

NO HASTY MARRIAGES.

Higher Education Makes Women Less Dependent.

"So long as the attraction of sex remains you cannot abolish marriage!" excitedly exclaimed the conservative man, according to Vogue.

"I have no desire to do away with marriage, but simply to mitigate it," replied the woman propagandist. And most thoughtful people will agree with the woman speaker that the recklessness which characterizes marriage should be moderated.

It is encouraging to those whose hearts are touched by the manifold sorrows of humanity to observe that, in this matter of marriage (a most prolific source of misery to human beings), different agencies are at work, educating people to an appreciation of the gravity of the estate, and its tremendous consequences to individuals and to nations.

A WIFE'S TYRANNY.

Some of the Awful Things She Does to Amey Her Husband.

She contradicts him at the head of his own table, she humiliates his associates to set him right on an utterly unimportant little detail—say the date of a transaction, which he makes the 7th of September and she asserts was the 8th; she interferes in all his arrangements, and questions his authority in the stables, the field, the church, the consulting-room; she apportions his food and regulates the amount of wine he may take; should she dislike the smell of tobacco she will not allow him the most transient whiff of the most refined cigarette, and, like her brother with his victim, she teaches the children to despise their father by the frank contempt with which she treats him and the way in which she flouts his opinion and denies his authority.

All out of love and its unreasoning tyranny she takes him into custody—in public as in private life—and allows him no kind of freedom. Robust and vigorous as he is, she worries over his health as though he were a confirmed invalid; in the hey-day of his maturity coddling him as if he were an octogenarian bordering on the second childhood. She continually uses the expression, "I shall not allow my husband to do so and so," or, "I will make my husband do this or that." Never by any chance does she confess his right to free action, bound as he is in the chains of her tyrannous affection.

Dr. Clark's Novel Idea.

The Rev. F. E. Clark, president of the Christian Endeavorers, suggested a unique plan a week or two ago. It is to start a "chain of prayer," to reach clear around the world, and in which every member of the society, if he wishes, might form a link. Each Endeavorer is to offer one short petition every day for other members and for the cause at large. Special objects may from time to time be included. To become a link in the chain requires but one condition, viz., belief in prayer.

It Was Rotten.

A tory speaker in Berkshire held a nut in his hand and said: "This represents the whole church question. This shell is the free church, good in its way, but not the best of things. Now crack this nut and you get the established church." He cracked it and it was rotten and he had to retire amid derisive cheers.—Fun.

Blarney.

His Reverence—I can't take your cab, Pat. I see your horse has been on his knees.

Pat—Arrah, yer riverence; be aisy about that. The last place he had was with a prate and faith, he had to keep up a semblance of religion.—Sydney Bulletin.

He Understood. The young man had asked for a horse that was gentle and safe. As he drove out of the stable the liverman said, "The spring on the right side of the buggy is the stronger;" and the young man blushed until his ears looked like a sunset in a chromo.
