Quail hunting still goes on to some extent, the expiration of the killing limit to the contrary not with standing. Quails, from January till November, are not legally huntable. But of course when the boys are hunting for rabbits it is a strong temptation to let drive at whatever jumps up whether quail or otherwise. About the only way the game laws will be obeyed is to extinguish the game.

The Frontier has been awarded the contract for furnishing the county officers with stationery the coming year. The Omaha Printing company will supply the blanks and the State Journal the blank books. This is the first time in ten years The Frontier secured a contract from the county and the bidding was close this time, there being but about $6 difference between us and the Independent.

Word comes from the Wyoming ranges that a deadly disease has broken out among cattle. In many respects it resembles human diphtheria and it is nearly always fatal. The throat swells up and mucus forms, which usually results in strangulation. It is believed by the state veterinarian that the disease was started by the warm days and cold nights. The disease is being watched very close, but it is believed that it will be difficult to stop. It is hoped that cold weather will stop its spreading.

A poultry item: It has been estimated that there are about three hundred and fifty million hens in the United States. During the year 1900 they produced approximately fourteen billion eggs, which represent in the neighborhood of $175,000,000. That seems a lot of money, but just wait a minute. The living value of hens at 30 cents apiece is not far from $100,000,000, besides which about $130,000,000 worth of poultry is eaten in this country in the course of a year. So you see the hen, while a humble bird cuts quite a figure in the financial world.

Ancient Archives. While repairing the tower of an old church at Cassonay, near Lausanne, a workman found a casket in a secret compartment which contained manuscripts dating as far back as 1435. Two of the manuscripts are written in Latin and refer to the Burgundian wars then raging in Switzerland. The other manuscripts are written in French and bear the date of 1703. They have been forwarded to the museum at Berne to be carefully examined.

Lloyd & Gay.
The Lyod & Gay company will be in O'Neill again on next Monday night, Jan. 14, for one performance only in "Monte Cristo," a play with which every man, woman and child in the land is more or less familiar. Besides presenting this production in all its scenic splendor they will present a galaxy of scintillating specialties, the equal of which has never been attempted on the local stage. Two of the new specialties will be by the child wonder, Bessie Jackson, and the nightingale prima donna, Mabel Livingstone. Little Bessie Jackson's new songs and her hurricane dances are great hits while Miss Livingstone's numbers are nothing short of the rarest musical gems. The other specialties will be by Messrs. Gay, Williams, Brewer and Shakespear. Seats now on sale at usual place.

Things Which X-Ray Cannot See.
There are many curious things about X-rays which seem to puzzle even the scientists. Signor Brigutti, who has been making experiments with them at Rome, says that the visibility of a substance to the eye is no criterion of its visibility to the X-rays. The rays can not see through glass, which is transparent to the eye, whereas aluminum, which is opaque to the eye, is transparent to the X-rays. The rays can see a splinter of glass in the hand, but not a splinter of wood. Most inks are transparent to the X-rays, including printer's ink, but some of them are opaque. The rays can see through a postoffice directory, but if a paper with words written on it be put in the middle of the directory the rays will reveal these words and nothing behind them.

Woodmen Select Delegates.
About twenty-two delegates representing the Modern Woodmen camps of the county held a convention Thursday at the Woodmen hall in O'Neill for the purpose selecting two delegates and two alternates to the state camp at Kearney on February 13. The convention was organized by selecting D. H. Cronin chairman and L. C. Chapman secretary. The following delegates were chosen: D. H. Cronin, F. W. Phillips; alternates, L. W. Lickard and F. M. Wintermote. O'Neill was selected as the place of holding the next county camp.

Death from Diver's Paralysis.
A rather peculiar fatality occurred the other day at Lamash in the island of Arran, where the reserve squadron was stationed for a week. A torpedo was lost from the battleship Howe in about twenty fathoms of water, and a diver was sent down to search for it. On his return to the surface he was apparently well, but he suddenly became ill and died within an hour. A post mortem examination disclosed the fact that death had been due to a very rare ailment known in the medical profession as caisson disease or diver's paralysis, which only occurs when the pressure under which a diver works is more than three atmospheres and generally follows a rapid rise to the surface. There were bubbles of gas in the blood vessels, heart and brain tissue.—Robert MacIntyre, in Chicago Record

Don't let the hand of time paint wrinkles on your face. Keep young, by keeping the blood pure and the digestive organs in a healthful condition. Herbine will do this. Health is youth, disease and sickness brings old age. Price 50 cents. P. C. Corrigan.

Growth of a Giant.
A woman has just died in New Jersey who was the last of the chorus that sang and strewed flowers in the path of Lafayette. It is thus within the memory of one lifetime that this nation has made its wonderful progress from a revolted colony of Great Britain to a position second to no nation in the world. It is a record for patriotic Americans to be proud of.—Baltimore American.

You can help anyone whom you find suffering from inflamed throat, laryngeal trouble, bronchitis, coughs, colds, etc., by advising the use of Ballard's horehound syrup; the great remedy for coughs and colds. Price, 25 and 50 cents. At P. C. Corrigan's.

Convict Demands Creased Trousers.
William McFadden, a Hardin county, Ohio, forger, was severely paddled at the penitentiary because he insisted on wearing creased trousers. He demanded of the guard that he be supplied with fresh creased trousers each day, and became so insulting because he was not furnished with the dudish outfit that the guard reported him for infraction of the rules.
