Mothers' Recommendation.

We are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house for a good many times its cost, and are recommending it every day. From personal evperience we can say that it has broken up bad colds for our children.-Centervill, South Dakota,

ROBBED WITHOUT MERCY.

A Queer Misunderstanding of a Hand in a Turkish Bath.

When the new apprentice assumed his duties at the Turkish bath establishment the manager thought he seemed rather stupid, and entered into a long explanation of what he was to do. He particularly emphasized the command that the attendant was to 'rub 'em without mercy "

During the day the manager heard a great many complaints from his patrons that they had lost their personal prop-erty. He thought that a sneak thief must have come in to get washed, and resolved to be on the look out. He discovered nothing, however, though he peeked around most of the day like an umateur detective, hiding in all sorts of places.

Toward the time when the new attendant was to go off duty the latter went into the manager's office and began behaving with much mystery. He walked around like a wet hen, waiting until the coast was clear. When there was none but himself and his chief in the office he tiptoed up to the door and locked it. Then he produced from his pockets five gold watches, some diamond rings, a few scarf-pins and a gold-headed cane, which he set forth with great pride before his manager, who, horror-struck, resegnized the effects as belonging to his customers. "You told me to rob 'em without mercy," said the delighted novice, "and I done it Do yer think I'll suit, boss?"

FORGOT THEIR TACT.

How Women Broke Bad News to Friend in the Theater. Women are called the tactful sex

Two women came to a Buifalo cheater one Saturday afternoon in search of a third woman, whose father 1 move you that for the purpose of had died suddenly. The matinee was making a proper exhibit at the world's in progress and the curtain was up. The doorkeeper bade them wait till the act was over, and then cautioned them against breaking the sad news to their f iend while she was in the "Just tell her she is wanted at home," he said, "and get her out as quickly as possible." In a few minutes there was a mighty noise within, and the two women emerged supporting their friend, who was shrieking and throwing herself about. She was taken from the building in a fainting condition.

Doubtless the scene was renewed at frequent intervals on the road home. The awkwardness of the messengers had added difficulties to their own task as well as spoiled the pleasure of a large number of people.

"There!" said the doorkeeper in disgust, "that's just like a woman. You can tell a man something and he'll s.e the point of it. But women go all to pieces in emergencies."

Endurance of Infautry and Cavalry. On a march infantry will endure the fatigue much better than cavalry, and in a long distance the foot soldiers will outmarch the horsemen. Those who doubt this statement should remember that a horse in army service carries 270 pounds weight, while the soldier carries only his gun and from Purchase twenty to forty pounds. Notwith-standing the fact that a ten minutes' halt is made in every hour for stragglers to catch up, cavalry straggle to the rear more than infantry do and the care of a horse on a long march is a serious matter. The horses are picked animals, but even the best horse is liable to fall lame from the

A new idea in shipbuilding has been developed at Belfast, Ireland, There is an immense vessel on the stocks there which has no keel for about 120 feet from the stern post, while six feet of the stern post is cut away, the hull of the vessel sloping from the horizontal for the 120 feet, until level with the curtailed stern post. The bottom of the stern post and the actual stern of the vessel are not connected in any way. The ves-sel is a twin screw and the propellers will work through a small aperture with nothing between them and the water beneath. They will therefore always be in unbroken water.

When General Butler was a young lawyer in Lowell, he had a case in court and, as is the custom, said: "Let notice be given." The aged clerk, who was an unrelenting Whig, asked him in what paper the notice should be given. Butler promptly replied in the Advertiser, which was a stanch Jack-sonian paper. "I don't know such a paper," said the clerk. Butler, of ourse, knew that it was almost a sacrileg · to mention a Jackson paper in that court, but he answered the clerk thus: "Pray. Mr. Clerk, don't interrupt the proceedings of court, for if you begin to tell us what you don't know, we will have no time for anything." He never interrupted Butler again.

Bound to Keep Up.

A man went to hire a horse of a livry-stable proprietor, who was very particular about his stock, and always extorted a promise from his customers WINES, not to drive fast as a condition of letting. "You can have the horse," he said, "if you agree not to drive him fast." "Well," said the man, "I want him to go to a funeral, and I am bound
