

COULDN'T HELP IT.

The Court Agreed That These Girls Were Not to Blame for Dancing.

Carl Marwig, a New York teacher of dancing who was arrested by the Gerry society lately for permitting two of his pupils, Viola Dale and Anna Wilkes, to dance at a benefit performance at the Fifth Avenue theater, made a novel defense in special sessions.

Franklin J. Biscoff, Marwig's lawyer, said that his client had instructed the girls not to dance, but to pose. When they got on the stage and heard the dance music they could not restrain themselves.

"When I heard the dance music," she said, "I couldn't control myself. I had to dance."

Anna Wilkes said that her feet moved in spite of her when the orchestra began to play dance music.

Superintendent Jenkins could say nothing against such testimony. Marwig was acquitted. It would seem that the leader of the orchestra was the guilty man.

THE VANDERBILT MILLIONS.

The Family Had to Establish a Bank of Its Own.

The care of the Vanderbilt millions is a far greater burden than most people imagine. There are not many citizens in our country who require a great bank of their own in which to transact their business and deposit their securities.

One of the largest banking buildings in the country is the Lincoln national bank, at Fifth Avenue and Forty-second street. This belongs to the Vanderbilts. It holds millions of money and many more millions of securities which represent their wealth.

The bank and its operators seem like a romance of our rapid civilization. In sentimental features nothing in Europe can compare with it. In no country on earth except this could such an institution exist under similar conditions.

The Barber's Parrot.

Parrots are queer birds, and their owners sometimes teach them to say rather appropriate things. A drummer went into a barber shop in Chicago the other day, and as he entered the door a parrot, which hung in a cage by the window, called out in a perfectly natural tone: "Gentleman wants to be shaved."

An Unexpected Invitation.

"I merely called, madam," said the tramp at the back door, "to again express my thanks for that delicious piece of mince pie that you favored me with just seven weeks ago to-day. I remember it still as the best flavored and the most appetizing piece of pie that I ever ate in all my life. That is all that I wished to say, madam. Pardon me for troubling you. Good day!"

Evidence All In.

Among some old papers in an Arkansas probate court was found a doctor's account for medical attendance during the last illness of the deceased.

He Did Not Forget the Season.

THEY WANT CRISP BILLS.

Women Have a Fad for the Newest Treasury Notes.

"Can you give me $200 in new money?" inquired a young man at the teller's window at one of the big banks in New York a few days ago.

"Certainly," replied the teller, recognizing in the applicant the confidential clerk of one of the bank's heaviest depositors.

The money was handed out in clean, crisp tens and fives that had never been in circulation.

After the young man had gone the teller remarked to the writer: "That new money fad is on the increase. Just as soon as a man begins to feel a little toney he gets a notion that no member of his family ought to handle the soiled and crumpled currency in general circulation."

Most of the new money is procured directly from the banks, but there are frequent individual applications at the sub-treasury for new bills and new coin. When the sub-treasury has an abundance of small denomination bills on hand such applications are unhesitatingly complied with.

ORIGIN OF THE POLKA.

A Bohemian Girl Was the One to First Dance It.

The polka is not of Polish origin, as its name might lead one to suppose. The first dancer of the polka was a young, rosy Bohemian girl named Haniczka Slezak, the favorite partner at every dance in her native village of Kostelec, on the Elbe.

One night at a ball, in the year 1830, she was asked to dance a pas seul. She readily complied, saying: "I will give you something of my own invention."

She then began to sing and spun around, keeping time to the tune.

The village schoolmaster, who was present accompanied her on the fiddle and very soon Haniczka's dance became popular in Kostelec, and its fame spreading, it was in course of time adopted as the national dance.

"What do you call your dance?" she was asked one day.

"Polku," was the reply, because it is danced with a half-step.

"Polku" was turned into "Polka" and later on into "Polka," which became all the rage at Prague in 1833, at Vienna in 1839 and Paris in 1840.

Haniczka is now an old lady, well stricken in years, and carefully tended by her six children and a host of grandchildren.

A Munificent Tip.

He was handsomely dressed, but in rather a loud way. It was very evident that he had been spending a jovial evening, although his intoxication was not especially marked.

"Never change so large a bill," said the ticket seller in a tired way.

"Five," was the answer. "Then keep the bill," said the diner-out cordially, "and give me a ticket." "I like 'em that way," soliloquized the ticket seller as he pocketed $9.95.

Double Stars.

All stars appear single to the naked eye, but the use of the telescope has proven that many consist of two or more distinct orbs.

When the late Lord Falmouth was in the middle of his victorious racing career, so that he seemed to have a lease of all the great races, Lord Rosebery excited a good deal of amusement among their friends by getting 100 letters of congratulation lithographed in the following words: "My Dear Falmouth—Allow me once again to congratulate you on the success of your horse—in another classic race, the— Believe me, etc., ROSEBERY."

Murphy in the Majority.

A special parliamentary report on "Surnames in Ireland" has been issued, with notes as to numerical strength, derivation, ethnology and distribution. The volume is full of curious information, gathered together evidently at very considerable pains.

It shows, among other things, that "Murphy" is the commonest surname in Ireland, there being no fewer than 62,000 persons (or 13.3 per 1,000 of the population) so called, and the next in order of numerical strength are "Kelly" 55,900; "Sullivan," 43,600; "Walsh," 41,700; "Smith," 33,700; "O'Brien," 33,400, and "Byrne," 33,300.

THE PROCTOR & GAMBLE CO., CHICAGO. July 14.

Didn't Dare to Discharge Mary Ann, But Laid a Deep Plot.

The young husband was somewhat surprised when his wife came into the office. She opened the conversation at once.

"I want enough money to go out of town for a few days," she said, "and you will have to take your meals down town for a few days."

"Why, what does this mean?" "It means just this. I got a messenger boy to come to the house for Mary Ann to tell her that she was wanted at her aunt's, and as soon as she got around the corner I shut up the house and locked it and ran away."

She comes back she won't find any one there. We don't owe her anything, so it's all right, and I wanted to discharge her, but you know I never would dare to tell her to go, and I knew you wouldn't dare, and don't you think your little wife knows pretty well how to manage? Say yes, now, or I'll break down and cry right here in the office."

Boston's Cure for Truancy.

School principals in Boston are not much troubled by truancy in their schools. Every morning, directly after the opening of the school, every principal makes out a list of the names and addresses of the pupils who are absent without known cause and hands it to the policeman on the beat. It then becomes the business of this functionary to call at the addresses given and ascertain the cause of absence.

The Fabulous Cockatrice.

The cockatrice, like the basilisk was one of the fabled monsters of antiquity. Its very look was fatal to life. It breathed fire, and on that account could only live in desert regions, where there was no danger of its fiery exhalations consuming vegetation. Travelers who were forced to cross a desert formerly took with them a cock, whose crowing, it was believed, would kill all the cockatrices in hearing.

Precautions Against Anarchists.

Because of the recent bomb outrage extraordinary precautions are taken before admitting strangers to the galleries of legislative chambers of Europe. In Rome only forty-eight men were admitted at any one time, and in England no stranger with a bag or parcel is ever allowed to enter the houses of parliament.

NOTICE.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF HOLT COUNTY, NEBRASKA.

The American Investment Company, of Emmetsburg, Iowa, a corporation, plaintiff, vs. Ernest C. Getz, et al., defendants.

Ernest C. Getz and William David Adams, David L. Dar and Ella Dar, C. H. Tenney, C. W. Lemont, J. H. Henry, William T. Brownlee, Robert Brown and Phoenix Insurance company, of Hartford, Conn., defendants in the above cause, will take notice that on the 28th day of April, 1894, the above named plaintiff filed its petition in the district court of Holt county, Nebraska, against you and your co-defendants. The object and prayer of said petition being to foreclose a certain contract of extension made by the defendant, David Adams with this plaintiff and dated December 1, 1891. Said contract being for the extension on a certain note of $500.00, dated March 15, 1887, and due December 1, 1891, given by the defendant Getz to this plaintiff, and to secure said note, the said Getz and wife executed and delivered to this plaintiff their certain trust deed conveying to this plaintiff lot 13, fifteen (15) block twenty-two (22) in the city of O'Neill, Holt county, Nebraska. That said contract of extension, by which the defendant Adams was for the purpose of extending said $500.00 note for five years from December 1, 1893, and for the further purpose of securing his ten promissory notes of $50.00 each, representing the interest on said $500.00 note. Plaintiff alleges that there is due it, by reason of the defendant's failure to pay due December 1,
