ey have issued the following ad-

PLEA TO THE PEOPLE. To the People of the United States: ing the call of duty and justified e common citizenship of this rebile, we address this communicato the people and the forthcomconventions of the United States. doing so we claim no authority or ht other than that which belongs that hope blasted; if he knows that the general dissatisfaction has arisen from the fact that party promises made were broken to the people by party performances, he knows that soon as the election was over and successful candidates installed they became the servitors of the party and the advocates of a narrow and nonprogressive policy within which alone there seemed to be an assurance of selfish safety and partisan approval GREAT TRUTHS NOTABLY LACKING.

"During all this period we have lacked a great constructive administration. No new social truth has been put forward in an effective way. While in all the departments of physical life there have been developments and achievements of ease and comfort to the favored of mankind, in the still greater and more important domain of social reform, we have stood still or retrogressed. It is not that the people have not felt the stirrings of determination, that this inaction has endured, but because of the rule of the party which has largely controlled It has bemen in and out of office. come a source of reproach to any man that he should dare to renounce al-legiance to organization. Men have been expected to submit their views to the dictation of conventions, al-though it is common knowledge that conventions have been swayed to views and declarations not the most approved by the mass of the people nor progressive for their welfare "If the voices which have sounded to us from every state in this Union are an indication of the real feeling, this year is the appointed time for the people to assert themselves, through such mediums as may give best prom-ise of the achievement of justice. But whether we are mistaken or not concerning the general sentiment in the United States, we have not mistaken our own duty in withdrawing from Republican convention, feeling that it is better to be right and with the minority in apparent defeat than to be wrong with the majority in apparent triumph.

MONETARY REFORM THE GREATEST. "We hold that in the great work of social evolution in this country monetary reform stands as the first requisite. No policy, however promising of good results, can take its place. Continuation during the next four years upon the present financial system will bring down upon the American people that cloud of impending evil, to avert which should be the first thought of statesmer and the first prayer of patriots. Our very institutions are at stake. To-day, with a rapidly increasing population, with widely swelling demands, the basis of our money is relatively contracting and the people are passing into a servitude all the more dangerous because it is not physically apparent. The nation itself, as to other nations, is losing the sturdy courage which could make it defiant in the face of injustice and internal wrong. From the farmer and the tradesman to the government there is apparent the same shrinkage from giving offense, lest the vengeance of some offended financial power should descend The business man submits some portion of his judgment and his will, and the nation sub mits some portion of its international right, lest some mighty foreign cred-itor shall make destructive demands. Where will all this end if the people shall decline to assert themselves? Where will it end if the older parties in their determination to maintain themselves in power for power's sake alone shall refuse to recognize the right and the hope of humanity.

CREDITOR NATIONS ATTACKED.

"This country cannot much longer exist free and independent against all the rest of the world, nor can its people much longer be free in the noblest ense of the term if the United States, same spirit of conciliation, concession and hope with which we put it forth. "We have endeavored in a plain way to set the matter before the eyes of our fellow citizens. We invoke the union of all men and all parties who believe that the time has come for the triumph of justice. It is an hour when the people may speak for themselves as individuals and through conventions yet to be held. It is conventions yet to be held. It is the right of every citizen to indicate his preference.

SENATOR TELLER'S NAME PRESENTED. "With this in view, we offer to the forthcoming conventions and to the people the name of a man for the presidency of the United States whose life in public and in private repre-sents those distinguished virtues sents those distinguished virtues which adorned the days and the deeds of the earlier time of this republic, a return to which virtues is requisite for the prosperity and contentment of the people and the perpetuity and commanding example of free institutions. That name is Henry M. Teller, a man of the people and for the people. He is of no sec-tion. His experience and service, his devotion to the common justice and the common cause of his fellow citi-The common cause of his fellow cur-zens has been as wide as the country. We believe that the people of the United States have him in their hearts as he has had their interests in his purpose through all the work of an exalted life

"It is not merely as the exponent of monetary reform that we present this man to the people. It is true that he has waged a mighty war for the restortion of the money of the con-stitution, and his name has been identified as that of no other living man with this great cause. But had his services been less demanded and less noticed in this direction, the people would still have recognized in him for other labors a statesman of the purest type His only poverty has been that of purse. In all things else—in the generosities of man to man, in kindliness of deeds for his fellows and in the study and the doings of a mighty career, he has been one of the most opulent American citizens of any age.

APPLAUDED IN COLORADO

All Parts of the State Celebrate the Bolt -Laudations for Teller.

DENVER, Colo., June 20.-The news of the action of Senator Teller and the Colorado and Idaho delegations in withdrawing from the national Republican convention has been received throughout the State with the greatest enthusiasm. In Denver there will be a demonstration when Senator Teller returns, which will be by Thursday, and Senator Cannon of Utah will be the feature of another demonstration when he passes through.

The mining camps are especially jubilant. At Aspen last night the hills were reverberating with the boom of improvised cannon and at Cripple Creek the streets were thronged by enthusiastic crowds all night. At Pueblo the company of the national guard fired a salute of forty-five guns when the news of the bolt was received, and in Northern and Southern Colorado towns the enthusiasm was unconfined.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held at the chamber of commerce last night by people of all classes, without regard to party, to arrange for a public reception to Senator Teller upon his return.

DETROIT, Mich., June 20.-The Tribune, one of the oldest daily newspapers in the West, and the leading Republican paper of Michigan since the birth of the party, unequivocally repudiates the action of the Republican national convention in declaring absolutely for the gold standard as against bimetallism. It says that while the party's candidate is all right, "the platform on the only important issue before the country is damnably unpatriotic and un Republican. No one's Republicanism can be impugned if he continues to stand squarely on the national and state platforms of the past, and if he repudiates utterly the false and un-American fulmination of St. Louis conspiracy," and advises active campaigning against. trade.

DVICES from New York cheese localities indicate a somewhat discouraging outlook for a good opening of the cheese market. The cows are coming fresh and something must be done with the milk, yet the demand for cheese is very light. Matters don't look as they used to when we were sending car loads of cheese to England every day, and it seemed as if they couldn't get enough of it. We have killed the goose that laid the golden egg. Filled cheese to kill off the foreign demand and skim cheese to kill off home consumption, and here we are with our cows, cheese factories, and farms on our hands and no market. It is to be hoped that the cheese-makers, factory proprietors and particularly the patrons will build up some solid public opinion on this question of making poor cheese. Stop it at once. Nothing has driven cheese factories out of the business more than the making of skim cheese. Honest full cream cheese factories could not hold their own in profit with skim cheese factories, so they turned into creameries. We have killed our foreign trade and are acting like stupid dolts about our only and last resort, the home There is not a factory in the land but what ought to refuse to let a young, tasteless, indigestible cheese go out of its doors. Every factory should face this question of curing cheese in a decent, eatable shape. Don't let the factories sell the immature cheese to still more and more discourage the consumption of cheese. No cheese has any business to go onto the grocery counter less than 60 to 90 days old. By that time it tastes somewhat cheesy, and if it is a good article it provokes the desire for more. The only forces that can stop this make of bad cheese and sale of immature cheese are the factories themselves. Let each factory do the sensible thing for itself and all will soon have good, old-fashioned cheese, and the people will cat double the quantity of it.-Hoard's Dairyman.

Mill: As a Food.

Milk is a substitute that is complex in its composition, says Prof. Robertson of Toronto. All of the ingredients, except the fat, are in solution; the fat is in suspension, and when the milk stands for any length of time these little globules of fat rise to the surface and form what is known as cream A drop of milk contains 5,000,000 globules of fat. Food, to be healthy, and nutritious, must have the correct proportions of flesh forming and heat-producing material. Good nature, wholesomeness, self mastery, depend on the quality of food w, eat. Raise a boy on bread and milk rather than on potatoes and bacon. Bread and milk is cheaper and much better ford. It is a mistaken idea that a man who works hard must eat rich food. always sell at home and never run risk of shipping. We do not get as many eggs in winter as in summer, but get quite a per cent of them during the winter. We seldom lose fowls from lice or disease, but lose more from hawks than in any other way. We keep a few of the large breeds for the purpose of hatching. We generally let them run at large after a few days as we think they do better. I have never tried doctering hens but have turkeys. I tried several remedies for dysentery, but nothing did any good till I tried camphor. It cured them. I think there is no fowl I ever handled that will produce more eggs than the Leghorn. They also mature very quickly. For a heavy fowl the Plymouth Rock matures early. I do not make poultry raising my sole occupation. I raise what I can in the poultry line and attend to my other business. I raise eighty to one hundred chickens in a year and thirty-five turkeys, and besides I sell as many eggs as my neighbors do.

Mrs. Robert Dinning.

Pig Points.

It costs at least one-third more to produce a pound of pork after the first year than before. If a pig does not pay a profit by the time it is ten months old it will hardly do so after it passes that age. oYung pork is not only the best and cheapest, but brings the highest price in the market. With a majority of our farmers the hog pays the grocer, the physician, the taxes, the interest clothes the family and practically supplies the table with meat. With all young stock it is an important item to secure a good growth from the start. It is easier and more economical to keep an animal growing than to allow it to become stunted and then attempt to feed up into a good condition. It is a sure way to have diseases among the hogs when they must rely upon slop as drinking water. They require pure water the same as do other animals and when deprived of it will not thrive. -West Lake Herald.

Wyandottes and Red Caps.

We have been keeping poultry for eight years. During that time we have had the Wyandottes, Plymouth Rock, Brown Leghorns, Langshans and Black Spanish. For general purposes the Wyandottes are best, for laying, the Red Caps. I feed principally corn, wheat and oats. In disposing of our eggs we have always sold to a peddler who pays from 8 to 25 cents per dozen. We obtain most of our eggs during the winter. We have lost a good many birds from diseases and some from prowling animals. When we first began raising broods we had good success but the longer we keep in the business the poorer success we have. We have also tried doctoring fowls and have used from twenty to thirty remedies, but none of them proved of any value. William Busching.

White Leghorns and Plymouth Rocks. I have bred the Plymouth Rocks White Leghorns, Black Spanish, Brahma and Wyandottes, but I like the White Leghorns and Plymouth Rocks best. For winter quarters I have a good house, well-boarded, with tarred paper over that and over that siding and then three coats of paint. In the summer they pick up nearly their own living, as they have the range of the whole farm. In the winter they get corn, oats, wheat and cooked vegetables. We sell our eggs to parties having a cold storage house in Owaton-

INDEPENDENTS IN POLITICS. "Recognizing the value and the lendid achievements of political pares in this country, as elsewhere, we re yet constrained to believe that for than twenty years no one of tem has been entirely sufficient for enceds of the people. The great and to better things resting in the art and purpose of all men, has een stayed during the latter part of his generation by the failure of paris to express in their achievements the highest hope and aspiration of the mass of the people who constitute the rest of the people who constitute the arties. And there has been growing a this country-swelling with each national election reat mass of independent thinkers -a d voters, which failing within itself control, has gravitated between the wo great parties. Since '872 (except-ing possibly the election of 1876), the Pendulum has swung from side to side with each four years. a debtor nation, shall follow a policy dictated by creditor nations. We prcduce all of the necessaries of life. Other nations consume our products. In the race for existence it is a constant struggle between producer and consumer. Our , present system of money deliberately submits to the de-sire and the profit of creditor nations, leaving us in the mass and as individuals, a prey to the money-gathering and the deadly cheapening of the old world. As the debt to creditors abroad increases on the masses of the nation, the price of human production on the farm and in the workshop is decreased with appalling rapidity, exacting more and more from our citizens to meet the given demand and holding over their heads a threat of the day when confiscation to meet their obligations will leave them bare and defenseless.

"The only remedy is to stop falling prices, the deadliest curse of national life. Prices will never cease falling under the single gold standard. The restoration of bimetallism by this country will double the basis of our money system. In time it will double the stock of primary money of the world—will stop falling prices and will steadily elevate them until they will regain their normal relation to the volume of debts and credits in the world. Bimetallism will help to bring about the great hope of every social reformer, every believer in the advancement of the race who realizes that the instability of prices has been his deadly foe of our toilers and the servant of the foreign interest gath-erer. Bimetallism will help to bring about the time when a certain ex-penditure of human toil will procure a certain financial result.

Who among the great masses of our people in the United States but feels that his lot would be better, his aspir tion take new wings if he could know in the performance of his labor what would be the price of his product? Is not this purpose worth the attention of the people as individuals, and worth the attention of political con-ventions yet to be held in this year 1896? Is not this so great an end that all who believe in the possibility of'attaining it by the means proposed can yield something of their partisanship both in conventions and at the polls? PETTIGREW'S SURPRISE.

The South Dakota Senator's Disaffection Caused a Sensation.

ST. Louis, Mo., June 20.-The fact that Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota joined the silver Republicans in their bolt of the convention proved the surprise of the day. He said after leaving the hall that he had formed the determinution to join this movement several weeks ago, and as soon as it became apparent that a gold standard plank would be adopted. He, however, kept his intentions so well to himself that not even his fel-low-delegates from South Dakota were aware of them and looked as much surprised as did others when the Senator's name as one of the committee who signed the protest read in the convention was announced.

Black Langshans.

In your issue of April 15 Charley Ramsey of Hardin County, Ohio, asks if any of the readers of the Review can tell him anything about the BlackLangshans. Mr. Ramsey in the latter part of his request for information states that he would like to know what the writers on poultry subjects think of them. As we do not pretend to be a writer on poultry subjects perhaps anything we might say would have no influence with the gentleman. However, as we have been a breeder of this splendid fowl for a number of years we will give our opinion and let it go for what it is worth. The Langshan is a distinct breed (no make up), coming originally from Chinese Tartary. The plumage should be black, not a dull black, but glistening black, with reflections of green. The legs and bottom of the feet should show a pink color-no yellow. The legs should be feathered, but not so heavily as the cochins. Weight should be, cocks, 8 to 91/2 lbs.; hens, 7 to 8½. In disposition they are very gentle, easily confined, and so far as my experience has gone, the best of all winter layers. There are two distinct types. The low, heavily-bodied and the tall, majestic appearing, which one can not see without saying, "Blood will tell." As sitters and mothers the hens are first-class. As a table fowl I don't think they are excelled by any other breed. In saying this I know the consensus of opinion is against me. Still we deny that the color of the skin has anything to do with the eating qualities of a bird.

Dairy Form .--- There seems to be an inclination to scoff at what is called dairy form. But all experience goes to show that dairy form is a sure index of the character of a milk cow. There are two points that stand out prominently and that should not be lost sight of in selecting a dairy cow. The first of these is a big paunch; the second is a concave thigh. The latter denotes lack of ability to lay on flesh. The former tells us that the cow is a great consumer. Then the rest is plain: s she eats a great deal and does not turn it into flesh and fat, she must needs turn it into milk. We doubt if this rule ever fails.

Pekin Ducks .- There are the Pekins, a grand breed, pure white, with a plumage that is thick and heavy, but fine in texture, a breed of ducks that is older than the history of civilization, that comes to us from over-populated China, where, doubtless, they are raised among the flags and lilles that bedeck the floating homes of the river-dwellers, people that are born, live and die on the water, with only a brief, occasional experience on dry land; for the river and inland lakes of China, we are told. are populated as well as the land, and whole villages are made up of floating population that extend for miles on the water.-Ex.

I have kept butter in this way perfectly sweet and good from October until June.
