Our better halves say they could not keep house without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is used in more than half the homes in Leeds. Sims Bros., Leeds, Io. This shows the esteem in which that remedy is held where it has been sold for years and is well known. Mothers have learned that there is nothing so good for colds, croup and whooping cough, that it cures these ailments quickly and permanently, and that it is pleasant and safe for children to take. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by P. It will be an agreeable surprise to persons subject to attacks of bilious colic to learn that prompt relief may be had by taking Chamberlain's Colic. Cholera and Diarrhoes Remedy. In many instances the attack may be prevented by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms of the disease appear 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by P. C. Corrigan, druggist.

"Pa, what is a perquiste?" "An authorized steal, my son."

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonath Kenison, of Bolan, Io., who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. The boy was over in my house and said they were so bad he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me. He got a bottle and it cured them up in a week." 50 cent bottles for sale by P. C. Corrigan, druggist. 39-4

A BABY BEAR.

An Interesting Addition to the Wash

Ington Zoo. It is unusual for a bear to be born in confinement and this is what this baby at the Washington zoo is, a little bear. Its mother is a big black bear that used to roam in the Yellowstone park. She weighs between 150 and 200 pounds, and is a good-sized animal. The baby only weighs eleven ounces, and is about the size of an average rat. Its weight at birth is not known, as the youngster's entry into the world was not generally known, even to the intimate friends of the family, as it lay concealed in the shaggy hair of its mother.

The baby also had a brother or sister, but unfortunately mother bear was somewhat careless in stepping about or rolling about and smothered the poor little thing at an early stage in its career. Mother bear made ample arrangements for the reception of the little strangers, and the babies' trowsseau consisted of a deep nest made principally of hay. This is arranged in one corner of the cage, and the mother and the baby snuggle down in the soft mass and appear to be comfortable and happy. Baby bear has already shown evidences of a decided character, and squalls lustily whenever it feels hungry or has colle, or any other ailment that is apt to make people disagreeable. The noise it makes is more like a oat than anything else.

It is supposed that the bear will open its eyes in the course of three weeks from birth. The mother has a decided objection to any one except the keeper approaching the cage. She is apt to take the baby up in her mouth and carry it around. Thus far the little one has depended on the nourishment that is received from his mother, and he has shown methodical habits, and rings the dinner bell with a regularity that would be appropriate in a more orderly house.

AND THE BELT RAN OFF.

An Englishman Stupid Enough Not to

Scare at the Proper Time. There was a very green Englishman at Butte City, Mont., who was talking about purchasing land near by for a horse ranch, and as he strolled around the depot the half-dozen drummers who happened to meet there put up a job on him. One of them borrowed a coat and hat of a ranchero, took the cartridges out of his revolver, and with the weapon held aloft in his hand he suddenly jumped into the waiting room and yelled:

"Whoop! I'm a cantankerous old fighter from the headwaters of Fighting creek! I'm half hoss and half alligator! I'm down on everything that walks on two legs, particularly Englishmen. Whar's the bloomin' Briton who called me a liar?"

"What's the row about?" enquired the Englishman, as he came to a halt and faced about.

kept a graveyard of my own the rest of the time," shouted the terror as he danced around. "Down on your marrow-bones and beg my pardon if you want to live two minutes longer.'

"Not if I know it!" drawled the Briton, cool as ice, and he squared off and landed a thumper on the drummer's nose, which piled him over among the stacks of pelts and dazed him so that he couldn't speak for the next five minutes. We had to hold the "foreigner" to keep him from fol-

Care for Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. lowing up, and when the drummer had been sponged off and brought to he sat down on a baggage truck and held his nose and reflected for a long time. Then he slowly remarked:

"When you fellows get through being tickled perhaps you can explain at just what stage of the game the belt run off."

ower Chests of Olden Days.

In Holland the dower chest once formed a part of every bride's equipment. Less portable, but more sightly than the "Saratoga" trunk, it fulfilled its purpose with grace and dignity, passing down as an heirloom from generation to generation. The modern chest is an easy thing to secure, but these the up-to-date girl holds in disdain; her chest must be really antique, of carved oak, of English or Flemish make, or elaborately inlaid with marqueterie of colored woods and dated or initialled with figures and characters eloquent of other times and manners. There are very few of the genuine old-fash-ioned "dowar chests" to be seen on this side of the Atlantic. One of them in Buffalo is a very massive af-fair, weighing several hundred pounds.

Plenty of Humor in This.

It is supposed that business letters are deficient in humor. Still there have been exceptions, and the very latest, sent by a member of the well known soap-making firm (let us say) of Cake & Son, is one of the most brilliant. A retail dealer in a small way had sent for a consignment of their goods: "Gentlemen" (he writes), "wherefor have you not sent me the sope? His it bekawse you think my money is not as good as nobody elses? Dam you, Cake & Son! wherefor have you not sent the sope? Please send sope at once, and oblige your respectful servant, Richard Jones. P. S .-Since writing the above, my wife has found the sope under the counter."

Sun Never Sets on American Soll. It is the proud boast of the Briton that the sun never sets on her majesty's empire. Some one of a geographical turn of mind has said the same in respect to the United States' possessions, putting it in this way: "It is a fact known to but few that the sun never sets on American soil. When it is 6 p. m. at Atto island, Alaska, it 18 9:36 a. m. the next day on the coast of Maine." Who can say if the statement in quotations is strictly accurate?
