Lincoln Journal: Guy Hall, a young man living at Scribner, was dangerously injured Sunday night at Ewing, while either alighting or getting on a train. He was found unconscious with a deep cut on his head the next morning, having lain all night by the side of the tracks. Although in a serious condition it is now believed that he will recover.

John J. McCafferty, a few days ago, allowed us to scan the Donegal Independent, published at Ballyshannon, county Donegal, Ireland. The paper contained a lengthy article from John's prolific pen, anent the British-Boer war, copied from the Northwestern Catholic. John as a writer is becoming famous, and we believe he should use his pen oftener.

Charles Meals was in Lincoln this week and reports well of the Holt county boys who are holding positions under Warden Hopkins at the penitentiary. Dommick McCaffrey, Charles says, makes an ideal usher, and the whole force connected with the institution are giving excellent satisfaction. There are now five men from Holt county holding responsible positions there, including Mr. Hopkins, and it is rumored that another of our citizens, Rey. N. S. Lowrie, will be given an appointment.

ETHNOLOGY BUILDING, PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

Copyright, 1900, by the Pan-American Exposition Co.

One of the handsome structures at the great Pan-American Exposition, which is to be held in Buffalo from May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901, will be the Ethnology building. It will contain an exhibit of unusual interest to all Americans. Ethnology is the science which treats of the division of mankind into races, their origin, distribution and relations and the peculiarities which characterize them. At Buffalo the Ethnology building will be a veritable mine of information concerning the countries of North and South America. This will be peculiarly appropriate for the reason that the Exposition is a Pan-American, or All-American, event, and everything of interest concerning the various nations inhabiting the new world discovered by Columbus will be represented by an interesting exhibit in Buffalo when the Exposition's gates open on May 1, 1901. Strange to relate, the most interesting exhibits concerning several countries in South America are already in this country. Peru, for example, will send many interesting exhibits to the Pan-American Exposition and will use her influence to have exhibited in her section the remarkable collection of Peruvian antiquities now owned by various American museums.

School children are happy at the prospect of a long vacation. The school doors close tomorrow preceded by the regulation exercises in the lower rooms. This evening the Eighth grade render a closing program at the rink, the program appearing elsewhere in this issue, and tomorrow evening the high school presents their graduating exercises.

From the La Crosse, Kan., Chieftain, The Frontier learns of the marriage of Miss Bertha Burnside, who recently left our city, where she became known about a year ago and is now held in high esteem by many friends. Miss Burnside had a class in painting here. The Chieftain says:

At Hay City, Kans., on Saturday, May 5, 1900, were solemnized the nuptials of A. C. Whiteman, of La Crosse, Kans., and Bertha A. Burnside, of St. Joseph, Mo., Rev. W. C. Jordan, of the Methodist church, officiating. The groom is well known to the people of Rush county, he having been for 22 years a resident here, and now holding the responsible office of postmaster at La Crosse, and also editor of the La Crosse Republican, the leading republican paper of Rush county, and is a gentleman who is well esteemed in the community where he has so long resided, and is of influence in the county and in the councils of his party. The bride is also quite well known here, she having resided here about a year and a half prior to last October, since which time she has been at O'Neill, Neb. Mrs. Whiteman is well connected, being a second cousin of Gen. Ambrose E. Burnside, one of the best known generals of the civil war, and of Capt. Sigbee, commander of the ill-fated Maine. She is also a cousin of Mrs. F. M. Gillette, wife of the proprietor of the Chicago Store, of this city. In musical, art, and literary circles, Mrs. Whiteman is not to "name unknown," she having been for one season associated with Miss Amy Ray, the popular Chicago vocalist, as manager. After the death of her father, (which occurred when she was yet a child,) and the re-marriage of her mother to Mr. L. L. Ayers, then editor of the Iowa State Leader, she assisted her step-father in the editorial work on that journal. For eight years preceding her coming to La Crosse she held the position of society editor, and descriptive correspondent on the staff of the St. Joseph, Mo., Herald. She is an artist of conceded ability, and gives instruction in that art, and also in music, having at one time during her former residence here about forty pupils receiving instruction on the piano. The happy couple take this new departure in life with bright prospects for the future, and in the full confidence and with the best wishes of their many friends and acquaintances that the sun of prosperity may continue to illuminate their pathway through life.

Those in attendance were: Mrs. J. P. Latta, mother of the groom, Mr. Claude Stout, brother of the bride, Misses Dickinson, Harrington and Sutherland of Tekamah; Miss Dora Latta, niece of the groom, Bozeman, Montana, Mr. Charles Stout, of Niobrara, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Stout, Miss Dwyer, Messrs. Weekes and Smith.

The bride, Miss Stout, is the sister of J. V. and Charles Stout and Mrs. J. P. Gilligan, of this city, and the groom is the cashier of the First National Bank of Tekamah. The bride has numerous friends in O'Neill who wish her and her husband long life and happiness.

Don't despair because you have a weak constitution. The vitalizing principle of Herbine will assuredly strengthen it. In every drop of Herbine there is life. There is stimulating, regenerating power, unequalled in the whole range of medicinal preparations. Price, 50 cents P. C. Corrigan.

We have the best line of summer suits ever shown in O'Neill. Handsome light worsteds, $10 to $15; nobby serges, $10 to $17.50, and the new grey vicunas, the latest thing in stylish clothes for gentlemen's wear.

Elmer Merriman, it is rumored, is negotiating the purchase of the Hall restaurant.

Headquarters General John O'Neill Post No. 86, Grand Army of the Republic, May 12, 1900—Memorial Day will be observed by this post on May 30, exercises beginning at 2 p. m. Can we not see the beauty of making this Memorial Day one of reverence towards those who have sacrificed their lives that our country might live? Only a few more fleeting years and the last old comrade will be laid to rest. As the heroes whom we honor step back from active service let them be assured that their sons are in line of duty, that their uniforms are blue and their shields bear the soul stirring motto: "Eternal Vigilance is the Price of Liberty."

E. S. Kinch, Adjutant. By John Skirving, Commander.

Death of James Ryan.

Died, Wednesday evening, May 2, 1900, at his residence, five miles west of O'Neill, Mr. James Ryan.

The deceased was a native of Wexford county, Ireland, and came to America when a child. He lived for a time in Canada and in Chicago, from whence he came to this county as one of the early settlers. He took a homestead about three miles northwest of O'Neill, where he resided several years and then removed to the farm where he resided at the time of his death. He leaves a wife and nine children—five sons and four daughters—to mourn his death, the youngest being eight years of age. All of the children, excepting Michael, who is in South Dakota, are now at home.

Mr. Ryan was an enterprising, economical, industrious and honest man, than whom there was none more respected in the community.

By industry and thrift he has made for himself and family one of the neatest homes and most commodious farms in the county, and he leaves the members of his family in comfortable circumstances to begin their battle with the world.

From childhood he was taught to respect, conform to and follow the Golden Rule and the injunction of the Master, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." And he died as he lived, a Christian.

He was buried in the Catholic cemetery on Saturday morning, May 5, his remains being followed to their last resting place by nearly the entire community.

He was a member of the A. O. U. W. and which organization assisted in the services.

Resolutions.

Whereas, the truth of the words of Job, "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away," has been again exemplified in the death of our esteemed brother, James Ryan, and

Whereas, the members of this lodge always honored and respected Brother Ryan for his strength of character, wise counsel and fidelity to duty, and

Whereas, the relatives of the deceased have suffered an irremediable loss in the death of husband and father, the community in the demise of a public spirited and enterprising citizen and the lodge in the demise of an indulgent and charitable brother.

Therefore, Be it resolved that in this manner the friends and relatives of Brother Ryan be given to know the sadness and bereavement of the members of Lodge No. 153, A. O. U. W., by his untimely taking away, and

Resolved that we bow with supreme reverence to the will of Him who taught that not even a sparrow falls without His notice, and

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be given to the family of the deceased, and that our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days as a token of our respect.

Clarence Selah, T. V. Golden, Neil Brennan, Committee.

Strayed.

From near Phoenix, Nebr., on or about April 19, 1900, one dapple gray mare about ten years old, with a scar on each shoulder and a scar on the hock of the right leg; also one bay mare colt one year old, with no white on, and one chestnut horse colt one year old, with light mane and tail and star in forehead.

Any information of the above will be thankfully received by C. E. Howe or H. A. Vosburgh, Phoenix, Nebr.
