"For ten years prior to 1894, I was a constant sufferer from acute stomach trouble. I had all the manifold symptoms of acute dyspepsia, and at times other troubles were present in complication—I did not know what it was to enjoy a meal. No matter how careful I might be as to the quality, quantity and preparation of my food, distress always followed eating. I was despondent and blue. Almost to the point of insanity at times, and would have been glad to die. Often and often I could not sleep. Sympathetic heart trouble set in and time and again I was obliged to call a doctor in the night to relieve sudden attacks of suffocato relieve sudden attacks of suffoca-tion which would come on without a moment's warning.

My troubles increased as time wore on and I spent large sums in doctor bills, being compelled to have medical attendants almost constantly. During 1892 and 1893, it was impossible for me to retain food, and water brashes plagued me. I was reduced to a skeleton. A consultation of physicians was unable to determine just what did all me. The doctors gave us as their opinion that the probable trouble was ulceration of the coats of the stomach and held out no hope of recovery. One doctor said, "All I can do to relieve your suffering is by the use of opium. About this time a friend of mine, Mrs. Symantha Smith of Glidden, Iowa, told me about the case of Mrs. Thurston of Oxford Junction, Iowa. This lady said she had been afflicted much the same as I had. The publication of John S. C. Abbott's History of Napoleon Bonaparte began in 1851, as a serial in Harper's Magazine, and was continued during more than three years. Phenomenally successful at that time (for, from first to last, it proved itself to be the most popular serial that had ever appeared in an American periodical), its place in the esteem of the general public was afterward assured by an adequate pub-lication in book form. The two handsome volumes, containing almost 1,300 large pages, admirable typographically and generously illustrated, are now perhaps more than ever in request, as one result of the wide-spread interest in the illustrious subject of the work.

KILLED HER FATHER.

A Girl Arrested in Omaha Confesses to an Awful Crime.

Omaha, Neb., March 30.-Cora Smith has confessed to having assited in mur-dering her father last May. Mike Smith was the murdered man's name and previous to the last and successful attempt to kill by poisoning an attempt was made by shooting. Not long after the shooting incident poison in small doses was administered, from the effects of which he died. The wife and daughter were arrested, charged with the crime, and in June the wife was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Iowa penitentiary. Cora was discharged when taken before the police judge for a hearing and, after remaining in Des Moines for a short time, she came to Omaha. After her mother was sent to the penitentiary Cora began writing to her and in one of the letters she told her mother how she had assisted in poisoning her father. and at the same time implicating her, aunt, Mrs. Ellen Leader. This letter fell into the hands of the detectives as did also the correspondence following. In her confession she said that the poison used to kill her father was purchased by her aunt, Mrs. Leader, and that Mrs. Leader administered several doses, but the one that caused her father's death and the last dose given was by her own hands. The object of the murder was for the purpose of getting the insurance which Smith carried on his life. The amount was $6,000, but after the conviction of Mrs. Smith for murder the insurance companies refused to pay the policies. Smith was one of the oldest engineers on the Rock Island road.

Warships Go to Nicaragua. Washington, March 30 .- A cable message was sent to Admiral Meade at Kingston yesterday ordering him to dispatch two war vessels of his fleet to the vicinity of Greytown and Bluefields, Nicaragua. Great Britain will have a man of war off Bluefields of Greytown before April 16, when the limit of time allowed Nicaragua to settle the indem-nity demanded expires. The detaching nity demanded expires. The doubt of the two ships of war for the South Atlantic fleet is taken to mean that before that date two vessels flying the United States colors will be in the neghborhood.
