

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT BUILDING, PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

Copyright, 1900, by the Pan-American Exposition Co.

So vast is the number of valuable and interesting objects for exhibition in the possession of the government that none but a building of great proportions could possibly contain them. Instead of one building, however, at the Pan-American Exposition, which is to be held in Buffalo from May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901, the Federal group will consist of three massive structures connected by colonnades. The main building will be 130 feet wide and 600 feet long. The others will each be 150 feet square. The government work is under the direction of James Knox Taylor, supervising architect of the treasury department. The group will be treated architecturally in a modified Spanish renaissance, a style of architecture in marked contrast to that used at Chicago, will be rich and brilliant.

COLOSSAL STADIUM AT THE PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

Copyright, 1900, by the Pan-American Exposition Co.

The completed Stadium for the Pan-American Exposition, to be held in Buffalo from May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901, will offer to the lovers of sports the most spacious and splendid arena ever erected in America. The athletic carnival to be held during the great Exposition will be the most notable in the history of American sport. The co-operation of many of the best promoters of athletic games has been secured. Visitors to the Exposition may therefore expect to witness the meeting of the most famous athletes of the world in competition for prizes worthy of their best feats. It is said that the great Colosseum at Rome could accommodate 87,000 spectators. The Pan-American Stadium will be 129 feet longer and but 10 feet narrower than the historic amphitheater of Rome. The Stadium, however, will have a larger arena, and the seating capacity is estimated for 25,000 people.

A Defense of Mark Goodhan Post.
Chambers, Neb., May 12, 1900.—
Editor of Frontier: Whereas an article appeared in the editorial columns of the last issue of the Chambers Bugle charging certain members of Mark Goodhan Post, G. A. R., with stopping their paper for political reasons, therefore, in order to set the matter right in the eyes of the community, we respectfully request you to publish the following statement, viz:

From the beginning of our existence as an independent nation, there existed in the southern portion thereof an institution which was a reproach to our name and a nuisance to our republican form of government. An evil of so grave a nature that one of our classic writers questioned, "Shall tongues be mute where deeds are wrought
"Which well might shame extremest hell."

And one of our greatest statesmen, as he looked into the future and saw the inevitable result of the existence of this "sum of all villainies," said: "I tremble for my country when I remember that God is just." This monster wrong after perpetrating a series of crimes, political and social, which the rivers of blood that flowed from its victims cannot erase from our country's annals, declared war upon our beloved union, besieged our forts with shot and shell and all the appendages of war. If "freedom shrieked when Kosciusko fell" much more piercing was the call to arms when our stary emblem was hauled down from Ft. Sumpter, and the liberty loving sons of the north, hearing the cry, sprang to arms, and by their valor on a hundred bloody fields saved the nation and destroyed the hated and hateful institution that threatened its life. But in so doing thousands upon thousands sacrificed their lives upon the fields of carnage and other thousands came home to die of wounds received or diseases contracted in this holy service. The nation felt honored through her noble dead, and wisely and justly set apart a day of memorial through which to perpetuate the memory of the glorious deeds of her perished heroes, and the great heart of the nation beat in sympathy with the object of the service. The newspaper fraternity, among the many good things standing to their credit, have everywhere gladly published the notice of the memorial exercises. The Bugle, under the old management, has always shown its sympathy with the spirit of this institution, publishing our notices free of charge, which manifestation of friendship was appreciated and reciprocated on the part of the post. And when a committee was appointed by the post to secure the insertion of a notice of our approaching anniversary, which committee consisted of men of different political convictions, they were justly indignant, when the editor demanded pay, at this manifestation of unfriendliness toward the G. A. R. and the spirit of the memorial services. Perhaps it might be well here to state that it costs the post from $20 to $30, besides a great deal of time, to prepare for these exercises, and we get nothing out of it but the consciousness of having done our duty toward our dead comrades. Hence the injustice of the charge for publishing the notice to say nothing of the principle involved. As to the editor's effort to hide behind a screen of politics will not help his cause, as the three parties mentioned in said article have been subscribers to and readers of the Bugle ever since its inception, notwithstanding the difference politically between them and its editor. And furthermore while this post is divided upon some great national questions, the tie that binds us together is infinitely stronger than any political affiliation, therefore such considerations have nothing to do with our work in the G. A. R., hence the charge that our comrades who stopped their papers did it because of the attacks of the editor upon certain officials is entirely wrong and contrary to the facts.

Done by order and in behalf of Mark Goodhan Post, G. A. R.

The ailments believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the infliction is demonic enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by P. C. Corrigan.

General Reform in England.
Dickens would have been pleased with the title of the "Church of England Burial, Funeral and Mourning Reform association," which at its twentieth annual meeting has issued the following manifesto: "No darkened house, no durable coffin, no special mourning attire, no bricked grave, no unnecessary show, no avoidable expense, and no unusual eating or drinking."

Be Careful

No woman can be too careful of her condition during the period before her little ones are born. Neglect or improper treatment then endangers her life and that of the child. It lies with her whether she shall suffer unnecessarily, or whether the ordeal shall be made comparatively easy. She had better do nothing than do something wrong.

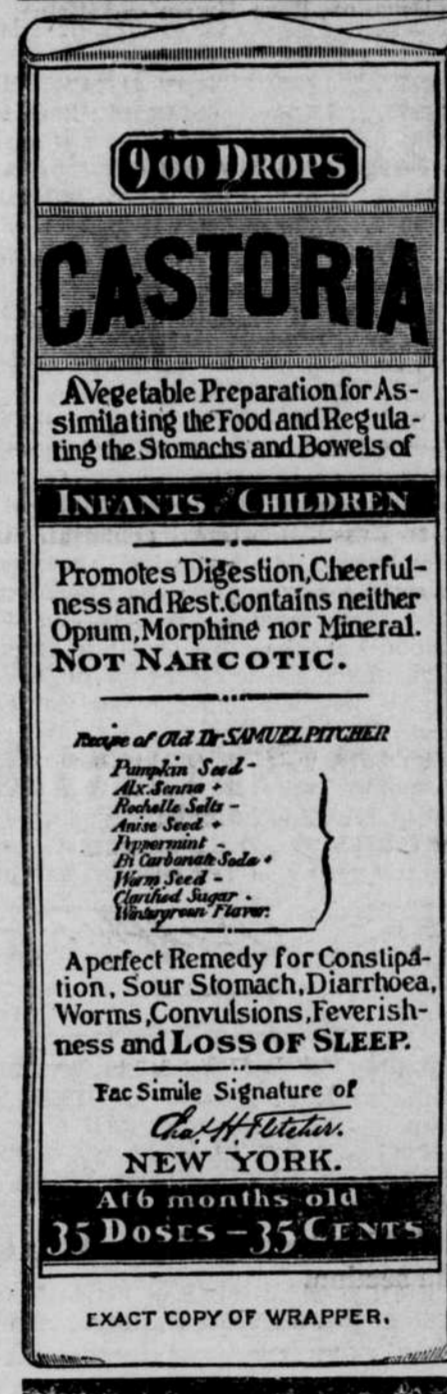

MOTHER'S FRIEND

is the one and the only preparation that is safe to use. It is a liniment that penetrates from the outside. External applications are eternally right. Internal medicines are radically wrong. They are more than humbugs—they endanger life.

Mother's Friend helps the muscles to relax and expand naturally—relieves morning sickness—removes the cause of nervousness and headache—prevents hard and rising breasts—shortens labor and lessens the pains—and helps the patient to rapid recovery.

From a letter by a Shreveport, La., woman: "I have been using your wonderful remedy, Mother's Friend, for the last two months, and find it just as recommended."

A FARMING GROUP

"THE BALLOON"

(Painted by Julien Dupres.)

A most beautiful picture for the home.

This masterpiece represents a family of peasants in the harvest field. It is noonday. Not a breath of air is stirring, and away off in the distance where the villagers are holding their fair a balloon hangs in the sky. They gaze in mute astonishment, wonder, awe and admiration, revealed in their faces and attitudes. It is the work of a master hand. This is reproduced in colors, 22x30 inches, in a marvelous oil painting effect. You cannot buy one for $2. We bought them in ten thousand lots, so can offer it mailed in a tube, post paid, with three months trial subscription to
