THE GREAT RESIGNER.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

How an Accountant Takes His Vacation Spelis.

Living in a fashionable town within commuting distance of New York is a gentleman who invariably attracts attention by his long hair. Strangers always conclude that he is nothing less than a great lawyer or bank president. When the more curious ask his fellow-townsmen about him they are told the following story:

One day the gentleman, who is one of the best accountants in the metropolis, stepped up to the president of the bank by which he is employed and said he had decided to resign, and that the resignation must go into effect immediately.

The accountant left that day and the bank was obliged to get along as best it could without him.

Ten days later the cashier was as tonished on entering the bank to find the accountant hard at work at his old desk. The mathematician said good morning, just as he had done every day for years before he resigned, but offered no explanation.

The president and cashier decided to let their strange acting employe keep at his work and ask no questions. Three months later the accountant went into the president's office again and tendered his resignation. It was accepted and the man was absent for a week or more. Then he suddenly returned.

The same thing was repeated again and again. Now it is a standing joke in that bank that the accountant has resigned. It is his way of taking a vacation. He never stays away more than two weeks.

HAVE HARD LIVES.

Disadvantage of Being a Medical Missionary in China-

The women who go out as medical missionaries have a hard time of it, according to a writer in the Philadelphia Times, aside from mere inconveniences arising from living in such a country. In prescribing medicines not only is the fear of a future accusation of poisoning ever present, but the possibility that it may prove to be a reality. Thus a bottle of liniment curing the venerable grandmother of rheumatism may be lent to a neighbor stricken with small pox as an infallible remedy; or the entire contents of a vial of toothache medicine be administered in one dose to a teething infant. Celestial reason that if a small portion is of any benefit the whole bottleful, taken at once, multiplies its usefulness in a corresponding ratio. Therefore, if not previously warned, experience soon teaches the missionary to make it an infal-lible rule never to dispense a poison-ous remedy or one which could do harm if the entire quality were taken at once. Liniments and toothache drops compounded of nonpoisonous drugs may not be highly potent, but they are at least harmless. When it is absolutely necessary to administer a powerful remedy several times or for several times in succession the doctor puts each dose up in a separate vial, powder or capsule, and leaving them at the dispensary with a trained American nurse or other foreign helper, directs that a servant or child of the patient be sent there for one every three hours, or three times a day, as the case may require, otherwise it would all be taken at once, or divided among ailing neigh-

Then the women doctors are obliged to be ever on the alert to keep the natives from stealing drugs from their medicine chests and so run the risk of being poisoned. Then, too, the curious objection to privacy which prevails in China and makes it unwise for foreigners, especially doctors, to insist upon it for fear of being regarded with su-perstition, makes it necessary to con-duct all operations in semi-public manner and there is always the danger that some of the spectators may object at a critical point in the operation and thus imperil the patient's life, which would indeed be unfortunate for the poor surseen. Anaesthetics are regarded with suspicion and seldom used, but the native stolidity to pain makes them almost unnecessary. Altogether the life is not one to be desired.

LOVE AT GREAT ALTITUDE.

A Lady Who Climbs Mount Ranier Winds Up by Marrying Her Guide-Henry Carter, the famous Mount Rainer guide, has fallen in love under romantic circumstances, and will be married by Rev. William M. Jeffries, the first preacher who delivered a sermon on top of the mountain. There is a possibility that Carter will be married on top of the mountain, the place where he fell in love last Tuesday night, with the thermometer registering 20 degrees below zero. He is to marry Cora Beachman, a school teacher, and the belle of Lake Park, a suburb of Tacoma, says the Globe-Democrat.

Miss Beachman, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Groe of Eatonville, set out Tuesday with Carter, the most trusted of all the mountain guides, to ascend Mount Ranier. At Gibraltar rock, which corresponds to the "shoulder" of the Matterhorn, 4,000 feet from the summit, Mrs. Groe became exhausted. Miss Beachman declared her intention to reach the summit at all hazards. Carter led the way, but soon lost his ice ax, and in scaling difficult passes they were compelled to rely solely on their alpenstocks. They did not reach the summit until 6 p. m., too late to attempt the descent that night. They had left Paradise Valley, below the snow line, without wraps, and only a lemon and one sandwich each in the way of provisions. Carter selected a sheltered ice cave formed by jets of steam from the crater, and there they passed a sleepless night, discussing all sorts of topics, and before they left the summit, at 9 a. m. Wednesday, Miss Beachman had promised to marry the guide. The instant they left the steam of the ice cave their clothes-were frozen stiff, and they suffered great hardships in descending. A rescue party organized during the day, came to their relief late in the afternoon, after they had been without food over twenty-four Refused, Then Was Sorry.

The cable was crowded and when a passenger boarded it he was nearly upset by the sudden starting of the grip ear and tread on the toe of a man canding at the rear end. I beg your pardon," he said, very mately; but the man of the hurt toe scowled and in an undertone muttered The innocent offender again apolo gized. "Yes, but that don't help my toe any;" and he growled some more in an undertone.

Nearby passengers began to smile. "I begged your pardon, didn't I?" said the other man.

"Yes, but my toes hurts just the same," was the reply in an ugly tone. Then the other man's dander rose and in very forcible language he said: "Now, look here. I accidentally stepped en your foot and I apologized for it. If you say another word about it I will give you this instead of my foot (showing his doubled fist), and it will land wight in your face."

This warning was not taken, for he continued to talk about the clumsiness of some people. Suddenly the passengers were electrified by seeing a fist shoot out, and the growler lay in the street as the car passed on. Nobody said anything, but some thought if wasn't wise to talk too much.
