A Complete Report On Nebraska Crops

ercp report today giving the total acreages of all crops raised in Nebraska, by counties, the number of head of live stock, the acreages of timber and of vegetables. The entire report is by counties and has been compiled after careful research on the part of Mr. Bush and his assistant, Chief Clerk Don Despain. The two men have personally inspected the growing crops and have compiled their acreages from the reports of the precinct and township assessors made to the county clerks as provided by statute. An important feature of the report is the percentage of condition with 100 as perfect. Advance sheets of the report have been prepared for publication. In a resume of the conditions of the principal crops the report says:

"Conditions early in the season were such as to warrant the expectation of the greatest wheat crop in the history of Nebraska. Hail and wind have visited

The south central portion has received the greatest damage. In this particular district Harlan county seems to have fared worst, it having sixty-six sections almost totally de-stroyed. Throughout the south central portion the average yield has been de-creased from 10 to 15 bushels per acre.

"The north central portion has excellent prospects. Custer county especially will yield an immense crop of all grains together with alfalfa and hay. "The standing of the southern part of the state is 90, the central 94 and the northern 91. The average estimated yield of wheat by counties appears in the 'summary by counties.

ESTIMATE OF WHEAT. "After close inspection and observation by officials of the department, supplemented by conservative opinions of experienced producers in all sections of the state, the department supplemented by conservative opinions of experienced pro-age yield of winter wheat in the state at eighteen bushels per acre and the total yield at 35,200,000 bushels.

"The average yield of spring wheat is estimated at twelve bushels per acre and total yield of 5,450,000 bushels. CORN.

"The general condition of the corn crop over the state is far below normal, not ranking over 78. With a frost at the nor-mal period, about the 15th of September, there should be 75 per cent of a corn crop. This will be increased or diminished according to the date of the frost and freeze following. Corn is now look ing much better than a fortnight ago and prospects for a crop are correspondingly brighter.

"The corn crop has made wonderful progress in view of the handicap caused by late seeding. Inis will seriously affect the yield in spite of a late frost, because when the corn begins to ear it will not have had its growth and instead of all the vitality going to the ear, a large corn than if conditions had been normal. The condition of the southern counties is 75, central counties 84, northern counties

"The oat crop is an enigma so far as estimating is concerned, because of the irregularity of the stand and prospects. There is no uniformity of appearances. Nevertheless there will be a normal yield of oats and the condition found by observation over the state is 92. The central and northern portions of the state will yield better in oats than the southern The condition in the central portion is 94, in the northern 92."

A summary of the acreages not given in the county tabulation is as follows: Sugar beets, 11,160 acres; timothy, 238,-641 acres; sorghum cane, 128,698 acres; Irish potatoes, 69,102 acres; broom corn, 2,373 acres; clover, 54,635 acres; blue grass, 172,881 acres; other tame grass, 298,515 acres; timber, 311,215 acres.

The Astors at Court.

William Waldorf Astor has never recovered his social footing in London since he snubbed one of King Edward's friends by turning him out of doors when he came to the Astor residence without invitation, having been brought there by one of the guests, with whom he had been din-ing. But the royal cold shoulder does not extend to the expatriated American's son, for young Waldorf is quite popular at court. He was even included among the small number of 'personal friends of their majesties" who were invited to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the king's wed-

TECUMSEH.-Roy Pickering, who lives in the northern part of this county, came very near being killed. He was threshing for N. O. Biner and was sitting on the separator with his feet close to the fast revolving rod which operates the self-feeder. The rod caught his pants legs and began to pull him into the machine. With rare presence of mind Mr. Pickering rolled over and caught hold of some timbers on the machine and held with tenacious grip while his trousers shoes, and stockings were stripped from him and hurled through the cylinders and into the straw stack.
