

TUBERCULOSIS FOUND IN A PIG

William Sardeson, who resides thirteen miles southwest of O'Neill, was in town Monday with a specimen of disease jerm taken from a swine which he believes to be a case of tuberculosis. Mr. Sardeson is a veterinary surgeon and has made a study of animal diseases. About a year ago he got a small pig to experiment with. The pig came from a place where there was a case of consumption in the family and he thinks possibly the disease was transmitted from human to brute. It was a sickly, runt of a pig when Mr. Sardeson took it home. It was given special care and kept away from other stock so that developments could be closely watched but not until he had made a post mortem examination had the veterinary an idea of what the disease was. He killed the pig the other day and the entire organic machinery showed evidences of disease, the spleen and lungs being especially affected. Thickly dotted through these organs were clusters of small white balls of a soft and cheesy nature and about the size of shot. The veterinary took his specimen to doctors here to submit it to the microscope, but a proper focus could not be secured with the instrument at hand for such a subject and an accurate examination could not be made. Dr. Skelton of Page, who was in the city, took some of the specimen which he will take to Chicago this week and have it examined, he going there to take a post graduate course. The doctor will report the results of the examination. Mr. Sardeson says he recently killed a cow for a farmer living southwest of town that was in the last stages of consumption, the left lung being gone. Tuberculosis in cattle, he says, is a common thing, but has never found it in hogs before.

DEATH RECORD

Died, at her home in this city on last Sunday evening, Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, wife of Senator Frank Campbell, aged 41 years, 4 months and 13 days.

Elizabeth Winterer was born in St. Louis, Mo., January 1, 1860. In 1869 she came with her parents to Cedar county, this state. In 1880 she was married to Frank Campbell at Yankton, S. D., coming to O'Neill the following year, where the family has since resided. Nine children were born to them, six boys and three girls. One of the girls died in infancy in 1882. The remains of the child were exhumed and laid in the grave with its mother. The youngest child is three weeks old.

The immediate cause of Mrs. Campbell's death was elapsia. She was a loving, companionable woman, always ready to help the needy. Her bright smiles and cheering words will be greatly missed by hundreds of O'Neill people outside her heartbroken family. In hours of trouble such as this words of sympathy can do but little to alleviate the sorrow of the husband and children of that once happy home which has been made desolate by the removal of its queen—the loving, sympathetic wife and mother. O'Neill people from the bottom of their hearts tender them their sincerest sympathy in their bereavement.

Deceased was a member of the O'Neill lodge Degree of Honor in which she carried $2000, insurance, and the local Castle of Royal Highlanders in which she carried an equal amount. The funeral was held from the Catholic Church Tuesday morning the remains being interred in the Catholic cemetery.

Mr. Campbell received a telegram of sympathy from United States Senator Kearns and also from several members of the Nebraska legislature.

John Fallon, whose death was chronicled in the last issue of The Frontier, was born in O'Neill November 19, 1882, and at the time of his death was but nineteen years and six months of age. Deceased was a young man of sterling integrity and many noble traits of character. His sudden death upon the threshold of manhood when life's ambitions were shown as beacon lights of enchantment afar spurred him onward and upward eager to learn the knowledge that would better enable him to fight life's battles, the grim reaper claimed him in its tendons and claimed him for its own. In manhood's youthful bloom when darkest night appears as brightest day to the expectant, hopeful youth to have the tender cord of life severed seems hard to realize but he who does all things for the best called him to His home and loving parents, brothers and sisters are left to mourn, but bow their heads in humble submission to his will. That he was loved by both young and old was evidenced by the large funeral last Friday and the many and beautiful floral offerings placed upon his bier by loving and devoted friends. The Academy Dramatic Co., of which he was a member, placed a beautiful wreath of remembrance upon his casket; the teachers of the public school, his classmates, Mrs. James J. Harrington and Patrick Gordon, of Sioux City, decorated the casket with beautiful wreaths, while in loving remembrance his family placed a beautiful cross made of flowers. The funeral was held from the Catholic church Friday morning, the remains being laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery.

Doctor, more familiarly known as Joe. Gallagher, who recently graduated from a four year's course in medicine at St. Louis, a brother of J. P. Gallagher of the O'Neill Grocery and an O'Neill boy, went to Atkinson Monday evening to hang out his professional shingle and become a permanent fixture of that progressive town. Dr. Gallagher is a bright young man, has had thorough schooling in one of the best institutions in the country and we predict a successful career for him in his chosen profession.

S. J. Weekes, register, and R. H. Jenness, receiver, of the O'Neill land office have bought the two corner lots just south of the court-house block and are having a building 18x44 erected thereon and the land office will be moved into it about June 1. The building at present occupied by the land office is now in litigation the question of ownership being between Mr. Weekes and the O'Neill National bank, which arose over the sale of the building by Mr. Wattles.

O'Neill, May 9, 1901.—Mr. and Mrs. William Fallon: Wheseas, death has taken from our midst your son and our friend and schoolmate, John Fallon, it is resolved that we, the pupils of the O'Neill High school, and teachers, J. V. Owens and Emma Greely, extend our sincere sympathy to yourself and family in your hour of bereavement. John Gallagher, Owen Meredith, committee.

We extend you a cordial invitation to witness the working of the great majestic steel and malleable iron range at our store. We will show you how to bake biscuits brown top and bottom in three minutes; how to cook with one-half the fuel you are now using, and show you an article that, if properly used, will last a lifetime. Hot coffee and biscuit served every day from May 27 to June 1.—Neil Brennan, 46-2

The city council met in adjourned session Wednesday evening, passed two ordinances and ordered the vacation of the road between the two cemeteries. Ordinance No. 87 is published in this issue of The Frontier; the other, which provides for a tax on insurance companies to provide a fire department revenue, has been submitted for legal opinion.

A petition is being circulated and extensively signed, addressed to the chief of the railway mail service, asking for an extension of mail trains Nos. 5 and 6, which would mean that a passenger train would arrive in O'Neill going west at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and going east would pass through O'Neill at about 3 o'clock in the morning.

TAKEN UP—On my place 10 miles north and four miles east of O'Neill, on Wednesday, May 8, 1901, one dark bay horse about 8 years old; weight about 900; star in forehead. Owner may have same by proving property and paying expenses.—Charles Berger, 46-2

A gang of tramps attempted to do the city Sunday night, unsuccessful attempts being made to burglarize three different houses, but a shot from a revolver at one place dampened their ardor and operations were suspended.

G. A. R. HAVE BIRTHDAY PARTY

The old war veterans and their wives are at present taking an active part in social functions and enjoying the hospitality of each other's homes. A company of comrades met at the home of B. F. Sanders on Tuesday and in a fitting manner celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of Mr. Sanders' birthday. Dinner was served and the way the veterans handled the delicacies prepared for the occasion the indication is that the passing years have not spoiled their appetites. The afternoon was spent in a social way recounting incidents of war days and incidentally an informal meeting was held to devise plans for memorial day exercises. Arrangements will be made to have one of the best decoration day programs ever prepared in the city. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Sanders, Captain and Mrs. Walker; Mr. and Mrs. James Jacobs, T. V. Norvall, D. Molar, S. Beavers, A. W. Knapp, S. G. Smith, E. P. Hicks and H. R. Henry; Messrs. E. H. Thompson, J. Foreman, and Mesdames Ellis, Mullihan and McGowan.

On Thursday, May 30, 10 o'clock a. m., Coburn Post No. 251, Grand Army of the Republic, and Woman's Relief Corps No. 142, will observe memorial day at the Marquette chapel at Leonia. A general invitation is extended to Sunday schools and all benevolent associations. Soldiers not members of the post and their families, are especially invited to attend. Col. B. W. Johnson will deliver the oration. Music by Binkard's martial band.

T. Siminon, Commander.
R. E. Bowden, Adjutant.

Memorial services will be held at the Methodist church at Page on Sunday, May 26, at 10:30 a. m., preaching by Rev. Baldwin. Also on May 30 an address will be given by the presiding elder of the Methodist Episcopal church.

N. Vanvery, Commander.
D. C. Harrison, Adjutant.

Post No. 347, Grand Army of the Republic, and the citizens of southern Holt county in general, will observe memorial day at Chambers. A cordial invitation is extended to every body. C. H. Stillwell, Commander.

To Remove Or Improve Cemetery.

At the adjourned meeting of Prospect Hill cemetery association held last Monday evening the principal matter discussed was the present location of the cemetery and its effect upon the health of the people of O'Neill. As it had not been announced that the question would come up, the meeting adjourned till Monday evening, May 20, at 8 o'clock p. m., to convene at the same place, for a further discussion of the same question. A committee, consisting of B. S. Gillespie, J. J. King and Rev. Beckes, was appointed and instructed to consult the physicians with reference to the same and report at next meeting.

All persons should be interested in the burial of the dead and the health of themselves and families. Do not stay at home thinking that you are not members of the association; while it has officers it has no membership. Everybody has a voice and a vote in its management. And while we sell lots to defray our general expenses no one is refused a burial place simply because he has not the price of a lot. Come everybody, for we need your assistance in this matter.

E. H. Benedict, Chairman.
Mrs. W. T. Evans, Secretary.

The Sioux City Tribune says: "William Whitfield, who had his left foot amputated a week ago Sunday, is getting along well at Samaritan hospital, and was out on the porch today. He has been employed by Davidson Brothers for five years. Some time ago he injured his foot while playing baseball. Chicago experts found nothing could save it and he came back and submitted to an operation." It is nearly two years ago that Will hurt his foot while living in O'Neill and he has suffered much with it. His friends here regret that the accident cost him a foot.

An exchange thinks that next year we may expect to read something like the following in the daily papers: "About 10 o'clock this morning a horseless milk wagon loaded with cowless milk collided with a brainless rider on a chainless wheel. The luckless wheelman was badly injured, and being homeless, he was taken in a horseless cab to the home of the friendless."

Columbus Journal: Holt county northwest of us is becoming quite a "stamping ground" for stock. From every direction in Nebraska herds have been seen driven there this season, and now comes the Orb Times with this additional drive: "A special train bearing ten cars of young cattle arrived over the U. P. Sunday and were unloaded. They were shipped by a foreign firm, were from Colorado, and were driven to Holt county for summer pasturage. The overland trip, a distance of fifty-five miles, was begun immediately, a number of Ord's embryo cowboys going with them, and the trip occupying about three days."

John V. Murphy arrived in O'Neill Sunday night with the body of their two weeks old child which died in Park City, Utah, last January and on Sunday morning laid the little one to rest in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery. John will remain here two or three weeks visiting friends before returning to his home in Park City. It is six years since he left O'Neill and he says he is surprised at the improved appearance of the town and country, it being much better than he expected to find it.

Some American educators are beginning to advocate that music be placed on an equal footing with other sciences on the curriculum. Certainly the importance of both the science and the art of music, only as beneficial in school work but as of inestimable value in the development of character, is being recognized more and more each year.

The Epworth League down at Columbus have hit upon a unique plan for an entertainment. One thousand silk worms will be put on exhibition about one week during their spinning period beginning the 27th. Lectures will be given each evening about silk worms and their environments.

MORRISON ACQUITTED; MORRISON GUILTY

District court adjourned Wednesday after being in session since last Thursday on the two cases of the state against Lee and Henry Morrison. While the trials were two separate cases the charges were identical, the defendant in each case charged on three counts, assault with intent to kill, assault with intent to wound and assault with intent to do great bodily injury. A. F. Mullen as county attorney prosecuted the cases, assisted in the trial of Thomas by M. F. Harrington. R. R. Dickson was defendant's attorney. J. J. Schweitzer and wife were the principal state witnesses and testified in the first and Lee's trial that he (Lee) did the stabbing. The defendant denied the charge and Thomas went on in behalf of his brother and stated that he (Thomas) was the one that did the stabbing. This testimony conflicted with the idea that had become prevalent that Lee had done the cutting and cleared him while it fixed the deed upon Thomas. Mr. Schweitzer had always said, and so testified in court, that Lee used the knife on him. Lee's case went to the jury at noon Friday and a verdict of acquittal was arrived at Sunday at 8 p. m.

The jury in the other case was empaneled Saturday and the trial was concluded Tuesday evening, a verdict for assault and battery being returned Wednesday morning. Defendant waived motion for a new trial and Judge Harrington pronounced sentence of six months confinement in the county jail and a fine of $50 and costs of trial. The defendant pleaded self-defense in using a knife. The state did not call Mrs. Schweitzer to the stand in the last trial.

Both were notable trials and brought out some interesting things. Attorney Dickson fought them hard and in the last case made one of the best pleas ever heard in the O'Neill court-house, while Messrs. Harrington and Mullen made strong and eloquent pleas in behalf of the state.

The Butte Gazette publishes this, with authorship ascribed to Dime Short: I only wish and wish and wish that I could fish and fish and fish, I'd like to sit the livelong day upon a bale of prairie hay, down where the river sadly walls, and fish for suckers and for whales. 'Tis shameful that on this free soil, a man must toil and toil and toil, and grunt and swear and strive and groan, and bust his martingale and moan, grow old and bald before his time, in following the festive dime. Ah, life would be a pleasant dream, if I could sit beside the stream with rod in hand, at early dawn, no comrade but a demijohn (the latter filled with lemonade)—to sit their in the dowsy shade—what higher bliss could mortal wish? Ah, let us go and fish and fish.
