SEEN FOR A SECOND. An Apparition Appears in a Secrements About four years ago a stranger arrived in Sacramento, hired the store underneath the Clunic building and fitted it up as a cigar and tobacco es-tablishment. He not only paid for the work, but also advanced his rent, and when he suddenly and mysterious ly disappeared the fact occasioned con-siderable gossip and the belief that he had been foully dealt with. Mrs. Green, who kept a dress-making shop in the same building, declared that about midnight on the night of the man's disappearance she heard a struggle on the porch in the rear of her apartments. She also heard a sound as of a blow and then a thumping noise, as if a body was being dragged down the stairway and into the cellar. The story spread, and the officers searched the cellar for the body, but in vain. The affair had been nearly forgotten, until an incident recalled the matter. O. F. Washburn of the American cash store, was having his premises at Eighth and K streets remodeled, so that he could utilize the cellar, and one morning about 7 o'clock John Cas-apparition remained for a second, so Cassidy declares, and then disappeared. A curious circumstance is that Cassidy was not aware of the disappearance above alluded to, as he is a rearrival from the East and had not, he asserts, been informed of the mystery. His description of the ghost tallies with the missing man's appearance. HIS SISTERS AND MOTHER.

sidy, a young man in Washburn's em-as a sheet and screaming with terror.

When able to speak he declared that while he was groping his way in the dim light afforded through the sidewalk gratings there sprang up before him the ghastly form of a man. The

Visions Have Been Very Common With This Bay State Man

When I was a boy of aix years, I woke up with a start one morning, and standing at the foot of my bed was one of my sisters, who at the time was mar-ried and lived in New York. I spoke to her, but she did not answer. I got up at once and started to find her, as I thought she would have some candy for me. I found my mother in the kitchen, whom I told of seeing my sister. My mother told me I had been dreaming, but the next day we re-ceived word that she was dead, and had died about the same hour I had seen

While I lived in Troy, N. Y., at the Troy house, in 1857, I was visited by another sister. She came into the house, as I thought, to see me. Mr. Corning, then book-keeper, called me. I turned to answer him, and again started to meet my sister, but she was not there. That evening I received a dispatch that she was dead. Mr. Corning still lives in Troy, and I think can remember me as a bell boy at that

After leaving Troy I was employed by a Mr. Beverly Robinson of Staten Island. One night as I was on my way to Stapleton on a message, I met mother. It being close to a light, I recognized her at once. I spoke, but she made no answer. The next day she passed away.

I would like some one to try to explain why I can see these people, they being miles from me.

GAVE MARIA A LESSON.

Her Master Teaches Her How to Remember Small Things. Evidently there is no servant girls' protective union in London, or, if there is, the young woman mentioned below did not belong to it. Think of such a thing happening to one of our own servant girls!

A German merchant in London has a servant who at first was very forgetful. This fault was especially annoyug, at meal times, when something es-sential was sure to be lacking from the table. One day the family were seated at the table, and the bell was rung as usual. The girl hurried to the dining-

"Maria," said Herr B-, "just run and fetch the big step-ladder down from the attic and bring it here."

Maria, who had been disturbed at her dinner, gave a grunt of dissatisfaction, but ran up the three flights of stairs to fetch down the ladder. In about five minutes she returned to the room, panting with her exertion.

"Now," said Herr B—, "put it up at that end of the room and climb to the Maria did as she was told, and when she was at top Herr B-quietly ob-

"Maria, you have now got a better view than we have; just look round and tell us if you can see any salt on the table. My wife and I could not

This settled the business. Maria has never forgotten the lesson.

Fraud in Diamonds

An expert says that the "painting" of diamonds is a trick known to all dealers. To give yellowish Cape diamonds the appearance of white Brazilian or Indian diamonds, a man has only to dip them in aniline blue. The operation is so simple that not a few women practise it. They buy cheap diamonds and touch them up in an aniline bath just before wearing them. The appearance of the doctored diamonds deceives even the expects at the first glance. The layer of color wears off quickly, however, and the fraud is then evident. The difference between Cape diamonds and the Brazilian or Indian diamonds, which is the basis of the fraud, consists in the greater beauty and clearness of the latter, as well as in their greater durability. Yellow diamonds break easily.

Report of committee on printing and supplies, February 15, 1893. Committee met January 21, 1898 to open bids on the printing of the doings of the board for the ensuing year, 1898, found THE FROM-TIEE's to be the lowest bid, which was two cents per square. Contract drawn and signed by FRONTIER PRINTING COMPANY agree to print four columns per week from the adjournment of each meeting until the proceedings are all printed.

R. MACUMBER Committee. J. CRAWFORD S. D. DUTTON

Moved that the county clerk furnish four columns of the proceedings of the board of supervisors to THE FRONTIER Publishing Co. the first to be furnished by Tuesday after adjournment of meeting of said board. S. D. DUTTON.

The above motion was seconded and carried.

Moved and seconded that the printing committee solicit bids from the county papers for printing bridge notices, road notices and all other notices for the ensuing year, and contract let to the lowest bidder, the same as other printing.

Moved and seconded that in the matter of the petition of Jerry O'Connell et al., praying that the overseer of highways of district No. 18, be instructed not to destroy or cut down any trees growing upon said road, number, 79, planted thereon and owned by Charles O'Connor, until said O'Connor shall have reasonable time in which to petition the board of. supervisors for the changing of said road according to law in such cases provided.
