Second Wife of an Old Man.

Nebraska City dispatch: In July of the present year an old man named Horace Howard, whose wife had died a few months before, came to this city in search of another wife. He offered a bonus to any one procuring one for him, and as he was worth about $50.on him, and as he was worth about $50,-000 he was successful, marrying a woman named Delaney. It is said he presented her with a large sum of money prior to and after the marriage yesterday. James Brown, a son-in-law, came to the city to investigate. He claims that the woman was never divorced from her first husband and is consequently guilty of bigamy. He also claims that there is a big conspiracy to fleece the old man, who is over 80 years old, out of his his wealth, and he proposes to cause several arrests as soon as he procures some additional ev-idence. Mr. Howard is well known in this county.

Another is a program in which every family represented in the school presents a story, an essay, a recitation, a declamation, or something for the entertainment of the people of the community who are invited for the evening. A third is for the teacher to prepare a talk or lecture on the books selected for the pupils' reading course by the Reading Circle board and give this on the evening of Library day to as many old and young, as can be induced to come. A fourth plan is to give out five or six of the Pupils' Reading circle books to a number of the most earnest and intelligent men and women (one to each) in the district on women (one to each) in the district on sducational matters and ask each to make an eight or ten minute talk on What I found in the book for children.' THE NEW HAMPSHIRE SENATOR MAKES BIMETALLIC PROMISES.

COMES OUT IN A LETTER.

Republicans Declared to Be Pledged to the Use of Both Gold and Silver-The Democratic Leaders Classed as Uncompromising Gold Standard Men-Wants a Conference Called

DENVER, Col., Oct. 11.-In a letter to T. C. Clayton, secretary of the Republican state league of Colorado, urging Republicans of this state to stand firmly with the national organization, Senator Chandler of New Hampshire says: "The Republican party will go into the presidential battle pledged to bimetallism which I believe, as sure as right is right, will win. On the other hand the Democratic leadersthe men who dominate and control its national influence, patronage and organization-are gold monometallists. resident Cleveland and his administration are absolutely in the hands of Mr. Pierpont Morgan and his syndicate of foreign bankers; they are against silver as a money metal and they are committed to gold mono metallism. With the patronage of the government, with money manipulated by William C. Whitney and Calvin S. Brice the Democracy are hopelessly subjugated; and their next national convention will be as hostile to the principles of bimetallism as are the principles of bimetallism as are the English creditors who propose to exact the pound of flesh from their debtors in all parts of the world. It is the height of folly for any bimetallist to conceive that anything but gold monometallism can come from another Democratic national victory. We bimetallists outnumber the gold monometallists of the world 100 to 1, and need not fear that we will not eventually not fear that we will not eventually succeed. With a practical suggestion I close. A bimetallic convention held in the United States will be attended by representatives from all Western hemisphere governments and from the governments and from the governments of Russia, France, Japan and Chins. Bimetallic organ-Japan and China. Bimetaine organizations in Canada. India and every other country will send delegates. The decision of the conference that the nations should coin silver without limit at the ratio of 15½ to 1 will be irresistible, even by England and Germany. Our congress should call a conference and provide for paying its expenses."

CUBA'S INSURRECTION

SPAIN TO ACT PROMPTLY IN CRUSHING IT.

Sensational Rumor Concerning Warnings of Uncle Sam-The Spanish Minister at Washington Said to Have Notified His Government that This Country Will Act Unless the Cuban Rebellion is Soon Suppressed.

Madrid Much Excited.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.-A cable mesage from Madrid received here early this morning said that it was reported there on the best of authority that the American government had notified the Spanish minister at Washington that it was necessary for Spain to act promptly in crushing the Cuban insurrection, and that the report caused a profound sensation in Madrid.

The truth of the report cannot be confirmed at the state department. The officials, when approached, would neither affirm nor deny the story, though their manner would indicate disapproval of its accuracy. It is be-lieved quite probable that representa-tions may have been made to Spain of the wisdom of aggressive and active operations against the Cuban insurg-ents, but it is thought that the United States government did not make these suggestions, and that, if made, they came from Minister De Lome and were based on his personal views of the situation and on his observation of the trend of sentiment in the United States and his knowledge of the purpose of the friends of the insurgents to press their cause vigorously soon after the assembling of congress.

Daily events point strongly to a de-termination to force the question on the attention of congress in the belief that the legislative channel affords the most practicable route to the accomplishment of something in behalf of Cuban independence, the executive branch of the government, in the very nature of things, being more con-strained in its action than the legislative department. Senor DeLome left here to-day on very early train, and therefore no in-tormation could be gained from him concerning the Madrid dispatch.

THE POLICY OF THIS COUNTRY. Senor DeLome, the Spanish m'n ister, had a short interview with Secretary Olney yesterday, and in the course of their conversation the minister, perhaps in answer to the secretary's inquiry, made a statement that operations in Cuba would be conducted with greater vigor hereafter. As the president must certainly make some reference to the insurrection in his annual message to congress when it meets in December, it would be but natural that Secretary Olney, upon whom he must rely for his information, should take steps to gather data upon which to base a judgment of probable future events. probable future events.
While it is true that President Grant did, as indicated in his messages to congress, entertain a belief that intervention in the then progressing rebel-lion in Cuba would be justifiable, this view was never acceptable to Secre-tary Fish, and it has not secured the adherence of international lawyers. The whole weight of authority, is decidedly adverse to the assertion by a neutral nation of a right to say when war between two combatants has progressed to a point where it must be stopped. It may be recalled that some such proposition was made during the last stages of the China-Japanese war, but it never went further than the exercise of the good offices of the interested nations to bring about peace, which function is entirely distinct from direct intervention. The question is also separate from that of the recognition of the belligerence of the insurgents, which according to American policy and practice, must be determined purely by the facts in each case.

FORTUNE IN A ROOM.

Over a Million Dollars Left Behind

by a Recluse.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 12.—Mrs.
Sarah Coolidge, for thirty years a recluse in a secluded house here, died of apoplexy Wednesday. She always passed as a woman of moderate circumstances. When the undertaker disrobed the body preparatory to em-balming it, he found various assortments of gold coins tucked away in concealed pockets in her clothing.

This led to a search of the room and it proved to be a veritable gold mine. In vases and in other pieces of bric-abrac, in shoes, in bureau drawers, and in every conceivable nook and cranny the searchers found $20,000 in cash, mostly in gold coin. In one dilapidated handbag was a roll of bills aggregating $3,800. On the shelf in her closet were bank books representing scores of thousands more, with securities and deeds showing a valuation of over a million dollars. One document showed her to be the owner of prop-erty at the corner of Washington and Avon streets, Boston, which pays a rental of $1,000 a month.

In addition to the money and the bank books there were dresses of the most stylish and expensive goods, covered with jewels and old laces. Many of these gowns would easily receive a valuation of $1,000 each. All the chamber closets and wardrobes were filled with these expensive gowns and none of them have ever been

MRS. JAMES BROWN POTTER

She Airs Her Domestic Difficulties in the Newspapers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.-Mrs. James Brown Potter has made public her reasons for leaving her home for a life on the stage. In an interview she said:
"I have never for one moment regretted going upon the stage; neither have I ever cast one longing look back at the old society days, nor even thought with pleasure of the so-called thought with pleasure of the so-called social triumph I was said to have made. I look upon those things as hollow and utterly vapid; they mean absolutely nothing. It is nine years since I left New York, and I have lost all interest in the city's social set. Indeed, I care as little for them as they care for me. them as they care for me. all, let me say that I was much amused at something said in the papers a few days ago about Mr. James Brown Potter's posing as a saint, keeping his home ready for my return at any time I chose to come back. It is very nice of Mr. Potter to express such sickly sentiment. That house and home hap-pens to be mine, as well as everything pens to be mine, as well as everything in the house. It was given to me by Pierre Lorillard for the successful work I did in getting people to join the Tuxedo club.

"My ideas of life and those of the Potton was at warmings."

Potters were at variance. I was brought up to think that life was real and that love ruled the world. The Potters lived only for outside show, always seemed to be afraid to appear natural and were always at swords' points with one another. There was nothing ratural, nothing genuine in this new life I was leading. All was conventional, all surface. My enthusions and naturalness were chilled by asm and naturalness were chilled by the Potters. My success in private theatricals paved the way to some-thing better, and one day, sick and weary of all the mockery, tired of the constant fault-finding to which I was compelled to submit, tired of going out with a smiling face and a breaking heart, tired of the snubs of the Potters, who are always jealous of each other, tired of genteel poverty. It walked out of that home Mr. Potter is keeping for me and left everything behind me. I have never been permitted togo back to get my belongings, and not even as much as a pair of sleeve butters have never been pair of sleeve buttons has ever been sent me. I sac-rificed little to gain the glorious heritage of honest independence. DURRANT'S GREAT NERVE.

He gave an explanation of a clue regarding Blanche Lamont's disappearance, said to have been received by him, that was so palpably a false-hood that everybody in the room laughed aloud. The stifling atmosphere of the overcrowded court room came to Durrant's rescue and he was enabled to recover from his confusion during the short recess that followed. When he again came to the stand he remained calm during the most trying ordeals. The prosecution was, nevertheless, well satisfied with the day's work, for it had accomplished what had never been done before-Durrant for a moment had lost his wonderful self-possession, and had been caught in a number of barefaced untruths.
