NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.
DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
LAND OFFICE AT O'NEILL, NEB.
July 28, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the register and receiver at O'Neill, Nebraska, on Sept. 8, 1900, viz: MORTON E. HIATT, T. C. E. No. 6167, for the SW 1/4 sec 7, twp 28 n, range 12 w.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Tom Marling, Emery Herrick and John McKinley of O'Neill, Neb., and William McCoy of Emmet, Neb. S. J. WEEKES, Register.

SCHOOL LANDS FOR LEASE.

The commissioner of public lands and buildings will offer about 4,480 acres of school lands for lease at public auction at O'Neill at the county treasurer's office, beginning at 1 p. m., September 17, 1900, under the following provision of the new school land law: "If, after using due diligence to lease said land, at an annual rental of 6 per cent upon the appraised valuation, the commissioner is unable to do so, he may offer the same for lease at less than the appraised valuation and lease it to the person or persons who will pay 6 per cent, on the highest offered valuation, as annual rental, if, in his judgment, it is to the best interest of the state to accept such bid."

Persons desiring to examine the lands to be leased may secure a list of the same, showing the present appraisement thereof, as well as any other information, upon application to the county treasurer or by addressing the commissioner of public lands and buildings, at which answer all inquiries in regard to the school land business or the working of the new law.

Indications That It Will Give Its Vote to McKinley.

Public Sentiment Steadily Changing.
Abuse of Executive Authority.

Omaha, Sept. 10.—At a pace that evinces deliberation and sober thought Nebraska is making its way toward the Republican column.

It is no idle assertion to say that at this very time Nebraska is a doubtful state, with sentiment steadily changing in favor of the Republicans, in that degree as to justify the assertion that it will give its electoral vote to McKinley.

The effort of the fusion campaign managers to stem the tide by trying to meet the logic of events with bugaboos and vagaries is falling far short of accomplishing its purpose.

In the first place, the people of Nebraska are too intelligent to be duped in any such way. They know that the cry of "imperialism" and "militarism" is only a scheme to divert attention from the real issues. They know that it is intended for no other purpose than to keep them from thinking of the terrible distress of four years ago, and from comparing the philosophy and prophecy of the "boy orator" in 1896, as to what terrible things would happen if McKinley was elected, with what really has happened. Knowing this, the people are turning their backs upon bugaboos and are giving problems associated with their domestic affairs careful consideration.

The people are asking themselves what guarantee have they, if Bryan is elected, that the terrible industrial and commercial distress of four years ago will not return?

They are asking themselves why they should desert a wise leader and sound policy—a policy that has brought good prices for all farm products, that has closed the free soup house and opened the factories to ten million laboring people—for an unwise leader and an unsound policy that, every time it has been tested and applied, has precipitated a financial and industrial crisis, has stilled the hand of labor and extinguished the fires in nearly every factory.

They are asking themselves why they should reject that which has been proven to be for their best interest for that which history proves to be weighted down with injury and danger.

There was a time when many of the people of Nebraska permitted others to think for them. They were too busy with their own personal affairs, or too confiding, to devote attention to political problems. For that reason many honestly believed in the vagaries of Bryan in 1896. They accepted what he said as gospel truth without stopping to consider for a moment.

It is different today. They have learned to the contrary in the school of experience. They have been taught to think for themselves, and, in doing this, they have discovered to what extent their confidence has been imposed upon. They have discovered that not one of Bryan's predictions of 1896 has come true. That he was wrong in each and every instance. He told them McKinley's election would visit upon the country inconceivable disaster. He told them that just so sure as McKinley was elected this country would be visited by such suffering and distress as it had never before known. Results have demonstrated that this, to say the least, was a vicious and shameful imposition on public credulity.

NOTHING TO GAIN.

The people of Nebraska know by this time that they have nothing to gain by voting for the Bryan electoral ticket. They know full well that established policies of government are in such close sympathy with industrial conditions that they cannot be disturbed without causing unrest, and they know further, that to substitute policies that are a tax on enterprise and energy for policies that are stimulative means to do that which sober reason holds to be inimical to the public weal.

It is vastly more important to the voters of Nebraska that there shall be good markets and good prices for farm products, that labor shall be employed, that the money of the nation shall be free from spurious contamination and shall be the very best, that money may be had at a low rate of interest as a stimulant of industry and as a relief to the debtor, than that the Philippines shall be turned over to Aguinaldo's tribal government.

Concerned as all patriotic Americans are in the proper solution of the Philippine problem, the first and foremost thing to be considered is the welfare of the American people at home, especially since the McKinley administration has demonstrated its ability and intention to adjudicate the Philippine question along that line most consistent with American customs and traditions.

There is no danger, as regards the Philippines. That problem will be properly solved. The great danger that confronts the American people is free trade, spurious money and consequent low prices, idle labor and hard times.

ON A JUNKET.

Attorney General Smyth is off on another "trust-smashing" expedition. Why he had to put the state of Nebraska to the expense of a junket to New York with no possible objective point, other than to achieve partisan notoriety, is a question difficult of so-

SPLIT RAILS WITH LINCOLN.

South Dakota Man Recalls Association with "Honest Abe."

He split rails with Lincoln; that is the one claim old Thomas Thompson, of Lyman county, South Dakota, lays to anything like distinction. But he is immensely proud of that, says the Minneapolis Journal. Thompson's one vote helped make Lincoln president. One episode in particular won him as a voter, if he needed any winning by the friend he had known in a humbly admiring way for years. It was when "Abe" was home from Springfield, where he had become a prominent practicing attorney. Thompson was helping his father and some neighbors to make rails when Lincoln appeared. Old Tom says he "liked Abe on the spot—you could not help it. It did a feller a lot of good to shake hands with him and look into his kind, good-natured face. He gave ye such a hearty grip o' the hand that ye liked it. Some one asked Abe, says he, 'I s'pose ye forgotten how to handle'n axe.' 'Well, let's see,' says Abe, and he picked up an ax. The way he picked it up meant a whole lot, and the way he peeled off his coat and vest meant a whole lot more. First he hefted the ax to get its balance, and then went at a log that was lyn' near. We fellers all stopped to watch him, but he didn't mind. Chuck, chuck, he sent the axe into the log with his long, powerful arms, and with a few licks had that log crackin' and snappin' and splittin' until it lay in halves. Then he quartered it and eighted it and so on without restin' a bit until a clean, nice pile of rails lay where the log had been. Then he quit, sayin': 'Well, boys, I guess I ain't lost the hang o' it yet.' Well, it was such things that made every one like Abe; he want stuck up a mite. He was a good man." And there were tears in the old man's eyes when he finished his recital.

HUSBAND TURNS UP

After His Wife Had Collected Life Insurance and Remarried.

Gloucester (Mass.) cor. St. Louis Republic: The appearance here of W. A. Ragland, of Little Rock, Ark., with the news that Howard A. Saville, who disappeared 16 years ago, is still alive, has created a sensation here. Mrs. Saville had collected his life insurance, married again to Benjamin Kinsman, of Gloucester, and separated from her second husband. Saville, who was reported to have died in St. Louis of cancer, is also said to have married again and become the possessor of considerable property. In the meantime the four sons and one daughter of Howard Saville have grown up. One son, Prof. Marshall Saville, of New York, recently made his name famous by his discoveries of rare antiquities in Mexico. Mr. Saville, if living, would be heir to a portion of an estate of the late S. Oliver Brown, and it is to gain information concerning this that Mr. Ragland, according to his statement, is here. He further states that he wishes to establish Mr. Saville's identity in order that the latter may come into some money in a New York bank, to which, it is claimed, he is an heir. Mr. Ragland was identified at the Cape Ann Savings bank as one of the larger brokers in Little Rock. He says that Mr. Saville has been living in or near Little Rock for the past 14 years. Relatives offer an explanation for the possible existence of a legacy in New York, the tale of Mr. Saville's great-grandfather, who was captured by pirates, and, after a long service of slavery, returned to this country to find his wife married again. He then went to South Carolina and accumulated a fortune. The share of the estate to which Howard Saville is entitled will amount to $5,000.

TRIALS OF PARIS.

Nobody who may be thinking of stopping in peace at the Grand Hotel, in Paris, should ask the maitre d'hotel about the American woman who spoke French with the aid of a dictionary, says the Chicago News. Although there was no need of it, as they all spoke English, she persisted in firing off Orlendorian French at the waiters every moment. One sad-eyed knight of the apron came down one morning and asked for leave of absence, and the maitre d'hotel himself went up to solve the mystery. After a violent tirade against the incivility of the garcon she declared that his French was so frayed out at the edges that he did not understand what "a bottle of embonpoint" was. And it took the manager 20 minutes to discover that she had intended to ask for stout.

CARE OF JEWELRY.

Jewelry hardly comes in as bric-a-brac, but it often is injured by carelessness in handling and cleaning. Washing and brushing with jewelers' soap and water is, as a rule, enough, and may be done where stones are clear set. When they are backed with foil, water must not be used on the foil, after having been wet once, will be clouded over and cease to be of any use. Occasionally gold and silver articles become much tarnished from contact with vulcanized rubber, which contains a large proportion of sulphur. Precipitated chalk, carefully sifted through two thicknesses of muslin and mixed with spirit and water, makes an excellent paste in such cases.

CITY OPERATES NURSERY.

The little city of Orea, in Sweden, owns and operates a nursery that brings it an annual income of $150,000, a sum that pays all the expenses of the municipality, including free schools for the children and a free telephone system for the people.

DON'T BE DUPED

There have been placed upon the market several cheap reprints of an obsolete edition of "Webster's Dictionary." They are being offered under various names at a low price.

By
dry goods dealers, grocers, agents, etc., and in a few instances as a premium for subscriptions to papers.

Announcements of these comparatively
reprints are very misleading; for instance, they are advertised to be the substantial equivalent of a higher-priced book, when in reality, so far as we know and believe, they are all, from A to Z.

Reprint Dictionaries, plenty copies of a book of over fifty years ago, which was sold for about $5.00, and which was much superior in paper, print, and binding to these imitations, being then a work of some merit instead of one

Long Since Obsolete.
The supplement of 10,000 so-called "new words," which some of these books are advertised to contain, was compiled by a gentleman who died over forty years ago, and was published before his death. Other minor additions are probably of more or less value.

The Webster's Unabridged Dictionary published by our house is the only meritorious one of that name familiar to this generation. It contains over 2000 pages, with illustrations on nearly every page, and bears our imprint on the title page. It is protected by copyright from cheap imitation.

Valuable as this work is, we have at vast expense published a thoroughly revised successor, known throughout the world as Webster's International Dictionary. As a dictionary lasts a lifetime you should
