The lightning lescended the tree to the ground and followed a root, when it again forced itself from the ground about six feet from the tree and struck a fence post, splitting it squarely in two. The shock which was a very sharp one, was felt more or less by numerous people living in the immediate vicinity of the scene of its operations.

CONFERENCE SECRETS.

senator Vest Threatens to Air Some of Them.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.-The Democratic conferrees resumed their sitting to-day and during the beginning of the conference there was an interchange of suggestions based upon the offer made by the senate conferrees last evening to accept free sugar as provided in the house bill, the senate bill on other items to be accepted by the house. It did not take the conferrees long to find that they could come to no agreement on this basis and the first house member to make his appearance said so.

Within half an hour after the conference began the senate conferrees left the room and met Senator Gorman in the committee on appropriations. Other conservative senators were sent for and it was said that a point had been reached where a decision one way or another must be reached. One of the house conferrees said that the tension was very great and the situation very unsettled, but that there must be a break-up some-way as the present condition of affairs could not last.

One of the Republican conferrees said just afternoon that the Repub-licans had not yet been call in, but said emphatically that a disagreement had been decided upon by the Demo-crate crats

At 12:25 p. m. Senator Hill tried to obtain recognition to offer a resolution calling for information as to the status of the tariff conference, but was temporarily crowded out by other business. While the resolution of Mr. Hill was lying on the table and had not been read, Mr. Gray moved an executive session. A few more senators voted on the viva voce vote and Mr. Hill demanded the yeas and mays. Several conservative senators voted against the motion. Hill, Murphy, Pugh, Palmer and Gibson voted no. Gorman, Harris and Jones did not vote. Mr. Vest voted aye. The motion was lost, ayes 21, navs 32.

Senator Hill's resolution requested the senate conferrees to report to the senate the principal items of disagree-ment in the tariff bill and as to whether an agreement was likely to be reached.

Senator Harris stated that the main disagreement was on sugar, coal and iron ore. Objections were made to reconsideration of the resolution as it lacked unanimous consent. Mr. Hill insisted that it was a proper matter for the consideration of the senate at this time. The vice president decided that under the rules the resolution must lie over for a day.

Senator Vest said he was heartily in favor of the resolution. "When it comes before the senate to-morrow, he said, "I shall take occasion to make a statement before the senate which can be done without the violation of the conference. It is time, I think, that the calcium light of truth be shed on the work of the conference; that the calumnies and false issues which have been heaped upon the conference and sont broadcast over the country be dispelled. With this end in view I will, when the resolution is considered to-morrow, speak of the infamous lies which have been invented and circulated as to the work of the conferrees on the part of the senate."

Senator Hill suggested: "Perhaps the se ator would like to free his mind now?"

"I am ready at any time now," replied Mr. Vest.

Mr. Aldrich executed a flank movement by calling up a resolution here-tofore offered by Senator Allen. It was an important resolution as it gave Mr. Aldrich the floor and he claimed that the Allen resolution was morn-ing business. He moved to strike out THAT'S THE WAY THE MATTER LOOKS NOW.

DEMOCRATIC HOUSE CAUCUS CALLED

SENATE BILL WILL PASS.

The Senate Conferrees Refused to Mee the House Conferrees-Senator Hill's Resolution Still Pending-Awaiting Action of the Caucus-Senators in an Amiable

State of Mind.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.-The senate chamber was the storm center of the tariff conflict to-day. Eager crowds thronged the lobbies leading to the senate galleries early in the day and struggled for points of vantage for the expected debate on Senator Hill's resolution directing the senate tariff conferrees to report on the situation.

The spectators, as well as senators waited with evident impatience while the clerk read a long veto message from the president on a bill retiring a naval officer. As it proceeded the floor of the chamber rapidly filled with members of the house of repre-sentatives. Mr. Burrows of Michigan took a sect near Singar Aldrich and took a sert near Sinator Aldrich, and Messrs. Tarsney, Bynum and other Democratic members of the ways and means committee were on the Democratic side. It was noticeable, however, that none of the house con-ferrees were on the floor or in the galleries

At 12:30 Senator Hill arose and asked that his resolution of yesterday be considered. He gave way, however, to Senator Chandler who asked that the resolution for the investigation of the alleged irregulari-ties in the recent Alabama election go over until next Monday. Senator Hill presented an amendment requesting the senate conferrees to report the principal items of disa-greement, returning the bill to the secretary of the senate for further action by the senate. He called for the yeas and nays on the amendment. Senator Gray asked for an explana-tion of the amendment and Mr. Hill explained that it was to fix the parliamentary status of the bill in case of a disagreement.

Mr. Gray thought it would be time enough to consider this phase when the conferrees reported their inthe conferrees reported their in-ability to agree. He doubted that the physical possession of the bill re-mained in the senate. It was a matter of joint conferrees to consider. He believed that the house might yet deal with the bill and that the ques-tion of tariff could not depend upon mere manual possession. Senator Hill replied that the senate asked for the second conference, and under parliamentary usage the bill remained in its possession. "If I can be assured," he said, "that the bill will remain in the senate, I will withdraw the amendment."

Mr. Frye said he understood that the bill was actually in the senate, to which Mr. Cockrell replied vehemently that he understood that the papers were taken to the house and were then there.

Mr. Frye said it might be true that the house conferrees had either properly or improperly secured possession of the bill. "There seems to be so much doubt promptly at 10 o'clock this morning in the room of the senate committee on inter-state commerce and remained there during the entire forenoon, but they waited in vain for the senate they waited in vain for the senate conferrees. They sent messengers to the capitol for the senators, but the search proved unavailing. None of the senate members of the conference were at the capitol, or if they were they could not be found. That the house conferrees realize that the crisis has been reached is manifested by a call which emanated from no less a source than Speaker Crisp and the house conferrees. As soon as the house conferrees returned from the morning meeting they were closeted with Speaker Crisp and Messrs. Catchings and Dockery. an hour after the house met Speaker Crisp's son appeared on the floor with a formal call for a caucus of the house of Democrats on the tariff bill at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The names of Speaker Crisp and Chairman Wilson were among the first signed, and the paper was signed by members regardless of faction, as it was presented to them by young Mr. Crisp. It is recalled that in his speech Speaker Crisp said that when the matter was resolved into a choice between the "Senate bill" or no bill, the con-ferrees would call upon their colleagues for advice.

COMPLICATED RELATIONSHIP.

Eugene Superer Brings Sult Against His Wife Who Is Also His Mother .in-Law. NEW YORK, Aug. 13. -- Eugene Superer of Westfield, Mass., is his first wife's son-in-law, his present wife's stepfather, his own son-in-law, also his own father-in-law, his ex-stepchildren's brother-in-law and the grandfather of his own children. He is now suing his first wife for $20,000 for alienating the affections of his second wife, who is his first wife's daughter and his own stepdaughter.

Mrs. Catherine Superer, the defend-ant, was deserted by her first hus-band, Philip Sonn, in 1868, leaving her with three children and a heart yearning for love. She met Eugene Superer and they were married in 1876. Superer's heart was too big to be filled completely by love for Mrs. Superer, and her daughter by her first marriage captivated him. About this time it was a merry household, rend-ered more so by the fact that Mrs. Superer bore three children to Mr. Superer.

Then Mrs. Superer discovered that her first husband was still living and, it is alleged, brought suit to have the marriage annuled, but it never came to trial. Finally he ran away with Mrs. Superer's daughter by this first marriage and went to Westfield Mass. Mrs. Superer followed and brought a criminal action against him for his relations with her daughter, but he de-fended it by claiming that he had never been really married to her, as she had a husband living at the time. The suit was dismissed and Superer married the daughter Catherine. She bore him three children, who are thus not only the brothers and sisters but also the cousins of the children by Mrs. Sup-erer No. 1, besides being that unfortunate lady's grandchildren. Last January Mrs. Superer, having tired of Mr. Superer, largely, it is alleged, because that gentleman com-bined much love with frequent chas-tening, returned to her mother, Mrs. Superer No. 1, and now the suit follows.

AGREEMENT IN SIGET.

Senaty and House Conferrees Will Se

Decide the Tariff Question. WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. - Senaton Jones and Vest of the tariff confer ence committee, and Senators Gorma and Smith, acting on behalf of the "conservative" senators, held a meet ing to-day previous to the meeting the conference, and it is understo that it was decided that the time ha arrived when the conference should come to an end, either by an agree ment or a disagreement, and thu they arranged a program for bringing about the result.

The program, as detailed, was have the senate conferrees do the utmost to secure an agreement at the morning conference, and in case failure to urge that a disagreement h failing to secure the consent of the house members to this plan for the senate conferrecs to go into the sen ate and ask to be discharged from further consideration of the tariff bit in conference. When Senator Jon was asked as to the truth of this m port he neither confirmed nor contra dicted it, but simply said it was in dicted it, but simply said it was in possible to say what might happen. The Republican steering committee of the senate held a session of con-siderable importance, in view of the various propositions that have been threatened in the senate by the Democrats. The main point was practically agreed upon. The Re-publicans think that it is no time to publicans think that it is no time to debate the differences that exist in the Democratic ranks. The proposition that has been made to make sugar free was also d scussed this morning and the bearing thi item would have upon the successful ness of the bill. The opinion was en pressed that by putting sugar on the free list the votes of the Louisian senators would be lost to the bill, but that Senator Peffer might vote for it The Republicans say that if a proposi-tion is made to put sugar on the free list it will receive the support of nearly the entire Republican side.

When the tariff conferrees ad-journed for their usual recess the ir was full of rumors of all kinds, among them being statements that an agreement would be reached at the afternoon session. The confer-rees all declined to say anything. Out of the many conflicting reports received from the conference at noon it became evident, as was stated by those most intimate with the conferrees, that an agreement was very near at hand and might be reached to-morrow.

Representative Strauss of New York, who is closely associated with Mr. Wilson, gave it as his opinion that there would be a complete agreement by Saturday at least.

through the central part of the state, returned to this city and told the Na-tionalist club of Lincoln what he had seen and proposed his remedy, which is that the state build irrigating ditches and give employment to the cropless farmers, and at the same time provide against the future failure of crops from want of moisture. A committee this morning called at the governor's office and presented their request, which is here given:

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 6, 1894.-To His Excellency the Governor of the State of Nebraska, Lorenzo Crounse.-Dear We come to you this first opportunity after an extended trip by wagon and rail through central Nebraska, to call your excellency's attention to and add to the information you have al-ready gleaned from the crop failure district of the state. We come as citizens, not partizans, at the request of the First Nationalist club of Lincoln after listening to a recital of the conditions of crops and families and live stock by R. A. Hawley of this city (who is not a member of this club). It is believed that thousands of families will either starve, emigrate or have to be fed by charity unless the people of the state as a whole provide employment or otherwise provide for them. We be-lieve that the fair name of our state can be preserved and the millions of dollars of the loss of property saved by prompt action. We beg leave to suggest to your excellency that immediate steps be taken by the state to provide for the present and prevent the recurrence in the future; that a special session of the state legislature be called, and the ob-jects set forth in said call be to at once all after the word "resolved" and insert the resolution of Mr. Hill.

Fierce opposition was made to the consideration of the resolution. Mr. Aldrich said the opponents were "trying to filibuster it out of sight, when the country wanted the information."

Mr. Mills objected that the amendment was not germane to the resolution, which was for the consideration of the issue of the $500,000,000 treasury notes which led Mr. Hill to ask: "Is not the amendment as germane as for a senator to discuss the Chinese question in a tariff speech?" Mr. Mills insisted it would be a breach of the rights of the house to direct its conferrees to return the bill. At 2 o'clock the resolution and everything pertaining to it went over until to-morrow under the rules and the senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business.

The unexpected turn of the tariff conference brought out much comment from members of the house and with few exceptions it was favorable to the move urged by Senators Hill and Aldrich for getting the bill out of conference. Several leading mem-bers of the house said they would urge similar resolutions in the house if the rules would normit. Then he if the rules would permit. They believed, however, that unanimous consent would be required and this could not be hoped for.

One of the house conferrees said at the close of the exciting senate debata that if the members were anx-ious to kill the tariff bill they had chosen the right course in supporting the Hill resolution.

A discussion occurred among the senators after the senate went into executive session and the opinion was expressed that to-morrow a disagreement would be reported. It was said that the senate conferrees left the conference to-day feeling that no other course but a disagreement was possible.

"It will be in such form," replied Mr. Faulkner, "as a majority of the Democratic congressmen agree upon. Senator Turpie, Democrat of Indiana, said he had misgivings as to the source of the resolution. The senate went into executive session and at 2:12 adjourned until Mondav

The decision of the senate to go into executive session to-day, pending the consideration of the Hill resolution and subsequent adjournment was due to the general belief on the part of the Democrats of the senate that the house on Monday would take action result ing in an acceptance of the house bill entire and without change of any kind. This belief was strengthened by the action of the senate in making a motion for an executive session.

Hill was closeted in the room of the senate committee on appropriations with a few Democratic leaders of the senate, and it was immediately after the conference that Senator Cockrell entered his executive session motion.

When the senate adjourned the Democratic senators were, as a rule, in far better spirits than they have been for weeks and the "conservative" senators and the members of the finance committee were in an es-pecially amicable frame of mind.
