Mrs. D. H. Cronin and baby returned from Randolph Friday evening, having fully recovered from their recent illness. They were accompanied by Miss Mary Lorge, a niece of Mrs. Cronin, who will visit here for several weeks.

Complaint was filed in county court yesterday charging Frank Westerschill with assault with intent to kill and commit murder. It seems some little trouble arose in the Bohemian settlement south of town and in this suit is the outgrowth of it. He was discharged.

The Randolph ball team came up last night from Plainview, where they played yesterday, defeating that team by a score of 9 to 3. The following fans accompanied the team: John Runyon, John Auten, Mark Boughn, J. H. Lohman, F. M. Dorsey, W. R. Boughn and Chet Boughn, mascot.

Atkinson has filed another division petition. She claims that the other petitions were acted upon while the old law was still in effect, and now wants submission under the new law. Stuart and Chambers anticipated this move and filed a short petition one day ahead of Atkinson, just to save the right of priority.

A youth by name of Samuel Girt was up before County Judge McCutcheon last Thursday on the charge of kidnapping a horse belonging to J. H. McAllister. He was found guilty and sentenced to five years in the state industrial school for juvenile offenders, located at Kearney. He was delivered at that place August 2 by Deputy Sheriff O'Neill.

Dr. Gilligan returned Tuesday night from a summer's stay in New York. He took a post-graduate course in New York City and is now prepared to heal the sick and cure the lame and the halt in the most approved style. The doctor's return is hailed with delight by his numerous friends and patrons in O'Neill who think there never was another such a doctor.

The Sioux City Fair Association will hold its meeting from, September 23 to 28. This fair promises to eclipse the Inter-State fair held last year. The star attraction will be the bicycle races. All the greatest riders in the world will be there. The race for the $1,000 purse on September 25, between Johnson, Tyler and Sanger will be worth going miles to see.

Norfolk News: The murderer of Barrett Scott has been found. Holmes, the archdemon of Chicago, is the guilty party. Every other murder that has occurred within the past five years has been successfully charged to Holmes, then why would it not be convenient to lay the Scott tragedy at his door? And it would be such a relief to some of those Holt county rustlers.

Boyd County Advocate: Although some of the decisions of Judge Kinkaid have not met with the approval of parties living in his district, yet the greater majority of them have, and he is in high favor with the supreme court of the state. The Judge is now serving his third term, so the people of his district must have confidence in his integrity as a judge.

A Long Pine correspondence to the State Journal of last Saturday has the following to say of T. V. Golden's address to the chautauquans: "Hon. T. V. Golden, a man who perhaps is interested more than any other in this section of the country in irrigation, spoke on the subject which lies nearest to his heart. He is a clear, logical thinker and a ready speaker and his proofs of the value of irrigation were not to be refuted."

County Clerk Bethea will call the supervisors together on Tuesday, August 27, for the purpose of redistricting the county into seven supervisor districts, and draw lots for the offices, according to the provisions of the Burns law enacted by the last legislature. Some of the members of the board are in favor of obeying the law, while others, who are desirous of holding their jobs, think the law is unconstitutional and are opposed to redistricting.

Irrigation Farmer: In ancient Assyria and Egypt crops were grown by irrigation the water being raised by slaves in a very crude manner. Compare the possibilities of the modern windmill with the crude implements of ancient times and you can then determine what the great plains country will be in the future as to population and wealth. Those ancient nations were wealthy and prosperous but every state that embraces the great plains territory will be richer than Egypt in her palmiest days within the lifetime of men now living.

J. P. Mann is so well pleased with the result of his sale this week that he is going to continue it until August 17. He is soon going to Chicago for his fall stock and says he is determined to clear up all summer goods. This is a bonanza for his customers as they all say they have never seen goods as cheap in O'Neill before.

The West Point Republican makes the following pertinent remarks that are applicable in any community: "It is decidedly amusing to the Republican editor to have local republican partisans approach him and request certain courtesies when the patronage of these two-faced individuals is given to the opposition papers. This paper wants it understood that republicans who do not stand up loyally for it in a business way need expect no favors from it. Favors are granted only to friends. Nothing is more despicable than to see a man 'carrying water on both shoulders.' The Republican has the courage of its convictions and at the proper time will play a return game."

Plain Dealer: Mrs. W. R. Murray, one of the most estimable and plucky little women in Atkinson, met with quite a startling experience Sunday morning. W. R. being away, Mrs. Murray with her children and a young lady friend, was staying alone and, on Sunday morning she arose early, and was in the act of lighting the kitchen fire when in reeled a big drunken ruffian who, with an insult attempted to grasp her in his arms, but she quickly evaded him and hit him several hard blows on the head with a stick of stove wood at the same time calling for help which quickly brought her friend to her assistance. At the sight of reinforcements the wretch hurriedly made his escape and got out of town without being apprehended. Mrs. M. recognized the man as a farmer by the name of Hawkins who has a family and lives near Swan Lake. The indignation exercised over the affair by many of our citizens bodes no good for the fellow should he again present himself on our streets.

Michael J. Dwyer, in Donahoe's Magazine: It is at their special capacity as priests, as preachers of christian faith and inculcators of christian morality to the people in general, that we must glance for the results of the labors of the Jesuits in the republic. It is true, their endeavors, while extending far beyond the limits of their own churches, are mostly centered in a special class, being exercised chiefly among the Catholic of the nation. No valid objection can, however, be raised on this account, since American Catholics are still American citizens. Who that has watched the progress of Catholicism in our country will hesitate to say that its influence is to be a permanent and growing one among us? It is ineradicably planted in these United States, as the religion of nearly 10,000,000 American citizens. It is here, Apatem and every other foolism willy nilly, and is destined to remain here to the end of the republic as part of our religious life, asserting itself, not aggressively—God forbid—but knitting its principles, its standards of human life, and of the obligations of society, its recognition of human duty and responsibility, into the very fibre of our national character. In laboring within the fold of Catholicism, therefore, the Jesuits are contributing a quota of unequivocal assistance towards the preservation of the republic's morality and good citizenship. Reduced to its simple elements their teaching is this, that the maxims of Christ should be the main-springs of a man's every action, the guiding principles of his thought, and the rules for his dealings with his fellowmen and his relations to his country. Is not an American citizen, trained by the Jesuit and whose life is a practical illustration of this teaching, a living argument in favor of the Society of Jesus, and the most powerful and most practical refutation of the calumnies against it?

INSTITUTE LECTURES.

Rev. J. F. Watson, who for several years has been pastor of Garfield's church, Ohio, and preaches from the pulpit made by Garfield, will lecture before the teachers on Friday evening at the court-house. This will undoubtedly be one of the best lectures ever delivered in O'Neill; and those who heard him at Long Pine Chautauqua were completely captivated by his lectures. Admission 15 cents. All invited.

Hon. E. M. Thompson, of Independence, Ia., will lecture to the institute on Monday evening, August 12, in the court-room. Subject: "Power of Association." On Wednesday evening, August 14, Mr. Thompson will deliver his popular lecture, "Building and Builders." Mr. Thompson is an eloquent and forcible speaker and his lectures will be a rare literary treat. Everybody invited. Admission free.

THE INSTITUTE.

The Holt County Teachers' Institute is in session this week and will continue for two weeks. Superintendent Jackson is conductor and has for instructors Prof. Dan Miller, superintendent of schools, Fremont, Neb., Prof. E. O. Garrett, Spearfish, S. D., and Prof. C. L. Anderson, Atkinson.

Rev. Watson, of Ohio, is expected to deliver a lecture Friday evening, and Hon. E. M. Thompson, of Independence, Ia., will lecture Monday and Wednesday evenings of next week. State Superintendent Corbett will be here Saturday and will give a lecture that evening.

CAN WE GET ONTO HIS CURVES?

It is difficult to say whether there is any other method in the madness of the governor save that suggested by party greed for office. Against the letter of the constitution he appointed Dr. Abbott to the superintendency of the insane hospital without removing for cause the incumbent, Dr. Hay, who had not served half the term of his appointment. He contemplated for a time the dispossession of Hay by force, but was finally induced to take the more prudent course and to remove him for cause, after the courts had intimated that arms did not make a very good substitute for a constitutional provision.

Later he appointed one D. Neil Johnson superintendent of the Nebraska institute for the blind, although the law gave the appointment of this office to a board of trustees. He claimed that the law was unconstitutional and that the official appointed by the board should give place to his appointee and then go to court for his remedy.

In pursuance of that policy Johnson went down to Nebraska City and demanded possession of the premises and on the refusal of Professor Ebricht to vacate threatened to oust him by force.

Then comes the fire and police commission incident. The law provides that the fire and police commission of Omaha shall be appointed by the governor. Land commissioner and attorney general sitting as a board, and it went into effect on the first day of August. The governor declares the law unconstitutional and refuses to obey it. The board, however, obeyed the law and made an appointment in pursuance thereof, as the old board was not after that date made up as the law directs. Then the governor issues his mandate to the effect that the new board shall not be allowed possession until the supreme court has declared the law constitutional.

The governor's persistent wrong-headedness might be looked for in a bull-bated pop who professed no more knowledge of than respect for laws and constitutions, but this particular pop governor claims to be a lawyer and has actually sat on the bench up in the back country. What possesses him to make such a spectacle of himself and such a farce of his official position, the most honorable in the state? Is it plain greed on behalf of his fellow pops and an inordinate desire to forcibly grab the offices, little and big, or is it the conviction that if he does not show the ordinary earmarks of a pop governor he will lose caste and standing with his party? Is he a fool or a fraud?—State Journal.
