Spencer Advocate: W. H. Mullen, who graduated from the Northwestern Dental College, of Chicago, last March has pitched his tent among us and will now be a resident and business man of this growing burg. The Advocate extends the glad hand of welcome to Dr. Mullen, and predicts for him a splendid practice because he has taken the time and gone to the expense to fully qualify himself for his profession; and, again he is among friends and acquaintances who know Will never does things by halves, and all believe in him because of his honorable, clean life from boyhood, hence are not afraid to recommend him to the general public. He will fit up a suite of rooms in good shape, and with his complete up-to-date outfit of tools and machinery will be excellently equipped to do first class work. He expects to open up his office on June 15—that is, one week from next Monday.

jects desired, but a few were handled very much to the point, and a short time after six o'clock adjournment was taken for supper.

The evening session at the opera house—how shall it be described. Before attempting to do so the Graphic wishes to say that it only voices the sentiments of every guest in thanking most heartily the committees and individuals who in any way contributed to this great social success, in decorations, in music, refreshments, in oratory, in whole-souled sociability manifested in ways that sent every guest home declaring that Atkinson citizens were the best people on earth and Atkinson the best town anywhere.

The arrangements were apparently perfect. The large room was fitted with small tables at which guests and citizens were seated while a group of Atkinson's fairest young ladies served refreshments and the Atkinson Parlor Orchestra discoursed their best music which meant second to no body's. The musical program was further enhanced by a violin solo by Miss Rose Scott and a vocal solo by Miss Phoebe Scott, both of which won the hearts of the audience to these charming and talented young ladies.

Rev. Father Muenich caught the spirit of the occasion and sang a comic song, playing his own accompaniment, and was immediately compelled to respond to an encore in like manner.

G. M. G. Cooper, of Rushville, responded to the toast "Influence of the Press," in a fitting and eloquent manner, and L. M. Bates, of Longpine, responded to "The Ladies" in a manner that made his popularity paramount the remainder of the evening.

One of the best features of the program, and one which was encored and repeated, was a comic operetta rendered by Misses Rose and Phoebe Scott and Willis Murphy, assisted by Mr. Sweet of O'Neill, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Scott.

Rev. Muenich delivered the toast to "Our Guests," and with his eloquence and wit captured the audience.

Too Much for Senator Allison

The Senate was discussing the project of filling in near Ellis Island and making ground for some immigration station buildings. The paragraph in the sundry civil appropriation bill read: "A new island near Ellis Island." Senator Keen of New Jersey allowed that if there were to be any new islands in the vicinity they should be ceded to New Jersey. They struck out the word "new," and Senator Allison read the phrase "an island." "That won't do," said Senator Aldrich hastily. "Make it 'an island.'" "Make it a continent if you like," snuffed Senator Allison, whose grammar had been corrected, "but establish your geographical basis and let's get on."
