THE USE OF PAPER MONEY.

Common to Nearly All Civilized Countries—Issues in Various Nations.
Almost, if not quite, all civilized countries use paper money to facilitate payments within their own jurisdiction. The United States use paper money to a greater extent than any other country, and in notes in smaller denominations than any other country of equal importance. All of our paper bills except the gold certificates are in the denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000; our gold certificates do not appear in denominations less than $20. The Dominion of Canada issues $1 and $2 notes, and various banks issue notes varying from $5 to $1,000. Mexico issues paper money of 10 pesos and upward and the South American states issue paper of similar denominations. The bank of England issues all English notes in denominations of 25, £10, £20, £50, £100, £200, £500 and £1,000. The banks of Scotland and Ireland issue notes of £1 and upward. The bank of France issues notes for 50 francs, 100, 200, 500 and 1,000 francs! The bank of Belgium issues notes of 20 francs and upward. Italian banks issue notes of 1 lira and upward to 1,000 lire. The bank of Germany puts out notes for 5 marks and upward to 1,000 marks. Austria issues notes of 1 gulden and upward. Russia is the only European country which issues government notes, its paper money being of the denomination of 1 ruble and upward. Sweden, Norway and Denmark issue by their banks notes for 5 kroner, 10, 25, 50 and 100 kroner. India does not issue paper money, nor does China now. Japan provides paper money of 1 yen, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 100 yens, and the other countries, as a rule, issue paper money, the lowest denomination of which is usually ten times the value of the coined unit of value.

PERHAPS SHE FOUND SOME.
She Had Hoped to Secure the Help of a Professional Burglar.
A citizen in Chicago was on his way home the other night when a shoe came untied and he sat down on the doorsteps of a house to fix things. He was about to go on when a window was opened above him and a woman's voice demanded:
"Say! Are you a burglar?"
"No, ma'am," was the reply.
"What are you doing there?"
"Just tying up my shoe."
"Oh, that's it!"
"Did you want a burglar, ma'am?" asked the pedestrian, thinking he detected a tinge of disappointment in her tones.
"You don't see any around, do you?"
"No, not just now, but I presume I can find one somewhere about. Is it anything special, ma'am—anything which won't keep until to-morrow night?"
"No, not so very special," she answered. "My husband went away with $15 in his pocket this morning and came home drunk about an hour ago. I've been through his pockets about six times and can't find a cent and I thought if you were a burglar and could look him over I'd divide with you on whatever you found. Never mind, though. Come to think of it, he always carries his money in his shoes when he gets full and I'll run down stairs and overhaul them?"

A Gentle Rebuke.
Once at a family reunion of the New York Potters, ex-Secretary W. M. Everts, as their counsel, had been asked to dine with them all. There was a bishop, and there was a doctor of divinity, and there were other distinguished scions of the family-tree present, and the after-dinner speeches had naturally all been on the successes of one another. Then Mr. Everts was asked to make a speech. He said that he felt that he really must be excused. In this reverend presence, however, he might be pardoned for uttering a paraphrase of Scripture, which had come into his mind during the speeches of the rest:
"Lord, Lord, Thou art the clay and we are the Potters."

A Pretty Girl Station Agent.
Passengers over the Rumford Falls and Buckfield road always notice upon the platform at East Peru, Maine, a plump and pretty girl who wears the regalia of the station agent. She wears a cap with gold lace and a brass shield, and on the shield is "Station Agent." This is Miss Lillie Howard, and she has had charge of the station at East Peru for some time. She is attentive to her duties, the trainmen always have a smile and a pleasant word for her, and many a drummer vainly attempts to appropriate a share of her smiles as the train whisks past. 'Tis needless to comment on the neatness of East Peru station.

Needed Articles.
Mr. Choate, having arrived at the old-sighted age, did not recognize it, or did not wish to commence the use of glasses. In pleading a cause he had difficulty in seeing his notes, and in order properly to decipher his manuscript, kept holding his paper farther and farther off. On one occasion this so annoyed the judge that he at last burst out with: "Ma Choate, I would advise you to get one of two things, either a pair of tongs or a pair of spectacles."

Action of Cold and Heat.
The generally accepted theory of the cooking of meat relates to the application of heat, but Dr. Sawiczewsky has called attention to the fact that almost precisely the same chemical and physical changes can be accomplished by exposing animal flesh to extreme cold. Meat subjected to a degree of cold equal to fifty degrees below zero of Fahrenheit's thermometer looks and tastes exactly like meat boiled in fresh water.

IN THE NECK.

A Negro Boy Who was the Butt of His Companions.
Eight little colored boys got on a Buffalo street car at the corner of Vermont street one evening recently. They had been out to St. Mary's to rehearse something or other (they were choir boys) and they were then on their way to St. Paul's. The women in the car talked to them, and asked them all sorts of questions. They all talked willingly except one little fellow, who was black as coal, and who seemed to be the butt of the other seven.
"So you all sing?" asked one of the women.
"Yep," answered three of the boys at the same time.
"Then you are regular little black-birds?"
"Oh, no, ma'am. Blackbirds don't do nothing but chirp. I'm a canary."
"An' I'm a mockin'-bird," said another, and each boy told what kind of a bird he was until the eighth one, the butt before mentioned, was the only one who had said nothing.
"An' what kind of a bird are you, my little fellow?" asked the woman.
"Deed, ma'am," he answered, "I spes I mus' be a chicken, I get it in the neck so often."

Hood's Cures
Rheumatism—Internal Pains and Aches—Perfectly Cured
"I must say that Hood's Sarsaparilla works like magic. I have for two years been very seriously troubled with rheumatism, suffering intense pains and aches. I tried all the remedies I could get, but all failed, until, having heard so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, I thought I would try it. The very first bottle did me a great deal of good, and I thought I must continue. I have been using Hood's Sarsaparilla regularly, and am now as well as anyone."
