

A MISSIONARY MEDICINE.

Cleanliness begins within. If a man isn't clean inside, he is far from Godliness. A constipated sinner is a stench in the nostrils of the Deity. A man whose foul sores in his stomach, and whose liver is leaden, can't help looking at the world hatefully with jaundiced eye, and conjuring up evil thoughts in his tortured brain. Cleanliness of person begets cleanliness of thought. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic are the missionary medicine which purifies men's bodies and minds. Pure, fragrant, palatable, mild and positive, they clean out the intestinal canal, stimulate the liver and strengthen the bowels. Then a man enjoys again feeling of clarity and brotherly love for his fellows and recommends others to take Cascarets and be as happy as he.

The Lemonade Did It.

WHAT THE LAW DECIDES.

A contract extending the monopoly of a patent to an unpatented and unpatentable article necessary to the operation of a patented machine by a provision that this article shall be bought exclusively from the patentee is sustained by the United States court.
A patrol of strikers in front of a factory is held in Vegetahny vs. Guntner (Mass.) 35 L. R. A. 722, to be a private nuisance when instituted for the purpose of interfering with the business, and it is no justification that the motive or purpose of the strikers is to secure better wages.

A statute authorizing the killing of animals found neglected or abandoned, or which have become useless because of injuries, disease or age, is held, in Loesch vs. Koehler (Ind.) 35 L. R. A. 682, to be unconstitutional as depriving the owner of property without due process of law so far as it permits such killing without notice to him.

The power of a district attorney to enter a nolle prosequi after the conviction of the accused is completed is denied, in State, ex rel. Butler vs. Moise (La.) 35 L. R. A. 701. The annotation carefully analyzes the authorities as to the power of a public prosecutor to dismiss a prosecution.

The right of an attachment creditor to have a prior attachment set aside because it was without legal grounds and based on a false affidavit, and was permitted by the debtor to give a preference, was denied in Blaser Bros. vs. First National Bank (Ark.) 35 L. R. A. 765. But an attachment issued upon a debt not due was held, in Davis vs. H. B. Claffin Co. (Ark.) 35 L. R. A. 776, to be subject to attack by a junior attaching creditor, where the statute did not authorize attachment for debts not due under the circumstances of that case. With these cases is a very extensive note reviewing the decisions on the right of creditors to question the validity of attachment.

Imprisonment for more than 2,160 days in default of paying fines aggregating $720, for the violation of an ordinance respecting trespass upon public parks, is held, in State, ex rel. Garvey vs. Whitaker (La.) 35 L. R. A. 561, to constitute unusual and unreasonable punishment, where it appears that the accused, upon what was essentially one complaint, was found guilty of seventy-two distinct violations of the ordinance within 1 hour and 40 minutes. In the annotation to this case a very great number of decisions on cruel and unusual punishment are reviewed.

EYES ON QUEER PLACES.

Primitive eyes appear in animals very low in the scale of life. The most remarkable instance of these early organs of sight is in the jelly-fish, around whose umbrella-shaped body are certain little cell-like organs, which are said to be rudimentary eyes.

The small carries its eyes in telescopic watch-towers; this animal is for the most part nocturnal, and its vision is in a comparatively high grade of development. The eyes are situated at the tips of the "horn" or "feeler" and actual observation has proved that the tiny creature can note a white ball at the distance of two feet.

The periopthalmus, a fish of China, Japan, India, the Malayan archipelago and eastern Africa, is probably the oddest of creatures with its eyes out of place. The poor fish gets its name from its eyes; all the terrible cognomen means after all is round-eyed. These organs are very large and prominent, and possess, for a fish, the rare property of looking around on all sides; they are situated at the top of the animal's head. This fish is peculiar also in that it hops out of water to pursue its prey, jerking along on its pectoral fins and breathing the oxygen from quantities of water which it has stored up in its immense gill-cavities.

There is alive today a little creature which rejoices in a third eye, directly in the middle of its forehead; it is a lizard, called the calotis. A tree lizard found in the mountains of East Tennessee and Kentucky, and called by the natives the "singing scorpion," reveals a third eye, when it is dissected, just underneath the skin, showing a lens, retina and optic nerve.

A Negro Attorney.
Lutie A. Little, a 23-year-old negress, with bright, round face and intelligent eye, entered the criminal court at Memphis, Tenn., one day last week, with all the aplomb of an old practitioner and presented her duly authenticated claims to the privilege of practicing law in the courts of Tennessee. She was admitted without a question. She is the first representative of her sex of any color to be admitted to the bar of Tennessee. She is the only colored woman in the south licensed to practice law. She is the only living colored woman in the United States probably in the world, a member of the bar.

JAPAN'S GREAT ENTERPRISE IN AMERICA.

LARGE APPROPRIATION BY IMPERIAL DIET.

TO INFORM AMERICANS HOW TO MAKE TEA.

Several months ago, the Japanese Tea Guild sent to this country a special commission, composed of Mr. S. Mitsubashi, president of Shizuoka Prefectural Assembly, and Mr. J. Ohara, member of Japanese parliament, to investigate the condition of the Japanese tea trade in the United States and Canada, and to co-operate with Mr. T. Furuya and Mr. T. Mizutany, the American representatives of the Japanese Tea Guild, in giving publicity to the merits of Japanese teas and the method of preparing them for drinking which would insure the best results.

Mr. Furuya and Mr. Mizutany are planning to open tea bazars in many of the principal cities in the United States and Canada, where ladies can enjoy a cup of fine Japanese tea made by experts, and at the same time receive instructions which will enable them to make it equally well at home. More than half the tea consumed in the United States and Canada is of Japanese growth, yet, the majority of Americans apparently do not understand how to prepare it so as to develop the delicious qualities which it contains. It is believed by these gentlemen that when Americans are in possession of the secret of making good tea, the consumption in this country will fully equal that of Europe in proportion. The Japanese government has appropriated a large fund to aid the Japanese tea growers and tea merchants in prosecuting this educational work, and it is hoped that American ladies will be apt students. The main bureau of the Japanese Tea Guild has issued an official recipe for making Japanese tea, the translation of which is as follows:

First—Use a small, dry and thoroughly clean porcelain teapot.
Second—Put in one teaspoonful of tea leaves for each cup of tea desired.
Third—When using Japanese teas, pour on the required quantity of fresh boiled water, and let stand with closed lid from 2 to 3 minutes. Never boil the leaves. In order to retain the natural flavor, Japanese tea leaves should be kept in tight can or jar, free from moisture.
Note.—To thoroughly enjoy the natural, delicate, and sweet flavor of Japanese teas, neither sugar nor cream should be used.

"No, sah, don't! Las' kyar I rid in went froo an' cum nigh killin' me. Los' my hat."
"How's that?"
"Trussle warn't strong 'nuf. No, sah, I see huntin' de kyar dat don't go froo; I want de kyar dat'll git there wid me."
He was shown the right car, the old man got aboard and was soon on his way to the smoky City.—Louisville Times.

It Will Stick.

Here is a recipe for a paste which will stick anything: Take two ounces of clear gum arabic, one and half ounces of fine starch and one-half ounce of white sugar. Dissolve the gum arabic in as much water as the laundress would use for the quantity of starch indicated. Mix the sugar and starch with the mucilage. Then cook the mixture in a vessel suspended in boiling water until the starch becomes clear. The cement should be thick as tar and should be kept so. It can be prevented from spoiling by the addition of camphor or a little of cloves.

Almost Inside Out.

The stomach that is not turned thus by a slaking up on the "briny waves" must be a well fortified one. The gastric apparatus can be rendered proof against sea sickness with that stomachic so popular among travelers by sea and land—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It defends the system against malaria and rheumatism, and soothes liver complaint, constipation and dyspepsia.
