THE WINNERS.

The Battle is Over, and the "Old Flag" Still Waves.

This is for Atkinson. They laid the county division question aside and gave Mr. Coats a nice majority over both of his opponents. The republicans of Stuart are respectfully requested to compare the vote of Mr. Coats, in Atkinson, to that cast in Stuart last fall for John Brady.

I crow for W. N. Coats, of Stuart, the only republican supervisor who was elected. Mr. Coats will give a good account of himself while he serves the people of Holt county.

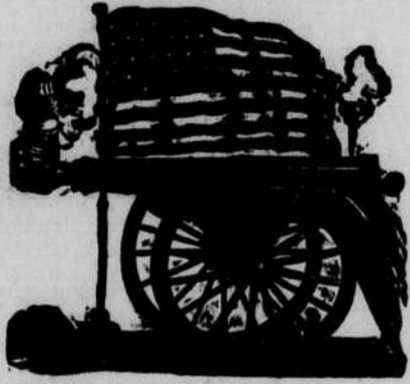

New York was right in line, only 300,000 for McKinley. Pennsylvania gave the champion of American industries about the same majority, while Nebraska—but that is another story.

MCKINLEY AND PROSPERITY

From the returns McKinley is sure of 251 votes in the electoral college. Kentucky, with 13 votes, is still in doubt, but the chances are favorable to McKinley. This will give him 264 votes, or 40 more than is necessary to elect him.

This is what McKinley will serve up to Spain until she learns to treat Americans with the respect due them as subjects of the greatest nation on earth.

WELL, how do you like it?

The solid south is broken.

AND Altgeld, too. My, what a victory!

CONGRATULATIONS to President-elect McKinley.

THE "I told you so" fiend is very much in evidence.

MCKINLEY, prosperity and protection are to the front.

NEBRASKA, ARKANSAS and Holt county went for Bryan.

THE party of Lincoln, Grant and Garfield are victorious.

THERE is no joy in Tammanyville Bryan has gone down.

WE have many things to be thankful for, even if the pops did carry Nebraska.

LOST, in an avalanche of votes, on November 3, 1896, one W. J. Bryan, a resident of Nebraska.

BRYAN got a heavy vote in O'Neill. Well, we did not expect to carry the city anyway, and we did not need it.

BENEDICT ran about 200 ahead of his ticket. Had it not been a presidential election he would have been elected.

JACK McCALL, as clean a man as ever ran for office in the state of Nebraska, was turned down by the election Tuesday. "Silas got them all."

THE citizens of Illinois have no use for anarchy. Altgeld was snowed under so deep that he will never be heard of again in public life.

MARYLAND, Kentucky and West Virginia have joined the republican ranks. Senator Gorman was not very well posted on the politics of his state.

At this writing, 2:30, Thursday, it looks as if the entire fusion state ticket was elected, and that they elect four out of the six congressmen. Mercer in the First and Strode in the Second being the only republicans who will represent Nebraska in the next congress. The fusionists will also have a safe majority in both branches of the legislature. Owing to the interest manifested in the head of the ticket, it is hard to figure out the vote on the state ticket outside of governor, but we believe the populists have won.

IN HOLT.

THE election passed off very quietly in this city and county. A large vote was polled in all the precincts. While the returns are not all in, enough have been received to show that the populists carried the county by large majorities for all candidates.

Bryan will have a majority in the county of about 550, Holcomb's majority will be about 470. The balance of the state ticket carried the county by about 450, except Smythe, who ran up with Holcomb. Greene was elected by a majority of about 470 over Cady in the county.

J. D. Lee, fusion candidate for senator, will have a majority of about 350 over Glassburn, republican, and the indications are that he has carried the district by about 600.

Robertson and Grimes have been elected to the legislature over Trommershauser and Rice. Robertson's majority will be about 200 and Grimes about 275.

Butler was elected county attorney over E. H. Benedict by about 300 majority.

In the First supervisor district J. A. Robertson, populist, defeated Peter Greeley, republican, by about 20 votes.

In the Third district Mose Campbell has a majority over Harrington of about 140.

In the Fifth district S. L. Conger, populist, defeated C. M. Ferguson, republican, by about 6 votes.

W. N. Coats, republican, has a majority in the Seventh district of about 125 over Thos. Hanrahan, populist.

The new county board will be composed of five populists and two republicans.

The Gun Goes Off
instantly when you pull the trigger. So sickness may come on suddenly. But it takes time to load the gun, and it takes time to get ready for those explosions called diseases. Coughs, colds, any "attack," whatever the subject be, often means preceding weakness and poor blood. Are you getting thin? Is your appetite poor? Are you losing that snap, energy and vigor that make "clear-headedness?" Do one thing: build up your whole system with SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. It is the essence of nourishment. It does not nauseate, does not trouble the stomach. And it replaces all that disease robs you of. A book telling more about it sent free. Ask for it. SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

HAVE HARD LIVES.

The Disadvantage of Being a Medical Missionary in China.

The women who go out as medical missionaries have a hard time of it, according to a writer in the Philadelphia Times, aside from mere inconveniences arising from living in such a country. In prescribing medicines not only is the fear of a future accusation of poisoning ever present, but the possibility that it may prove to be a reality. Thus a bottle of liniment curing the venerable grandmother of rheumatism may be lent to a neighbor stricken with small pox as an infallible remedy; or the entire contents of a vial of toothache medicine be administered in one dose to a teething infant. Celestial reason that if a small portion is of any benefit the whole bottledful, taken at once, multiplies its usefulness in a corresponding ratio. Therefore, if not previously warned, experience soon teaches the missionary to make it an infallible rule never to dispense a poisonous remedy or one which could do harm if the entire quality were taken at once. Liniments and toothache drops compounded of nonpoisonous drugs may not be highly potent, but they are at least harmless. When it is absolutely necessary to administer a powerful remedy several times or for several times in succession the doctor puts each dose up in a separate vial, powder or capsule, and leaving them at the dispensary with a trained American nurse or other foreign helper, directs that a servant or child of the patient be sent there for one every three hours, or three times a day, as the case may require, otherwise it would all be taken at once, or divided among ailing neighbors.

Then the women doctors are obliged to be ever on the alert to keep the natives from stealing drugs from their medicine chests and so run the risk of being poisoned. Then, too, the curious objection to privacy which prevails in China and makes it unwise for foreigners, especially doctors, to insist upon it for fear of being regarded with superstition, makes it necessary to conduct all operations in semi-public manner and there is always the danger that some of the spectators may object at a critical point in the operation and thus imperil the patient's life, which would indeed be unfortunate for the poor surgeon. Anaesthetics are regarded with suspicion and seldom used, but the native stolidity to pain makes them almost unnecessary. Altogether the life is not one to be desired.

LOVE AT GREAT ALTITUDE.

A Lady Who Climbs Mount Ranier Winds Up by Marrying Her Guide.

Henry Carter, the famous Mount Ranier guide, has fallen in love under romantic circumstances, and will be married by Rev. William M. Jeffries, the first preacher who delivered a sermon on top of the mountain. There is a possibility that Carter will be married on top of the mountain, the place where he fell in love last Tuesday night, with the thermometer registering 20 degrees below zero. He is to marry Cora Beachman, a school teacher, and the belle of Lake Park, a suburb of Tacoma, says the Globe-Democrat.

Miss Beachman, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Groe of Eatonville, set out Tuesday with Carter, the most trusted of all the mountain guides, to ascend Mount Ranier. At Gibraltar rock, which corresponds to the "shoulder" of the Matterhorn, 4,000 feet from the summit, Mrs. Groe became exhausted. Miss Beachman declared her intention to reach the summit at all hazards. Carter led the way, but soon lost his ice ax, and in scaling difficult passes they were compelled to rely solely on their alpenstocks. They did not reach the summit until 6 p. m., too late to attempt the descent that night. They had left Paradise Valley, below the snow line, without wraps, and only a lemon and one sandwich each in the way of provisions. Carter selected a sheltered ice cave formed by jets of steam from the crater, and there they passed a sleepless night, discussing all sorts of topics, and before they left the summit, at 9 a. m. Wednesday, Miss Beachman had promised to marry the guide. The instant they left the steam of the ice cave their clothes were frozen stiff, and they suffered great hardships in descending. A rescue party organized during the day, came to their relief late in the afternoon, after they had been without food over twenty-four hours.

Refused, Then Was Sorry. The cable was crowded and when a passenger boarded it he was nearly upset by the sudden starting of the grip car and tread on the toe of a man standing at the rear end.

"I beg your pardon," he said, very politely; but the man of the hurt toe scowled and in an undertone muttered curses.

The innocent offender again apologized. "Yes, but that don't help my toe any," and he growled some more in an undertone.

Nearly passengers began to smile. "I begged your pardon, didn't I?" said the other man.

"Yes, but my toes hurts just the same," was the reply in an ugly tone.

Then the other man's dander rose and in very forcible language he said: "Now, look here. I accidentally stepped on your foot and I apologized for it. If you say another word about it I will give you this instead of my foot (showing his doubled fist), and it will land right in your face."

This warning was not taken, for he continued to talk about the clumsiness of some people. Suddenly the passengers were electrified by seeing a fist shoot out, and the growler lay in the street as the car passed on. Nobody said anything, but some thought it wasn't wise to talk too much.
