Dr. Sardeson tells us he has received word from the Iowa state veterinary school relative to specimens from a diseased hog and a heifer which he sent in some weeks ago and which The Frontier published at the time. The hog, the college reports, had no tuberculosis but was infested with innumerable microbes of contagious swine plague of the carbuncular form and the principal difficulty was defined to be actrynomices which litterly peppered the spleen, liver and lungs. The specimen from the heifer showed the critter in the last stages of consumption.

W. W. Page was before the board of insanity this week for the second time within the last year. He was at the asylum at Norfolk during the winter but was pronounced sane at that institution and was sent home. The unfortunate man seems to have had no permanent improvement and will be returned to the asylum.

T. E. Armitstead, of Sioux City, representing the Hanford Hazelwood Co., was in the city Wednesday and made arrangements with P. C. Corrigan to handle the Hazelwood ice cream, which is more or less famous from one extremity of the country to the other among patrons of summer tables, by reason of its purity of cream and freedom from gelatin, crystal flake or other adulterations. The Hanford-Hazelwood company conducts the largest creamery establishment in the world, with factories at Sioux City, Spokane, Wash., and Portland, Ore. Mr. Armitstead will supply this territory with his product through Mr. Corrigan.
The marriage of Mr. Charles Stout and Miss Kathryn Dwyer was solemnized at St. Patrick's church in O'Neill at 6 o'clock Monday morning in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. Mr. P. L. Gallagher acted as best man and Miss Tess O'Sullivan was the maid of honor. The bride was gowned in white mousseline de sole over white taffeta silk with demi train and upper part of skirt striped with white satin ribbon with three graduated ruffles finished with ruffles of same material at the bottom, and wore a corsage with deep yoke of white silk applique with white satin trimming. The groom wore the customary black. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Dwyer, who reside northeast of town, where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Stout departed on the 10 o'clock F. E. passenger for Omaha and after a week's absence will make their home in O'Neill. Mr. Stout is the efficient clerk at the drug store of Gilligan & Stout and has been one of the popular young men of the city since he came here a few years ago. The bride is an O'Neill young lady well known to everybody. The Frontier extends to Mr. and Mrs. Stout its hearty congratulations.

The confirmation service held at the Catholic church on Monday were the most impressive religious exercises ever held in O'Neill. The Frontier regrets its inability to give this occasion the comprehensive publicity it deserves but owing to disappointment in not getting a report as relied upon we are compelled to go to press without it. As stated last week, Bishop Scannell officiated at the services. Some two hundred children were marched from the convent to the church where confirmation was given them. The large church edifice was filled to the fullest capacity and crowds filled the entrance and jostled each other on the walks to the gate.
Mr. S. J. Weekes of O'Neill and Miss Emma Dickinson of Tekamah were united in marriage at the home of the bride yesterday. The Frontier has none of the particulars of the nuptials at hand, but understands Mr. and Mrs. Weekes departed Wednesday evening for Chicago, where they will remain a few days before leaving for Buffalo, N. Y. They will spend a couple of weeks in the east, arriving in O'Neill about July 1. The bride is a daughter of District Judge Dickinson of Tekamah and a prominent young lady of that city. Mr. Weekes is too well known to the people of O'Neill and Holt county to need any introduction by us. He is one of the prominent republicans of Holt county and has served on the district and state committees. At present he is register of the O'Neill land office, which position he holds with credit to himself and party. Mr. and Mrs. Weekes will make their home in the J. P. Mann residence, which Mr. Weekes bought.

Strange Elopement.
Bassett Eagle: A girl named Cora Quinn eloped from her home near Ainsworth a week ago last Saturday, with Al Burge. They stopped in Bassett, sent the rig with which they came back to Ainsworth, took the train to O'Neill, where they were located by the girl's relatives. She refused to go home and also refused to marry Burge, saying she wanted to work out and earn her own living.

Last .. Call

No doubt you intend to settle your account with me before I leave O'Neill, as I don't want to have a single good account unsettled. For the few remaining days I will be in O'Neill I will be very busy invoicing and arranging my affairs for the change and you will do me a great favor if you will respond promptly to this notice, as it will be impossible for me to see or notify you personally. If you have been accommodated, you can now reciprocate; and rest assured it will be fully appreciated by yours truly,

J. P. MANN
