Bistinguishing Odors

Few of us, it seems, are able to distinguish any large number of odors. A writer in nature, discussing the rise of the new chemical industry of producing artificial perfumes, remarks that the sense of smell is as yes wholly uncultured. "In walking through the country," he says, "we can rarely identify a particular odor until we see the plant from which it emanates." He suggests that the neglected sense of smell may be capable of as artistic developments as that which color perception has attained.

Niagara Falls Like a Midway.

Niagara Falls looks like a veritable midway. There are fakirs and side shows of every kind and description from the bearded lady to the threehorned cow, that has attracted the small boy and his elders, too, for that matter, for many years in the circus side shows. The Buffalo exposition is, of course, the cause of all this additional effort at amusement, as it is calculated fully nine-tenths of the people that visit the exposition during the summer will journey to Niagara.-Washington Star.

All Rose to Say Grace.

John Lawrence Toole, the most popular low comedian of his day, gave a supper to eighty of his friends, and wrote a note to each of them privately beforehand, asking him whether he would be so good as to say grace, as no clergyman would be present. It is said that the faces of those eighty men as they rose in a body when Toole tapped on the table as a signal for grace was a sight which will never be forgotten.

The passengers numbered 282,000, this being the highest number on record, except that of 1896.

Old Presidents Not Many.

In connection with Senator Allison's declaration that he is too old to run for President, he being now 72, it may be mentioned that so far no man once three score and ten has ever been elected chief magistrate of the nation. Only five over 60 have been so honored. These were John Adams, 62; Andrew Jackson, 62; William Henry Harrison, 68; Zachary Taylor, 65, and James Buchanan, 66.

Amenities of Ancient Warfare.

During the sieges of mediaeval times was very uncommon for the beleaguers to throw from their catapults and other military engines dead bodies of dogs, swine, together with pieces of horseflesh and similar carrion into the city or castle besieged in order that the defenders might, by the stench of this putridity, be forced to surrender.

Great Seacousts of Canada. The eastern Canadian seacoast, from the Bay of Funday to the straits of Belle Isle, covers a distance of 5,000 miles, and British Columbia, with its multitude of bays and mountainous islands, has a seacoast of 7,180 miles, and a salt-water inshore area, not including minor indentations; of 1,500 square miles.

'Quin made his last appearance on the stage as Falstaff. The occasion was the benefit of his friend Ryan and the result such a financial success that the beneficiary wrote Quin the following year saying that he would like to repeat the benefit and asking him as a favor to appear once more in the same part. Quin in the meantime had lost two of his front teeth-a loss which so interferred with his speech that he declined his friend's request. War Destroys Forests.

Twenty-five years ago, in 1876, Servia was clothed with forests and was aptly termed "the land of the forest," but the Servian-Turco troubles of 1876-78 played havoc with the forests. Thousands of acres were stripped of trees in order to serve for fortifications or to bar the advance of the Turkish army or to warm the great masses of troops that camped on the land during two winters. The war was followed by a period of ruthless destruction of the forests, vast tracts being sold at a ridiculous price or denuded to supply the railroads.
