COMMITTEE MEETING.

Notice is hereby given that there will be a meeting of the Holt county republican central committee held in O'Neill at 2 o'clock p. m. on Saturday, October 26, 1906. It is earnestly requested that the committeeman from each township be present at this meeting.

B. J. WEEKE, Chairman.

Depositors in the Holt county bank ought to fall over themselves in a wild rush to vote Mike Harrington's ticket.

All that is necessary to get money from populists for campaign purposes is to go and ask them for it.—J. A. Egerton.

Men who object to what the newspapers say of them often forget what the newspapers suppress.—Framont Herald.

Edmonton says the future of the populist party depends upon the election of Maxwell. In that case the future of the populist party is a gloomy chromo.

A for paper down the road says Maxwell has declared himself in sympathy with all of the "criminal" principles of the populist party. The testimony of the witness is not rebutted.

Bowen was drummed out of the populist party for treason, so the Sun says. We guess that is right. Bowen refused to decide the Alken case before hearing the evidence and that was treason to the principles of populism?

The plot thickens. The pope invalidated Scott's official bond, thereby the county lost $64,000. Last week's FRONTIER proves that the pope got considerable of the money from Scott. Was it understood between Scott and them that the bond should be invalidated?

The FRONTIER guesses that Clarence Selah has become a member of the court-house editorial bureau. If he didn't contribute the article in the last issue of the Sun about the Woods letter, this paper doesn't want a cent. Come, now, false facing Clarence, 'fess up.

The democratic judicial convention held at Chadron last week decided to make no nominations. This is practically a republican endorsement. On the political wheel of fortune Golden occupies the position of the lone star. He has about one chance in five thousand of winning.

Is the Beacon Light editor is such a true reformer why doesn't he refuse to support Hamilton for sheriff after he went to the trouble of investigating his office, and with the result of his findings went into the convention to defeat him for the nomination. Hamilton is no better since he was nominated than before.—Graphic.

For what are the people paying Mullin and his clerks, anyway? To spend their time electioneering? Not much. They are being paid to put in eight hours a day working for the people. Mullin and his chief clerk are out of the office most of the time now gawking about the county, while two extra clerks are employed to do their work. If the tax-payers are going to reimburse Mullin and his clerks for campaign expenses, why not do the same with republicans, democrats and prohibitionists? Equal rights is a populist motto.

Was it not wrong for any man, or set of men, combination or clique, to take $100,000 of money that was paid into the county treasury and to convert it to their own use and never return it to the county treasury? Wasn't such a theft from the over-taxed people of the county a great crime and a heinous wrong?—Sun.

It was. For further particulars see last week's FRONTIER.

IN CASE of Hamilton's election it is said that Ewing will furnish the next deputy sheriff. When Hamilton was making his hard fight for the nomination in the populist convention Ewing held the balance of power and on the last ballot swung to Hamilton and nominated him. The consideration, it is said, was the promise of the deputyship.

THE Sun says Woods is a Biglin man for the reason that Biglin has promised him a clerkship. THE FRONTIER does not know that Biglin has done this, but the assertion suggests an idea: If it is true, why does the Sun not prove its great love for Woods, the old soldier, by assisting in the election of Biglin? Mr. Woods would certainly get no clerkship under Mullen.

PEOPLE in this judicial district have been served faithfully by Judges Bartow and Kinkaid, and in rendering their decisions they have been impartial to all concerned. This district does not contain men better qualified for the arduous duties devolving upon the judiciary than the present incumbents, who at all times have looked after the best interests of the entire district. Their faithfulness, honesty and integrity deserves to be rewarded by re-electing them to their present positions. It is for you, who desire good government, to see that these incumbents are retained.—Valentine Republican.

A GREAT many people now believe that the reason the board refused to settle with Scott and take the notes due him in part payment was because nearly all of the notes were signed by members of the populist party. And still the populist press of Holt county has always stoutly maintained that Scott was killed by the men who had his money. Of course when the pop papers were talking that way they appeared to think that Scott had loaned his money to republicans, but now that the contrary is known to be true will they be allowed to recant, to recall what they have written? Hardly. All of the people are not fools all of the time.

LAST week's Sun, in speaking of the men on the populist ticket, said:

They are standards of morality, sobriety and gentlemanly conduct. (There is a single exception, we are sorry to remark, but he is not a populist.)

In order to get the blacksheep that is admitted to be in the flock it would be a good idea for the people to vote against the whole outfit.

HARRINGTON complains that THE FRONTIER libeled him last week. Strange what ideas some men have of libel. He didn't seem to be greatly offended when we said he fled to Illinois to escape arrest for forgery. We even published an affidavit from Judge Bowen stating that a warrant had been issued from county court for such purpose and still he didn't talk libel. When we published an opinion written by the honorable secretary of the interior in a land case wherein he said this man Harrington had sold out a client, and reversed a contest case on those grounds, he didn't accuse us of libel. Libel! Great heavens! we don't want to undertake the task.

WESTOVER and GOLDEN have been making a vigorous campaign throughout the Fifteenth judicial district. Judges Kinkaid and Bartow have been busy taking care of their official duties, holding court nearly every day since their nomination, and have had no time to do any electioneering, and as the time is now limited it will not be possible for them to make a very thorough canvass. They are in fact in the hands of their friends. This district is composed of ten counties and if the remaining days were divided equally among the several counties it would give but two days to each county, so it will be impossible for them to do more than visit a few towns in each county. A personal campaign, however, is not necessary on the part of these gentlemen. The people know them perfectly well, and so knowing will re-elect them when the proper time arrives.

LAST week's FRONTIER stirred up the natives in great shape. Messrs. Harrington and McCafferty were particularly red-headed and both took a terrible oath that they would spend the rest of the time before November 5 working against the republican ticket. To lose these two warriors will be a terrible blow to the republican party, but, dear voter, when Mike Harrington broaches the subject to you just ask him how much money he has made out of populism during the last two years: ask him if his great concern for the populist ticket is not with a view to the perpetuation of his snap: ask him why he does not settle up in full with the Holt county bank and give the depositors another dividend: ask him if the bank would ever have failed had the men paid back the money they borrowed. When you see McCafferty inquire of him why he is a populist: ask him why he does not pay back the money he borrowed from Scott: ask him how it happens that every treasurer he has supported in the past has been short in his accounts. These are two nice men to be out soliciting votes for populists. Their friendship alone ought to be sufficient to defeat the men for whom they are working.

HOLT county has a bad name abroad, there is no use denying that, but there is a way she can redeem herself. Turn down the pops and you will have removed the cause. They are the people who have made the county the laughing stock of the state and ruined her reputation as a law abiding community. They have stirred up more strife and contention during their brief career than the old parties could do in a century. They have arrayed neighbor against neighbor, friend against friend and divided households against themselves. They have done this by appeals to ignorance—stirring up racial prejudices and religious differences; things that should have no place—and do have no place in political economy. In the first place their cause was not just and could not win by logical argument: in a fair field, and as the spoils were their desire they adopted disreputable tactics to win. They have not helped the financial affairs of the county, but the contrary is true. They have, however, succeeded in turning immigration from our boundaries. It was only last week that THE FRONTIER met an eastern capitalist who came to O'Neill for the purpose of investing $10,000 in Holt county land, intending to put in system of irrigation. He called at this office, introduced himself, and gave us the foregoing facts, but said that since coming here and acquainting himself with existing conditions he had decided to not invest. He said he would never invest a cent in any community where the populists were in control. It was his opinion that they breed disaster and ruin. And they do. We do not like to publish such things as these, but the voters have a right to be informed that they may govern themselves accordingly. The remedy is in their hands.
