

Mrs. Anna C. Myers, one of the best known of Chicago society women, appeared before a police court a few days ago, dressed in rags. She was charged with theft. Not long ago she was on Mrs. Potter Palmer's visiting list. She dispensed charity with a lavish hand, and was a leader in the Marshfield avenue Methodist church. Cocaine had wrought the ruin.

The Fury of an Unfettered Element Falls to Crush Them—The Fire Fiend Defied.

The news comes from Attica, Ind., of the destruction, by fire, of the big laboratory and office building of the Sterling Remedy company, makers of Cascarets Candy Cathartic and No-To-Bac, the original guaranteed tobacco habit cure. The preparations made by this big corporation are known throughout the world.

The fire broke out in one of the packing rooms on the third floor during the noon hour, and had made considerable headway before it was discovered. The Sterling Remedy company is the principal industry of the beautiful little city of Attica, employing several hundred people, besides being affiliated with the interests at the Indiana Mineral Springs, the famous Magna-Mud Cure. The entire population was worked up to a frenzy of excitement.

Meanwhile the almost proverbial energy and presence of mind of "Hustling" Harry Kramer, the general manager of The Sterling Remedy company, was displayed. He was the coolest man at the scene. He quietly walked away, and secured a big carriage show room near by, and had all office furniture, charred, and delapidated as it was, taken there. Several shipments were made the same evening from goods saved, and on Friday morning, all departments were at work in various rooms about town, while a gang of men were cleaning away the wreckage preliminary to rebuilding. The actual damage amounts to many thousands of dollars; the loss due to interruption of business and confusion of detail is inestimable, but pluck and energy of one man will turn defeat into victory and move the wheels of business to ever-increasing speed. Nothing can stop the success of Cascarets and No-To-Bac with such characteristic force behind them.

"The Adventures of Francois," the new novel by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, author of "Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker," will begin in the January Century. It is a story of the French Revolution, its hero a founding and adventurer. The tale is one of adventure throughout, but all of it propitiated with Dr. Mitchell's keen characterization and wit.

THE NAGGING WOMAN.

How She Destroys All Peace and Comfort for Husband and Children.

The mistress of a house feels that it is her duty—none the less clear because it is disagreeable—to point out the faults of those in her charge, says the Philadelphia Ledger. Beginning with the maids and ending with her husband—or sometimes vice versa—she thinks it her mission in life to find and condemn imperfections. And from this attitude it is but a short step to the position of a family "nagger"—a character which destroys all peace and comfort. Business men often make a similar mistake and act upon the belief that no man does his best work unless under the constant dread of sarcastic and bitter fault-finding. The work in general may be far above the average—but that the way to keep it so is to pick flaws in every possible weak place is the decision of certain minds. Because a fault exists is no reason that it should be mentioned without regard to time or place, and to one open to conviction it would not be difficult to prove that there is wisdom in allowing people to make mistakes unobserved, or at any rate unrebuked; but this wisdom can only flourish in the faith that the evil of today is not a finality. No mother, for instance, really believes that her little daughter is necessarily to be a life-long slattern because at 12 years of age she keeps an untidy room and her boots are often seen without the proper button, nor does she think that a lie in the mouth of her 3-year-old boy condemns him to a future of fraud and deceit. These things must be met, of course, but if they are met by the constant inculcation of better habits and better principles the evil in itself needs little or no comment. Indeed, a word of censure withheld often is a more effective rebuke than a storm of angry fault-finding. To grow in the wisdom of this judicious silence we must first of all cultivate in ourselves a just perception of values and proportions, we must learn what to see and what not to see, what to leave out and what to put in our mental pictures. It may be, too, that then we shall often give sympathy where others deride, or encouragement where the sternly just would condemn; but we should at least relieve those around us from a very irritating insistence upon trifles.

The Piedmont Virginian says: "The colored people in the neighborhood of Brandy Station had a revival at one of their churches that lasted about five weeks, and on Thursday before they closed there were two sinners, Thomas Parker and Daniel Somers, converted. On Friday night they stole Richard Nalle's chickens, traded them on Saturday for clothes to be baptized, were baptized Sunday and were arrested and jailed on Monday."

An English paper tells of a tory army officer who trained his Scotch collie to bark and growl whenever Mr. Gladstone's name was mentioned. He lived to bury his favorite pet, and ever thereafter used to decorate the dog's grave with primroses on Lord Beaconsfield's birthday. Now, the old tory is dead himself, and he left instructions that his body should be cremated and the ashes buried in the garden beside the grave of his dog.

ON THE STAGE.

A new variety of chrysanthemum, rich purple in hue, has been named after Lillian Russell.

Henry Arthur Jones has sold to Charles Frohman the American rights to his latest play, "The Liars."

Augustin Daly is apparently much incensed at the action of Beerbohm Tree in offering Ada Rehan the part of Katherine in "Katherine and Petruccio" and is freeing his mind with considerable vigor.

Maude Adams was for several years known as the youngest leading lady on the New York stage. Her successor to that title is pretty Florence Rockwell of "Cumberland, 61," who is said to be just 18—a couple of years younger than was Miss Adams when the distinction was hers.

A day or two ago Miss Olga Nethersole received a parcel containing the manuscript of a play, which has been following her around for two years. The first legible date on the cover is Sept. 23, 1895, Sydney, N. S. W., and the last Oct. 19, 1897, Liverpool. It was marked by the Dublin postoffice, "Received at Grafton Street Walk in this condition." The parcel was originally addressed to Miss Nethersole, in London, and forwarded from her former residence to Daly's theater and thence to the Savoy hotel. Being returned to the dead letter office, Sydney, it was indorsed there "January, 1896," and lay dormant some months. Then it set forth on its travels again—to New York, May 18, 1896; to Chicago, June 10; to New York again. Thence, in July, it came to the Galety, London. Several other addresses in London were tried, and again the unlucky parcel got to the Sydney dead letter office on November 26, 1896. Not until March, 1897, was another attempt made at delivery. Then it made a journey through America, crossed the Atlantic and followed Miss Nethersole on her English tour, with the result now recorded.

HOW TO WASH WITH EASE.

Any Woman, With a Little Experience, Can Wash Garments Satisfactorily.

That the family washing cannot be satisfactorily done with a scant supply of hard water and inferior soap is a fact not always understood by housekeepers, yet these inconveniences are the cause of yellow clothes, and faded garments. Strong lye soap made in the home kitchens, may have answered for the use of our grandmothers, and the cheap laundry soap found in the village stores half a century ago was thought good enough for women who had learned to make hard rubbing do the work which good soap should have done. But in this age of progress labor-saving appliances are used by intelligent women, and in no place do they count for more than in the laundry. After assorting the clothes, put the linens in a tub nearly full of hot water, and rub them with Ivory Soap, as each piece is washed, it should be wrung out, and placed in a clean tub. When all are washed pour boiling water over, and let stand until cool, then rinse, and starch the clothes. The linens are washed in the white wearing clothes should be washed in the same way, then the colored garments taken through fresh suds, rinsed, starched, and hung on the line. When dry each piece should be taken from the line, shaken out, sprinkled with talcum powder, and laid in a basket until morning, when they should be carefully ironed.

B. & O. Improvements Completed.

The improvements on the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio, west of, and between Martinsburg, W. Va., and North Mountain, were completed November 1st. They cover a distance of nearly four miles, starting three miles west of Martinsburg, and extending some distance west of Myers Hole, which is near the North Mountain station. At Myers Hole the line was changed, taking out some very objectionable curvature, and the roadbed raised nearly fifteen feet, eliminating two grades of 42 feet per mile which came together at Myers Hole, and substituting therefor an almost level track. This point on the road has always been a dangerous one and many freight wrecks have occurred there. Apart from doing away with the dangerous feature of two sharp down grades coming together, as was the case in this instance, the saving in operation of the road by the change will be very large, as it enables the tons per train to be greatly increased and reduces the liability to accident to the minimum.

At Tablers the road bed has been lowered about thirteen feet, and the same at Tabbs, besides taking out objectionable curvature and reducing the rate of grades at these points from 42 feet per mile to ten feet per mile, thus increasing the cars that can be hauled per train. Though these improvements have cost quite a sum of money, the expenditure is fully justified by the great saving in operation.

An important feature of the American monthly Review of Reviews for December is the book department, which occupies thirty-two pages, with numerous illustrations, and deals with the publications of the season. Dr. Albert Shaw writes on "Some American Novels and Novelists." Another chapter is devoted to "Books for Children and Young People," and a third to "Other Books of the season," followed by classified lists of titles.
