Eves has added four lots to his domain of O'Neill real estate, recently buying the four corner lots south of his residence. S. B. Howard and J. Q. Howard have leased F. C. A pair of gold-rim spectacles in a case labeled Mawhinney & Holiday, Omaha, were left at this office as found. Owner may have same by calling and paying charges.

The Presbyterian ladies made a great success of their trade emporium last week. Everything was sold out by Saturday evening. The church realizes something over $200 out of the sale. We understand that Frank McDonald, who left O'Neill a little over a year ago to take a position in the penitentiary at Lincoln, has returned to this county and is now buying hogs on the Atkinson market. There is to be an automobile run between Butte and Stuart beginning last Monday. The automobile takes the place of the stage and will be a great convenience to the travelers in that section of the country. The new bank will occupy the building formerly used by the Elkhorn Valley bank. Dan Sullivan, son of James Sullivan, returned from Fremont last Friday evening where he has been attending school, the past months and on Tuesday morning left for Anaconda, Mont., where he expects to make his future home. The carpenters begin work yesterday on the changes in the court room. The mason work will not be begun until next month owing to the uncertainty of the weather as the roof of the vault has to be removed in building the vault up to the second story and a storm at such a time would greatly damage books and records. There is about ten days' work in sight for the carpenters. World-Herald: Gussie Shule and a man named Graham from Lincoln have been selling soap in Nebraska towns representing themselves as mutes. At Madison they made a short stay as they were recognized as good talkers. A pair of soap sellers, supposed to be the above parties visited O'Neill last week, and we understand done a good business in the soap line. Ira Lapham is building a residence in the western part of the city. The building will be 14x24 with an eil 14x16 two stories high. This is the third residence now in course of construction in this city and the indications are that about one dozen more will be built during the next three months. No, O'Neill is not booming but she has taken her second wind and is enjoying a good substantial growth. Detective Hahn of the Elkhorn road shot and instantly killed a man named Dave Luce on the Niobrara river in Brown county Tuesday morning while attempting to arrest him. Luce was armed with a shot gun and attempted to empty its contents in the person of Hahn but the latter was too handy with his six-shooter and "plugged" him twice. A coroner jury said it was in self-defense. The Knights of Pythias will give their fourteenth annual ball at the opera house on the evening of May 1. The Knights have the reputation for giving high class entertainments and each year more strenuous efforts are made to surpass their former balls. Plans were laid and arrangements made early this year and the committees are working hard to make the twentieth century ball the most successful of any yet given. A change took place on April 6 in the Boyd County bank at Spencer, Sanford Parker selling his interests to Sam Dietrick of O'Neill. Mr. Dietrick becomes president of the bank and F. W. Wood remains cashier. The capital stock, $5,000, remains the same. The directors are Mr. Dietrick, Mr. Wood, F. M. Weidner, C. J. Coffey and Sanford Parker, Mr. Parker retaining a small interest in the bank. This is the oldest bank in Boyd county and its statements show up a very creditable business. Mr. Dietrick is a valuable man to have at the head of such an institution. He will continue his residence in O'Neill, however, and retain his business interests here. Mr. Parker, the retiring president of the bank, we understand will remain in Boyd county.

People who were getting ready to rake up the rubbish about their premises for the spring clean-up have had to lay aside rake and hoe while it rains. Ed Purdy has the thanks of The Frontier editors for a fine mess of Malard duck which he sent us by express Wednesday. Ed is one of those whole-souled boys who thinks nothing is too good for the craft. F. E. Romandorf, who recently moved into the Minneola country from Lincoln, entered his name on The Frontier subscription list this morning. Mr. Romandorf brought with him from Lincoln a herd of fine poled Durham cattle and will engage in growing stock or this breed. M. M. Sullivan has accepted a position as traveling representative with Chesnut Penn and Street of Philadelphia, Pa., wholesale dry goods dealers, and will enter upon his new duties next week. His territory is western Nebraska, Wyoming and the Black Hill country. His wife and son will run the store here. It is generally conceded that Edgar Allen Poe oiled the wheels of his head with wine before entertaining the guest from the plutonian shore and listening to the siren, sad, uncertain rattle of the purple curtain, but the editor of the Independent must have used the druggist's worst when he wrote the screed about M. P. Kinkaid and H. O. Jackson. The Independent either has but little regard for a reputation as a newspaper or else had the nightmare. Police court had a little business yesterday and the city treasurer was enriched $10. M. F. Cronin, John O'Donnell and William Fallon were taken before Police Judge Davidson by Marshal Hall on a charge of quarreling and disturbing the peace. The trouble occurred Tuesday evening when the three created some disturbance on the street in a quarrel. Two were fined $5 each and cost, but Will Fallon took an continuance until Monday. John J. Harrington called the sheriff to his aid yesterday morning to recover a pair of shoes stolen from his store by a woman living northwest of O'Neill. The woman was in Mr. Harrington's store and while he was engaged in the rear end of the store she slipped a pair of shoes under her garments and started out. She was observed in the act of taking the shoes. Deputy Sheriff Bradstreet was called, the woman found and the shoes recovered. No arrest was made, the woman paying $5 to quiet up the affair. At the regular meeting of Kent Chapter No. 139, order of Eastern Star held Monday evening April 8, 1901, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year. Mrs. E. Trueblood, worthy Matron; Mrs. Flora Evans, associate Matron; J. C. Harnish, worthy patron; Mrs. P. P. Newell, conductress; Mrs. K. E. Dietrick, associate conductress; Miss Maud Gillespie, secretary; Miss Eva Harnish, treasurer. The order is in very flourishing condition, ten members having been initiated into its mysteries during the past year. G. E. Hubbard has commenced action in the district court for the recovery of a farm and six head of horses which he claims to have been swindled out of by a patent right man hailing from Kentucky. I. F. Louder and A. C. King are made defendants in the suit. The files in the case allege that plaintiff was induced to buy a patentless fence at $3,500 by misrepresentation. Louder, it is stated, made Hubbard believe that he (Louder) was buying a half interest in the patent and had men to buy the right for several counties in South Dakota and Nebraska at double the figure it was costing them. The ultimate result, it is stated, was the loss to Hubbard of his farm and six horses, which have passed into the hands of Louder & King. J. P. Mann expects to move to Chicago about the middle of next month. Mr. Mann has been expecting to leave O'Neill but did not intend to go before July. He has sold his residence here to S. J. Weekes, but still retains the ownership of the store, the management of which will revert to his sister Kate. Mr. Mann has been identified with the business interests of O'Neill for about eighteen years and from a small beginning has worked up until he has one of the best stores in this part of Nebraska and it may be said none better can be found anywhere. He recently became interested in a wholesale concern in Chicago and goes that city to give his business personal attention. His interests here, Mr. Mann says, will continue the same and although he moves away will frequently visit O'Neill. The Frontier regrets the departure of Mr. Mann and his estimable wife from our city, but extends best wishes for prosperity in the big city.

Deputy Sheriff Bradstreet returned last Saturday evening from Ponca having in custody Thomas Morrison, who, with his brother Lee, now is confined to the county jail. Lee Morrison, it will be remembered had a preliminary hearing before County Judge Selah last week and was bound over to the district court in $1,500 bail, in default of which he was placed in jail. The officers have been on the look out for Thomas ever since the stabbing affair four weeks ago. Deputy Bradstreet learned that he was in Dixon county and knowing of a friend of the family by the name of Lear who lives near Newcastle and surmising that Thomas was there communicated with the sheriff of Dixon county, who went to the Lear place and there learned that Morrison had gone north to the Missouri river and hired out to a farmer. He was followed up and arrested at the farmer's home, thirteen miles north of Newcastle. Morrison claimed to be innocent and affected surprise at being arrested. In fact he so strongly protested his innocence that the Dixon county sheriff thought he might have the wrong man. However, the sheriff decided to hold him and communicate with Holt county authorities. Deputy Bradstreet went to Ponca Friday and found that the right man had been taken. At first Morrison denied any connection with the stabbing affair and affected to not know Bradstreet. But when the deputy sheriff put the irons on him for a drive from Ponca to Waterbury where they were to board the train for O'Neill, he cast aside the affectations and talked freely of the trouble with Schweitzer. It had been thought that Thomas had done none of the stabbing, but in his talk with Brad, the deputy sheriff says, he told in a boasting way how he had stabbed at Schweitzer three times, but "guessed he only got him twice." The knife which he had desperately wielded was found concealed in his shoe and as the weapon was taken in charge by Brad, the undaunted prisoner remarked, "That's the best knife you ever had." It is a common pocket knife with the blades keenly whetted. It seems Thomas is equally implicated with Lee and they both fear that the case will go against them. The cause of the trouble, as before stated in these columns, is a dispute over the location of a fence. It seems that the Morrison's have some school land adjoining Schweitzer's place and they claim Schweitzer's fence is over on their land. They went to Schweitzer's house to order him to move the fence. Schweitzer agreed to have a line surveyed and thus get the correct location of the fence. Words began to come fast and angry about this time and Schweitzer ordered the Morrison's off from his place, whereupon they jumped upon him with knives and cut him up pretty badly about the face and neck. Thomas will have his preliminary hearing tomorrow and the case will probably come on in the district court May 9, the jury being called for that date. Notice. All persons hauling garbage or dead animals along any public highway in Grattan township will be dealt with according to law. 41 4 John Sullivan, Township Clerk. Notice. As I have to square with the miller the first of May, I offer bargains in flour till then. Also would like it if I could get what is owing me. I also have a few stock cattle to sell. Con Keys. 41tf. O'Neill, Neb., April 6, 1901--Advertised letter list: Maria Harris, James M. Cannon, Mary Bressan. In calling for the above please say "advertised." If not called for in two weeks will be sent to the dead letter office. D. H. Cronin, p. m. A Correction. One wrong letter sometimes does considerable damage. In The Frontier of March 14 appeared an error in the initial of a name that incriminates an innocent man and we hereby cheerfully make the correction. In speaking of Deputy Sheriff Bradstreet's visit to Denver for the arrest of the man from Inman who sold mortgaged property the name of J. H. Riley appeared where it should have been J. L. Riley. It was our mistake but we intended no injury to J. H. A Raging, Roaring Flood. Washed down a telegraph line which Chas. C. Ellis, of Lisbon, Ia., had to repair. "Standing waist deep in icy water," he writes, "gave me a terrible cold and cough. It grew worse daily. Finally the best doctors in Oakland, Neb., Sioux City and Omaha said I had Consumption and could not live. Then I began using Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles." Positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung troubles for by P. C. Corrigan. Price 50c and $1.00.

"By Force of Impulse." "By Force of Impulse" presented by the Academy Dramatic company last Monday was one of the greatest successes ever presented by this very successful company. All the parts were well taken each performer seeming determined to outdo themselves and win fresh plaudits for their company and that they succeeded in doing so is evident from the praise showered upon them company collectively and individual ly since the performance. McGreevey's orchestra furnished the music and the applause they received at the conclusion of each number was evidence conclusive that the fine class of music presented did not fall upon unappreciative lass O'Neill music lovers are hopeful that they will have many opportunities of listening to this orchestra. The play was put on under the supervision and direction of Thomas V. Golden and the high grade of dramatic excellence shown was largely due to his excellent training. The gross receipts of the play were $130.45. The company will reproduce the play at Spencer on Saturday evening May 1 for the benefit of the Catholic church at that place. M. R. Sullivan was an ideal appearing old father and his stern dignified bearing was sufficient to "quash" the heart of the most enthusiastic lover. R. J. McGinnis, as Colonel Morrell was a "chip of the old block" and while a stern adherent to the "code", had the charity to beg forgiveness from those whom he had so shortly before condemned. O. F. Biglin as a hero was classed as a number one, but there are some that say he might have been more lover-like, but then his wife and were in the audience and Odie did not want to get into trouble. Clarence Campbell and John Fallon as two dudes "whose mental facilities had not kept pace with their physical" were the two "hits" of the evening. The boys took their parts fine and give promise of becoming dudes in reality if they keep up the good start made Monday night. Chas Stout was an ideal officer and we have heard many of the "charming" creatures say that they never knew Charlie was so handsome before. This is all caused, say those whom nature was less charitable with, in looks, to the splendid uniform he wore. Jim Donohoe, they say, has a good "phiz" for a lawyer and his bald "pate" which was false added dignity to his "posish." His interpretation of the character of Dollerclutch was equal to that of the past masters of the art and his acting was equal to his interpretation. M. H. McCarthy as the servant feeling himself above the position of a menial was o. k. and his facial grimaces, strutting attitude and red tie stormed the galleries. If Mike used the same perseverance in his every day walks of life as he did in the play, we will bet our last summer's hat that another year will not cap the forty odd he now has passed without being added to the ranks of the benedicts. Miss Alice Cronin appeared as Miss Anastasia Maitland, a gushing maiden of forty-five summers and winters without number. She was a genuine picture of "charming simplicity" and her clever personification of the character won many plaudits from the audience. Miss Tess O'Sullivan as Adrienne Lowville, the wealthy, aristocratic and haughty beauty, daughter of the millionaire railroad owner, was perfection and the haughtier which she treated the would-be despoiler of her happiness was equal to that seen upon the stage in any city. Miss Maggie Hurley in the character of Hilda Wallace, the wronged wife, was one of the strong characters of the play and Miss Hurley was equal to the part bringing out the fine points of that character to the best advantage. Miss Maggie is no novice on the stage and in her latest venture she sustained her reputation as a clever actress. He Kept His Leg. Twelve years ago J. W. Sullivan, of Hartford, Conn., scratched his leg with a rusty wire. Inflammation and blood poisoning set in. For two years he suffered intensely. Then the best doctors urged amputation, "but," he writes, "I used one bottle of Electric Bitters and 1-2 boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve and my leg was sound and well as ever." For Eruptions, Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Sores and all blood disorder Electric Bitters has no rival on earth. Try them P. C. Corrigan. will guarantee satisfaction or refund money. Only
