A Woman's Awful Peril

"There is only one chance to save your life and that is through an operation," were the startling words heard by Mrs. I. B. Hunt of Lime Ridge, Wis., from her doctor after he had vainlytried to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. Gall stone had formed and she constantly grew worse. Then she began to use for sale by Corrigan.

Tortured a Witness.

Intense suffering was endured by witness T. L. Martin of Dixie, Ky., before he gave this evidence. "I caughed every night until my throat was nearly raw; then tried Dr. King's New Discovery, which gave instant relief. I have used it in my family for four years and recommend it as the greatest remedy for coughs, colds and all throat. chest and lung troubles. It will stop the worst cough and 'not only prevent but absolutely cuoe consumption. Price 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Corrigan's.

An Epidemic of Whooping Cough. Last winter during an epidemic of whooping cough my children contracted the disease, having severe coughing spells. We had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy very successfully for croup and naturally turned to it at that time and found it relieved the cough and effected a complete cure -- John E. Clifford, proprietor Norwood house, Norwood, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by P. C. Corrigan.

EXCITING EXPERIENCE OF A COLORADO MINER.

Mounted a Passing Log and Made the Journey in Safety - A Remarkable Ride on the Back of Death-Seconds Seemed Minutes.

George D. Williamson, now engaged in mining near Lake City, Col., tells a thrilling story of his experience in a snowslide in the mountains of Hinsdale county.

Mr. Williamson and a companion had been to look at a mining claim in which they were interested and were returning along the trail when they came to a point at which there were evidences of a movement of a heavy mass of snow lying on the mountain side.

"I saw that it was liable to move again at any time," said Mr. Williamson, "and started back with the remark that it was much as a man's life was worth to attempt to cross the snow that had poured across the trail. From where we stood to the bottom of the sw gulch was about 1,000 feet, and we could see that the movement of the nw snow had stopped about fifty feet below the trail on which we were standing. I thought that by going around On motion the chairman of the board the trail carefully we could escape and save ourselves a long trip. I began clambering down the rocks on the edge of the slide. When I had reached a point near the end of the slide I looked back to where my friend stood at a safe distance and called to him that it was all right. A big dead tree had been brought down by the slide and rested on about three feet of snow. packed quite solid. The top of the tree projected about twenty feet beyond the end of the slide. Instead of going around the tree I sprang upon the trunk, intending to leap from it to the ground on the other side. The moment I touched the log I knew I was gone. Whether the slide started of its own weight or whether my weight started it I will never know, but in an instant I was flying down the mountain. As the log began to move l dropped and fell astride it, grasping a limb in front of me with both hands. I heard the scream of my friend as I began to move and then heard nothing more except the terrible roar of an avalanche behind me. There were no trees in the way and the log went as straight as a die down the mountain side, fortunately for me keeping on top of the snow. I don't know what I thought. There was no time to do much thinking, and all my energy was devoted to the maintenance of my position. We passed some dead bushes, the broken twigs from which were dashed into my face, cutting the skin, and the wind almost stopped my breath. At the bottom of the narrow gulch the ree stopped for an instant, but before I could get off the pressure of the snow behind started it again, and it shot up the side of the opposite hill with but scarcely little diminuation of force. "Gradually the avalanche spent its energy, and when the log came to a standstill I was sitting on it, holding the limb tightly more than 200 feet up the mountain side, while behind me the snow, timbers and rocks filled the gulch to the level of my position. forming a bridge 150 feet high. The whole thing was over in half a minute, and except for the scratches on my face I was unhurt. As I shook the snow off and looked around I saw my friend tearing down the mountain on the other side of the gulch with the expectation that he would find my mangled body under the debris. Needless to say, he was astonished when he heard of my remarkable ride on the back of Death."

Holland's Young Queen.

Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands dislikes to be called "the little queen." She thinks the phrase reflects upon her kingdom, and she is 5 feet 111/2 inches in height. The queen of Spain is 5 feet 5 2-5 inches; the empress of Russia, 5 feet 21/2 inches; the empress of Germany and Queen Victoria, still smaller. Aside from her height, the young Dutch queen is also of the best build. Her 211/2-inch waist measure and 42-inch bust gives an admirable proportion. Her powers of endurance were well tested on coronation day, when for six long hours Only First-class Hotel she wore the ceremonial mantle of red velvet trimmed with ermine, a weight of not less than thirty pounds, and showed no marked symptoms of fatigue.
