a-week rivals. It doesn't take long to convince people that a good live paper every Tuesday and Friday is better than only one a week, especially when you appeal to their pocket books, and give it to them at the same price. Readers will testify that it is almost as good as a daily. Its markets twice a week are worth the money. Four complete novels each year by "The Duchess," Miss Braddon and other well known authors, alone are worth the dollar. Its legislative news is its strong point just now. It is wide-awake, spends money for news, and is always in the lead. You can see its superiority over the old-fash loned weekly. Every-one who subscribes now gets a Seaside library free. This offer won't hold good always. One This offer won't hold good always. One of our big offers is the Semi-Weekly Journal and Weekly New York Tribune, both one year for $1.25. Regular price of Tribune $1. Our great premium, History of the United States, Stanley Book, or Life Spurgeon, prepaid, and The Journal $1.40. Either book is worth $1.50. Your choice of these books and the Tribune and Journal a year for only $1.65 What a combination of reading matter! If you send us your own and another new name, we will own and another new name, we will send you either of the above books free. Mr. Howells' Future Plans. While Mr. Howells will not, during 1893, confine his literary work to any single periodical, it may be authoritatively announced that he has entered into a contract with the Ladies' Home Journal whereby his most important work will, for some time to come, first see print in the pages of that magazine. His new novel, "The Coast of Bohemia," begins in the Christmas issue of the Journal, and immediately upon its close Mr. Howells will begin in the magazine a series of editorial autobiographical papers, in which he will trace the influences which led him to a literary life, his course of reading and his favorite authors and books. The articles will practically tell the story of the famous novelist's life, and promises to possess in a rare degree that attractive interest which always attaches itself to the life of a successful man when told by himself. Howells had his early struggles; his early resources were few, and these he will trace among other things in these articles, describing, too, how he mastered four different languages to acquaint himself with the literature of the countries most attractive to him.
