Barry, the fuseocrats gave him nomination because they knew there was no show of an election.

Up-to-date, Bryan has failed to conculate Aguinaldo on the showing made for him by Admiral Dewey before the senate committee.

The bill proposing to open a part of Rosebud lands to white settlers failed to pass congress and many are disappointed thereby. It will probably be one of the first bills passed at the next session of congress.

It might be a little embarrassing, but it would be quite a proper question for some populist to ask Candidate Simpson whether he will vote for B. Hill for president in case he is elected democratic candidate in 1904.

John H. Mickey came to Nebraska in 1868, settled on a homestead, made money and raised a family of nine children. A pretty good record for a candidate for governor. That he will be elected is the opinion of those who are in touch with the political situation in Nebraska.

The Edict is a new paper at Columbus by Ewing and Walker. It is republican politically, starts out with a good advertising patronage and is attractive in appearance. Columbus has been called the "newspaper graveyard," but The Frontier believes the Edict will prove a misnomer so far as the Edict is concerned.

The name of J. J. King has been mentioned quite frequently in connection with the republican nomination for county attorney by the republicans throughout the county. Mr.
 King is a good lawyer, has a large acquaintance throughout the county and if nominated would undoubtedly be elected. This is a republican year and the land pirates are doomed to defeat.

The fusionists in convention at Kearney nominated P. H. Barry, of Greeley county for congress. Two years ago when the populists had an overwhelming majority in the district Mr. Barry was a candidate for the nomination and could come no where near the nomination. This year the allied forces are in the minority and Barry gets the nomination after the convention failed to induce two or three other men to accept the nomination. Looks as if they liked to have the General killed off.

Our contemporary over the postoffice asks us to figure out how we are going to elect Judge Kinkaid this fall. Well here it is. It is a matter of official record that two years ago the judge was defeated by a majority of just 209 votes in the entire district. At that time Butte county was just about off politically, but at the last election it gave a republican majority in the state ticket. A gain of 209 votes in a year. Now there are thirty-two other counties in the district which will average just as well, making now a republican majority in the district of 6,600. Laying aside all presumption, percentage and calculation, we state as a cold, candid, official fact, shown by the official abstract of the vote, that the election last fall Sedgewick, the head of the republican ticket, received in the thirty-three counties, comprising the Sixth congressional district, just 1,663 more votes than were cast for Hollenbeck, the head of the fusion ticket. We will give you a few more lessons as the campaign progresses.—Alliance Times.

SOME HOT SHOTS.

Hon. Thomas Taggart, who was recently endorsed by his state convention for chairman of the democratic national committee, was at the Tilden Club banquet swinging incense before the unrepentant apostate from New Jersey. It is well that the democrats of the nation learn thus early of the kind of politics to be expected when Indiana's favorite son takes the helm.—Commoner.

REORGANIZATION IN ILLINOIS.

The democrats of Illinois might as well face the fact that the state organization is now in the hands of the reorganizers. They controlled the late state convention, dictated the platform and turned the party machinery over to John P. Hopkins. * * * Those who dominated the convention were themselves so dominated by the great financial interests of the country that they were incapable of representing the people at large.

With Hopkins in control of the party machinery the platform is, however, immaterial, because he could not be trusted with the carrying out of a platform embodying the Sermon on the Mount. He was the chief of the Palmer and Buckner forces in 1896, and conducted a campaign of fraud and deception. Failing to break up the party from the outside he returned to the regular organization in 1900, and there is every reason to believe that he came back, not to assist the party, but to use the party to forward republican schemes. By the aid of corporate influence he became the head of the state committee, and as long as he is the source of democratic authority the party in Illinois will be essentially a republican party. It will be worse than no party, for he will keep it from taking advantage of republican mistakes. His presence at the head of the organization is an insult to the intelligence, honesty and loyalty of the rank and file. His past record and his present methods will draw to the party only the venal and the corrupt, while they will alienate those whose soul ambition is to see the government administered according to Jefferson's maxim of equal rights to all and special privileges to none.—Commoner.

In face of the above the populists of Nebraska have practically forsaken their organization and submitted to being swallowed by the democratic organization which to all appearances is being reorganized along the Cleveland line of thought.

How pleasing this must be to populists.

GOT SOMETHING ON HIM.

Colored Preacher's Presence of Mind Good in Emergency.

Uncle Buck Taylor, a veteran negro preacher, who is a character in Rappahannock county, Va., is the hero of a story that sent the column from Linden, that state, in the midst of an old-fashioned Baptist meeting in Crooked Run, he was interrupted in a terrifying description of hell by a pretentious young negro, who held that Uncle Buck's ideas were unworthy of intelligent consideration, and told the congregation that education had killed off such notions of the hereafter. The old man recovered himself, however, and, when his opponent had resumed his seat, went on:

"Le'me tell yo' one thing—all up yo' ahre mo' worthy of Hebbin an' mo' shuah up it than that sem'nary nigger. Pared to him, we ahre all as shuah up hebbin as I am shuah to kill dat fly!"

The pulpit shook as his big, black hand descended on the Bible. He peered forward, looked scared for a moment, and then, a boyish smile spreading over his face, the old man genially explained:

"Dam' he didn't done git away—but I—I got his eyelash, brudders and sisters!"

Fired at the Crisis.

After Gen. Scott captured the City of Mexico, during the Mexican war, Col. Childs was placed in command of the troops in Puebla. Among the officers there were Major H. L. Kendrick and Lieut. Selden. Kendrick was dry in humor and quaint in speech. After the fall of the city Santa Anna hovered around Puebla with a large command of cavalry, keeping Col. Childs in a state of alarm. In one of the forts Kendrick commanded and Selden under him. One morning the enemy was reported rapidly advancing on the fort. Childs rushed to the fort, shouting to Kendrick: "The crisis is coming—the crisis is coming! Why don't you fire?" Kendrick turned to Selden and quietly said: "Mr. Selden, commence firing." Selden asked:
 "What am I to fire at?" "Oh," said Kendrick, "fire at the crisis." So Selden's guns thundered at the crisis.
