SOAK YOUR FEET INSTEAD OF HEAD

A Simple Remedy for the Grip
Said to Be Effectual.

NO NASTY "DOPES"

Not a Patent Medicine Wonder—Bucket of Hot Water Does the Business.

The following cure for the grip was recently published in a religious weekly over the signature of one of the editorial staff and is no doubt a success:

"The grip can be so effectually broken up that no one need be injured by it, nor necessarily confined to the house longer than to put himself through the treatment. And the treatment is so simple that it is within the reach of everybody; and it is so easily applied that anyone can give it to himself if need be. And here it is:

"1. As soon as you discover that you have the grip, put your feet, and up to the knees if possible, in water as hot as can be borne.

"2. Keep the water as hot as can be borne by putting in boiling water.

"3. Continue this till perspiration is started. At the same time it is helpful, though not essential, to sip hot lemonade.

"4. When perspiration has been well started, take out your feet, dry them quickly, wrap them in hot flannels, hot bricks, or something of the kind, at your feet.

"5. Lie there till you choose to get up; and the grip will be killed. You will probably be too weak to do much; but as the grip is gone your strength will soon return.

Now do not pass this treatment by as too simple to be followed, and go to taking medicine, or even a full bath. Follow these directions strictly, simple as they appear, and you will find the grip effectually broken.

"I know this because I have thoroughly tested the treatment. I have tested it while on a journey, when I had only poor facilities, yet with complete success. I have tested it in a country cabin, within fifteen miles of the Russian border, in the month of December, on an attack of the grip straight from Russia, and undiluted; and with such success as to miss but one sermon in a series of appointments. And others have applied it with equal success.

"There is true philosophy in it. And the philosophy lies here: The grip, at its seizure, is peculiarly a disease of the head. Plainly, therefore, if the blood can be drawn away from the head, so that the disease shall have nothing to feed on, the grip will have to fall. Holding the feet in water so hot, does effectually draw the blood to the farthest extremity from the head; and keeping the feet hot so long, holds the blood away from the head, so that the disease is robbed of support; it cannot spread and inevitably fails.

"A full bath, even though it be a Turkish or a Russian, is not effectual against the grip; because the whole body is equally heated, the blood is made to bond more rapidly, and the disease is fed rather than starved.

"Follow these directions strictly, and nothing will fail but the grip.

"If you have not had experience so that you are acquainted with the grip, you can know that it is upon you by your eyes burning, your nose tickling, your head feeling large and full, and perhaps every joint and muscle of the body aching. But you need not wait for all these symptoms: one or two of them is enough to justify you in beginning proceedings."

A complaint of assault and battery comes on this afternoon in Justice Slatery's court, W. H. Shaw and Mrs. Shaw being the principals, the latter filing the complaint. The defendant is also under $500 bonds to appear in district court, action being complaint to keep the peace. Both are the outgrowth of domestic troubles.

NOTE OF THANKS—The relatives of the late Mr. Weeks wish the Frontier to express for them their gratitude to the friends and neighbors who assisted them during the sickness, death and burial of their loved one.

The funeral of Mr. Roach, father of Mrs. Richard Murry and Thomas Roach, was held today at the Catholic church.

Railroad Talk.

Valentine Republican The sleepy old State Journal has opened its eyes long enough to catch a glimpse of the Denver & Valentine railroad project. Being located on the line of the Burlington road, the strongest competitor of the Northwestern, the Journal is naturally and necessarily opposed to the building of the Denver & Valentine, there fore its discouraging words should be double discounted. It says:

It is not improbable that some interesting moves will be made on the railroad checkerboard in this part of the west during the progress of the work of amalgamation now going on among the great corporations. The gossip concerning a new Northwestern line between Omaha and Denver, or Valentine and Denver, can hardly have any foundation unless the intimate relations now existing between that company and the Union Pacific are dissolved. It is more probable that the Great Northern will extend the Pacific Short Line from O'Neill to Denver, or that the Milwaukee will build from Omaha to the mountains. In case these systems are united, as common report says they will be in the natural expansion would be in the form of new lines from Omaha and O'Neill, uniting somewhere in central Nebraska and then pushing on to Denver. It is not likely that many important moves will be made without causing at least one more transcontinental line to be thrown across Nebraska.

Now, if the reader will draw a line on a railroad map from Valentine to Denver he will see that it crosses three lines of the Burlington and he will begin to understand why the Burlington company and its newspaper organs are opposed to the building of the Denver & Valentine road. The projected road would become a competitor for a good deal of business that now necessarily goes to the Burlington lines. Besides it would open up a wide expanse of country which now has no railroad facilities, and being in good general sense, a north and south line, it would have a practical monopoly of the shipping traffic in a territory three hundred miles in length and for a great part of the distance many miles in width. As it is the evident intention of the Northwestern to push on to the Pacific coast, and as the proposed Denver & Valentine line is the most feasible, practicable and cheapest link between Omaha and Denver that is available we believe it will be built.

TOM KEARNS GOES TO THE SENATE

Former O'Neill Man Gets Utah Toga.

BY UNANIMOUS VOTE

Man that Borrowed Money to Take Him West Now United States Senator.

(By Wire to The Frontier.)
Salt Lake, Utah, Jan. 23.—Received the unanimous vote in joint assembly today for the office of United States senator.

The news of the election of Mr. Kearns to the senate was received by his old friends in O'Neill with pleasure. A telegram was received yesterday morning by Col. Neil Brennan from a brother of Mr. Kearns and in the afternoon the above came by wire to Mr. Cronin, in the absence of whom The Frontier appropriates as its own.

Speaking of the matter Col. Brennan said as he showed the telegram. "That is an example of a young man rising in the world. I remember Tom Kearns when he had'n't a dollar and had to borrow money to take him to Utah. I am glad to see an old friend of the pioneer days doing well."

Mr. Kearns is well known by the older inhabitants of this section, as he was one of the early settlers around O'Neill. He left hear about fifteen years ago and by hard work and untiring energies has become one of the wealthy mine owners of the west as well as one of the most prominent men of the mountain country.

The people who will come across the street to tell you that they have the grip will have to quit. Listen at this: An old soldier thinks he ought to have a pension for the following reasons: General debility, piles, rheumatism, disease of heart, affection of spine, disease of eyes with partial loss of sight, strain of hip, strain of neck, loss of teeth, lumbago, affection of ears causing partial deafness, cancer on nose, affection of toes and disease of kidneys. We think so, too.

A great many persons are taking advantage of the liberal terms offered by T. V. Golden of O'Neill in making farm loans, and are obtaining money with which to extend their business and purchase more land. If you want to get a loan, write Mr. Golden, and he will furnish you the money in any amount, by furnishing good security. 29-5

Smith Merrill has purchased the flour and feed store of E. Kline and assumed charge yesterday. Mr. Merrill is an enterprising gentleman, a good citizen and the Frontier welcomes him to the business circles of the city and wishes him abundant prosperity.

WE TWO MAKE A WORLD.

We two make home of any place we go; We two find joy in any kind of weather; Or if the earth is clothed in bloom or snow, If summer days invite, or bleak winds blow, What matters it if we two are together? We two, we two, we make our world, our weather.

We two make banquets of the plainest fare; In every cup we find the thrill of our pleasure. We hide with wreaths the furrowed brow of care And win to smiles the set lips of despair. For us life always moves with lifting measure; We two, we two, we make our world, our pleasure.

We two find youth renewed with every dawn; Each day holds something of an unknown glory. We waste no thought on grief or pleasure gone; Tricked out like hope, time leads us on and on. And thrums upon his harp new song or story. We two, we two, we find the paths of glory.

We two make heaven here on this little earth; We do not need to wait for realms eternal. We know the use of tears, know sorrow's worth, And pain for us is always love's rebirth. Our paths lead closely by the paths supernatural; We two, we two, we live in love eternal.

CATTLE RUSTLERS MAKE A HAUL

Twelve Head Gone From Pat
Shea's Herd.

DEAD DOG IN EVIDENCE

Drive Off Eight Steers and Four Heifers While Family
Slumbers.

When Pat Shea, residing two miles northeast of O'Neill, went to his barn yards and cattle corals yesterday morning he found that eight head of steers and four heifers which ought to be in the yards were not there.

He at once concluded that the cattle had been stolen, and this belief was confirmed a few minutes later when Mr. Shea found the barnyard dog lying dead under a wagon with a bullet hole through him. It is supposed the dog set up a noise when the parties, whoever they were, came to the place and was put to silence with a bullet. The family were all asleep and did not hear the shooting or other noise.

No clue to cattle, rustlers or which way they went was obtainable, but Mr. Shea and a number of neighbors started out to cover the country in search of them. There being no snow on the prairie, tracking was impossible and the search necessarily more or less at random.

Up to Wednesday afternoon no trace of the missing stock was found.
