The appointment of Deaver to the O'Neill land office causes popocratic boosters a deal of worry.

Possibly enough whole timber can be resurrected from the Chicago and Kansas City platforms to make a good stout coffin for the democratic jackass.

Politics and religion are the father and mother of prejudice. The man or woman who is not prejudiced from one or the other cause is a curiosity.

The American peach crop is said to be the largest in many years, 25,000,000 bushels being grown this year. This does not prevent the dealer from holding up his customer at 30 cents a dozen.

Polk county republicans, so far as we observed, were the only ones to denounce the Bartley parole in their convention. Perhaps Polk county republicans only gave expression to what Nebraska republicans in general feel.

A committee of twelve workmen from England are visiting the eastern states studying the methods of American workmen. Natural resources combined with American skill is fast bringing the old world to the feet of the young republic it once disdained.

The United States has 184,532 miles of railroad; Germany, 29,987 miles; Russia, 28,357; France, 25,862; Great Britain, 23,534. The United States carries 912,973,853 tons of freight annually; Great Britain, 437,043,265; Germany, 275,020,000; France, 120,487,000; Russia, 97,140,000. This is a fair barometer of the commercial activity of the five leading nations, and Americans can look with a degree of commendable pride upon the figures that place their country in the lead with a greater commerce than all Europe.

There is no demand for a one-cent letter postage. Postage is cheap enough, but there is a demand for the reforms in the postal laws that will more equally distribute salaries to those underpaid and overworked employed of the vast system, which is the greatest business concern on earth. There is need of requiring a great deal of printed matter, which now passes through the mails as second class, to pay third class rates, or even more. There are scores of publications now using the mails that have no regular legitimate subscription circulation, but subsist upon fakes that advertise in them; and literature is peddled through sub-agencies and newspapers loaning lists to quack and fakes who pay a small sum for their use. It is time the mails were purged of the tons of stuff that pay about one-fourth what they should pay.

World-Herald: As autumn approaches trade in Omaha's wholesale district increases, and if the business of the week that has just closed can be taken as an index of what is to follow there is no doubt but what this season will be a record breaker and that more goods will have been sold by the first of the new year than during any previous year in the history of Omaha's wholesale interests.

That's good. Readers of the World-Herald will be pleased to learn that Omaha wholesalers are outstripping themselves, the predictions of distress and calamity made by the World-Herald in times of political excitement to the contrary notwithstanding. The activity in Omaha wholesale circles indicates, too, that the country merchants are doing a business corresponding in proportions, and that, too, the people in general have money with which to buy.

Missouri Governors Are Contented.

It is a curious fact that although Missouri elected its first governor more than eighty years ago, is one of the largest and most prosperous states of the country, and that from its geographical position on the border line between North and South, has occupied an important position in national affairs, not one of its governors has ever been conspicuous in national politics, with the single exception of B. Gratz Brown, who ran for vice-president in 1872 and was overwhelmingly defeated for that office.—New York Sun.

Habitat of Canaries.

Canaries, which were originally green and gray in color, were native to the islands from which they take their name, and were first taken to England on ships plying between English ports and the south of France. From this stock have been derived a number of distinct varieties, such as the crested, the green, the lizard, which imitates the reptile in its variegated markings, and the Beigan, which has a strange, hump-backed appearance.

Greatest in the World.

The United States is the greatest food producing country of the world. Although this country represents but one-fifth of the total civilized population of the world it produces more than one-fourth of all the food stuffs. The United States produces 74,000,000 tons of grain of a total of 229,000,000, and 4,500,000 tons of meat of a total of 15,200,000 tons. The Americans also produce a large percentage of the dairy and fishery production of the world.

Alcohol for French Motors.

Builders of motor cars in France are strongly convinced that the future of the industry lies in the utilization of alcohol. Owners have little hope of petroleum being cheapened to any considerable extent. They are looking for further economy to alcohol, the utilization of which, it is supposed, will not only save them money, but will revive a languishing national industry at the expense of imported petroleum.

Woman's College of Matrimony.

A woman's college of matrimony is a new century idea, which, it is reported, will be put into practical execution in Chelsea, England. The duties of a wife will become the subject of a two years' course of study. The curriculum will embrace not only the usual branches of house-wifery, such as cooking, sewing and laundry work, but is intended to deal with physiology and medicine as well.

Answered a Hypothetical Question.

A school girl of Passaic, N. J., was asked this question by her teacher: "If you had $20, how long would it take you to go to Washington, and by what route would you travel?" The next day she disappeared with $20 of her mother's money and later was found in the national capital, seeking a practical answer to the query.

May Spoil Paris Boulevard.

Paris is threatened with an elevated structure in its finest streets. It is proposed to build a moving sidewalk, like that used in the late exposition, to run along the Avenue l'Opera, the grand Boulevards, the Boulevard Sebastopol, the Rue Turbigo and the Rue de Rivoli, a circuit of about six miles.

Curious Relic of Old Rome.

During some excavations in the Forum at Rome, the laborers unearthed the head and part of the body of a marble horse. It is a magnificent piece of sculpture, and great value has been placed upon it. According to experts, the relic dates from about the second century before Christ.

Count "Bill," the Favored Son.

Count William Bismarck, who died recently at the early age of 48, was the favorite son of the Iron Chancellor. Count "Bill," as his father always called him, was the godson of the first kaiser. He and his elder brother served with distinction in the war of 1870.

King Has Job to Give.

By the death of Colonel that Hon. Charles G. C. Eliot the office of gentleman usher in daily waiting on the king has become vacant. The salary is £250 a year, with allowances for board and lodging during the four months of annual duty.

Portrait of Justice Miller.

Thomas Wilson, formerly a member of the Iowa bar, has presented to the United States supreme court a large portrait of the late Justice Samuel F. Miller, painted by Mr. Witt, a New York artist, during the life of Judge Miller.

Helping Tulane Library.

Mrs. Caroline Stannard Tilton of New Orleans, has given $50,000 for a Tilton Memorial Library at Tulane University in that city, and Miss Bettie Beirne Miles has added $1,000 for the purchase of books.

Fog Lifts, Just Once.

The air in the English channel was so clear one day recently that the dome of Boulogne cathedral, twenty-eight miles away, could be clearly seen from Dover with the naked eye.

Approaching the Poles.

Explorers have approached within 233 miles of the North Pole, but the nearest approach to the South Pole has been 772 miles.

Picks Gaining in Australia.

One of the problems before the Australian federal ministry is that of the preservation of a white Australia. M. Barton has recently paid a visit to northern Queensland with a view to better understanding the problem of gradually prohibiting black labor on the sugar plantations. One of the plantations he visited has 2,500 acres under the cane and is irrigated by the waters from the Burnes river. The proprietors are about to spend £30,000 ($150,000) on a new pumping plant to lift water at the rate of 10,000,000 gallons a day.

Indians Have Pianos.

As an illustration of wealth among Indians it is officially stated that the homes of the most progressive Osages compare favorably with the dwellings of white people of equal wealth. Their houses are richly furnished with carpets and modern furniture, and in many homes there are pianos, upon which the daughters are taught to perform. Horses and carriages are not infrequent, and though the automobile has not yet made its appearance, it is not an impossibility of the future.

Largest City South of the Line.

Ten census returns for the metropolitan district of Sydney, N. S. W., have just been published and show that during the past ten years its population has increased by a little over 100,000 persons. The total is now 386,859, of whom 197,227 are males, 189,632 females. Sydney now ranks as one of the large cities of the world. It is the largest city south of the line. The United States only contains six larger cities.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Law Library Refuses Legacy.

The stockholders of the Milwaukee Law Library association have decided not to accept the $10,000 legacy left the association in the will of Ammi R. R. Butler of that city on the condition that the name be changed to the Butler Law Library association. It was thought that the suggested change would be unfair to the late B. K. Miller, who made a handsome gift to the association a few years ago.

The Naming of Dotson.

Dotson, a hamlet ten miles east of Middlesboro, Ky., was founded many years ago by a pioneer named Lewis Dotson. A few days ago there was a double wedding there, the grooms being William and John Dotson, brothers, and the brides Anna and Daisy Dotson, sisters. The officiating clergyman was Rev. John Dotson and all parties were descendants of the original Lewis.

Endowment of $100,000.

J. V. Thompson of Uniontown, Pa., has given $100,000 for the endowment of the president's chair at Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa. This is to be a memorial to his father and mother, the sum being just what he received from their estate. His father, the late Jasper M. Thompson, was trustee of the college.

Monument to Martyred Governor.

A monument has been erected in Santa Fe, N. M., to Governor Albino Perez, who was assassinated with other officials during the revolution of 1837. The monument was placed on the spot of the assassination by Sunset Chapter, D. A. R., which has undertaken to mark all historic spots in the territory.

Gift of Redemption Rock.

Senator Hoar of Massachusetts, who some years ago bought Redemption rock, in Princeton, Mass., where Mrs. Rawlinson was ransomed from the Indians by John Hoar, the first of the name in this country, in 1676, has presented the property to John Hoar, son of the late Sherman Hoar of Concord.

Bristle Portrait of Washington.

Gustav Korn, a New York brush-maker, has made a life-size portrait of George Washington in bristles of various colors, taking Stuart's celebrated painting for a model. The bristle picture is said to be quite a work of art. It is on exhibition in the window of a Pearl street store.

The Biggest Living Man.

The biggest living man is said to be Lewis Wilkins, who was born near St. Paul, Minn., in 1874. When but 10 years old he measured 6 feet in height, and now has grown to 107 1/4 inches—just three-quarters of an inch less than 9 feet—and weighs 364 pounds.

Aristocracy's Donation to Charity.

At a charity benefit recently given and attended by New York society people the proceeds, which came from a basket collection, amounted to exactly $30, an average contribution of five cents for each of the 600 persons present.

Brow-Furrows, Trouse-Creases.

Judge Jenks of the New York Supreme Court told the New York law school the other day that "the man with the furrows on his brow wins against the man with the creases in his trousers every time."

Jersey Etchre Prizes.

A woman who entertained the West Hoboken (N. J.) Euchre club last week furnished litters for the booby prizes and fox terrier pups for the man and woman with the highest score.

Forty Counties Without Lawyers.

There are forty counties in Texas which have to seek legal advice outside their limits, as they have not a single attorney of their own.
