The levy for the general fund was made large because it will be necessary to re-roof the building this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Con Keys were somewhat excited and frightened yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Keys and children were at the store with Mr. Keys. Their little girl, not yet three years old, taking offense at her papa because he would not allow her to go with him to the depot, wandered off alone into the city and was gone all afternoon. The parents searched high and low for the child for two hours, and she was finally found way up in the northern part of town, much to the relief of Mr. and Mrs. Keys.

MUCH WIND AND LITTLE RAIN

O'Neill people were out of bed an hour unusually early yesterday morning. A storm swept down from the northwest about 5 o'clock and rattled up the dry and wet bones in great shape. It was the strongest wind this section has been visited by for many years. Trees bowed to the earth, shingles rattled like fanning mills and buildings tottered like infants. The wind blew for half an hour and was followed by a rain. The rain was really lighter than it appeared to be, only .30 inch falling as recorded by Observer Cole. While the wind did considerable damage, the damage was more than offset by the benefit of the rain. Two of the large windows to the rooms over the land office where J. J. King has an office were blown in. The wind out many a caper in the office; the cover was torn from a type writer; a paper file was carried from a table across the room and gently laid on a shelf on the wall; a transcript of a half dozen pages, which Mr. King had run off on his type writer was ruined by the wind and water; a certificate that hung upon the wall was torn down and the frame and glass broken; books, papers and broken glass were strewn about the room. The city wind mill east of the court-house was blown down and twisted out of shape so that it will have to be replaced by a new one. Mr. Hoover of Freeport, Ill., general agent of the company which supplied the mill, Woodmanse, Hewitt & Co., who was in the city, at once ordered a new mill and the same will be put up in place of the damaged one at the expense of the company. A few small buildings were upset and chimneys in various parts of town collapsed. A few large trees were blown down and limbs innumerable were strewn about the house yards.

Just Twenty Years Ago.

Twenty years ago today the first number of The Frontier was issued. Hence we are twenty years old today. The Frontier is one of the pioneer papers of north Nebraska, the oldest paper in the county and with but one or two exceptions the first paper established in this section of the west. The newspaper history of Holt county has witnessed many changes. Along the twenty years with which The Frontier has had to do, other papers have sprung up here and there, but soon withered and decayed or were merged into other publications, until today none of our contemporaries of back in the '80s remain. The Frontier has seen a variety of management. The original founder was W. D. Mathews, now editor of the State Republican at Little Rock, Ark. After Mr. Mathews, came James H. Riggs, who now publishes a paper at Waterloo, this state. Then again Mr. Mathews came into control of the paper and a short time later it passed into the hands of the Frontier Printing company, organized by W. D. Mathews, Clyde King and D. H. Cronin. Mr. Mathews ere long withdrew from the company and Messrs King and Cronin assumed full command. In 1896 Mr. King retired and Mr. Cronin became sole proprietor, as he still remains. It is not for us to say what The Frontier has been during these twenty years. It has been acknowledged as a leading factor in the upbuilding of this section, but if any praises are due it, we leave them to the public. We have no idle promises to make for the future but will state we are still doing business at the old stand, where we are always glad to wait upon our friends and enemies.

For Sale.

Nearly new windmill, wood tower & pump. Cheap at $40. 52-1f Wade & Milligan, O'Neill.

Grant Hatfield and Bob Marsh were visiting in the south country Tuesday and Wednesday. Bob says, and says it without a smile either, that they picked up baked prairie chicken in the sandhills south of Ewing Tuesday. While the story sounds rather fishy Bob's reputation for truth and veracity has always been good and as it was a little hot that day we will accept his story and say nothing. But by — it was hot.

The severe storm last Wednesday morning caused many O'Neillites to hunt the cyclone insurance agent!

Fourth of July.

EAR SIR: A new season has begun and we think it likely you will need something in the way of clothing or furnishing goods before long. We are very anxious to show you some special qualities and prices that we think are the best we have ever had in the store. We are positive nothing to compare with them has ever been shown here and we would like you to examine the goods and try on your size in some of the different styles.

A man can go anywhere and buy a suit of clothes, but it is not always so easy to find just what he wants or to get a suit that will wear well, keep its shape, feel right and look well all the time.

We sell the best clothing in the United States, positively the best; not because we say so, but because everybody says so. It is the Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothing you see advertised in the leading magazines. It is worn by good dressers in all large cities. If you paid three times our price and had your clothes made to measure you could not get a better fit. H. S. & M. clothing has a stylish cut and becoming appearance that few merchant tailors can equal.

While we pride ourselves on the quality of everything we sell, yet when it comes to the matter of prices we will not be understood. All we ask is a chance to show you personally what we can do. Come and see us. You are perfectly welcome whether you buy or not. If you are pleased with what you see here we want your trade when you are ready to buy. Hoping to see you in the store, we remain,

Yours very truly, P. J. McMANUS.
