Committee on resolutions reported as follows:

We, the republicans of Holt county, Nebraska, in convention assembled renew our allegiance to the principles enunciated in the republican national platform of 1900.

We heartily endorse the wise, patriotic and courageous administration of President Roosevelt. We commend his fearless and searching inquiry into the alleged charges of misconduct in the postal department and hope the investigation will be continued until the guilty are punished and the innocent vindicated.

We endorse the policy of President Roosevelt on the trust question.

The business like administration of the present state official we heartily endorse.

The official and economical act of our republican county officials, including the republican members of the county board, meets with our approval and endorsement.

We pledge the party and the nominees of this convention to a continuance of the honesty and economical management of county affairs.

We call attention to the fact that the position of the republican party in this county on tax foreclosures has been sustained by the supreme court of the state; and, whereas, the county and its tax payers have been subjected to a great amount of unnecessary and unjust cost by the illegal proceedings instituted by the populists when in power and continued by the present county attorney, therefore be it resolved that we adhere to our former position on the question of county tax foreclosures, and we demand that the county treasurer collect all taxes both real and personal in the manner provided by the constitution and the laws of the state of Nebraska, as recently interpreted by the supreme court.

Upon motion the convention adjourned. J. L. McDonald, Secretary.

"Rest" Rooms

Through the benediction of the dear gentle sex rooms for resting have been provided in a few Nebraska towns for tired country mothers when they come to town to do their trading. Central City women started the movement, of which the Nonpareil says: "The inauguration of a 'rest' room in Central City is being commented on quite generally by the papers of the state and several towns, following the example set by the ladies of this city, have established 'rest' rooms of their own. The county commissioners of Hall county have set aside three rooms of the new court house in Grand Island for this purpose and the intention is to fit them up in good style. There can be no doubt of the value of the idea and the liberal patronage which the rooms here receive is an evidence that they are popular among those whom they are intended to serve." 'Tis a good scheme. O'Neill could well afford something of the kind.

Twain Made One.

At the Methodist parsonage in this city on Wednesday the ceremony was performed uniting two hearts. In the presence of a few friends, Mr. Ernest T. Fuller of Meek and Miss Buelah Whl of Surprise, Neb., were married by Rev. Fetzer.

Mr. Fuller has for a number of years lived in northern Holt county and is known as a young man of excellent character, backed up by an abundance of energy and thrift.

The bride, who is a stranger here, has favorably impressed those who have met her, and Mr. Fuller has chosen wisely judging from manifest intelligence and amiableness of character.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller will soon be "at home" on a farm near Meek. The best wishes attend them on life's voyage.

Rev. Bartley Blain will occupy the M. E. pulpit on Sabbath morning. A cordial invitation to all to come out and hear Bro. Blain, who was the organizer of the M. E. church of this place.—Angus Fitzer.

Opportunity's Lament

"Blind is mankind! Ah, cruel is my fate!
Day after day I open wide the gate
Which leads to avenues and fields replete
With fortunes vast and fame for men whose feet
Pause at the portal while they curse their fate—
'Gainst all who hesitate I seal the gate."

"One from a thousand safely pass by:
'A lucky fellow!' all who tarry cry,
Although for them the gate was first flung wide.
'How long, O Lord,' for a res have I cried,
'Must I continue at this wretched task?
Make men to see; 'tis all the boon I ask.'"

A favorable turn in weather conditions has done much for growing vegetation the past few days as well as affording opportunity for the people to make hay. You can easily count the seasons on one hand without including the thumb when there was a demand for more sunshine and heat in this section, but just now million-dollar sunshine is the thing, and we have been getting it in gracious chunks the past few days.

Misses Anna Dwyer and Margaret McCarthy went to Omaha Saturday for a visit with Miss Dwyer's brother, Dr. T. J. Dwyer, for a fortnight. They will also visit at Gretna before returning. Miss Veronica McCarthy accompanied them as far as Meadow Grove.

"The democrats handed us a gold brick yesterday when they had us nominate a Cleveland goldbug democrat like John Harmon," remarked a prominent Holt county pop to the writer last Sunday morning. "I is a dose thar is too bitter for a large number of honest populist," he continued and they will register their objections at the polls next November.

William Fallon ruled the democratic county convention with an iron hand. Some of the delegates were dissatisfied with his manner of running things but when Bill said they would adjourn for thirty minutes to "get something to keep the spirit moving" he struck a popular chord for there was no opposition to adjournment. It was a genuine bourbon convention.

The feat of turning a somersault on the back of a galloping horse, or even while the animal is walking, is a difficult feat to accomplish. Good riders practice from four to five years before they are considered worthy of a public appearance. John Willis, the great somersault rider, is proficient in this calling and appears daily with Gollmar Bros.' big railroad shows and gigantic menagerie.

If you can't find him, he is out at the field trials. The trial of dog intelligence, speed and hunting abilities began Tuesday and have been the center of attraction and subject of discussion since the republican convention adjourned for a good many men. The Nebraska Field Trials association has made strenuous efforts to have these trials terminate successfully and the reports coming in show that dog and dogmen are pretty well satisfied.

Says We Make Trouble

A special from Lincoln to the World-Herald, dated August 13, says: Chief Deputy Game Warden Carter is having no end of trouble with violators of the game law up in Holt county. He finds that the people up there seem to apply the old state's rights doctrine to themselves on a small scale, hold that since there are birds enough there for their own consumption, they should be allowed to kill them whenever they please, as long as they do not ship them out of the county or state.

Mr. Carter states that last year he had some exciting times trying to convictions there, and that he was balked in his efforts because of the unanimous opinion of the county that the game laws should not apply to them. He expects a similar time again this year, but will attempt to stop the shooting of prairie chickens, which it is reported has already begun.

Prophecies of Fall

Chicago Tribune: As weather prophets the katydids are as trustworthy as the groundhogs, and the Chicago katydids have made their annual announcement that frost is but six weeks off. There have been other indications of fall. The "marked down" sale of summer goods has begun, and the new style of sealskin has already cast its spell over feminine minds. The schoolboy is turning uneasily in bed at the thought of the approaching lessons, and traveling teachers are making sure of their return tickets. People are heard to complain of the shortness of the days, and of a "fallish feeling" in the air. Of course there is some hot August weather yet to come, and even September, as every school child knows, is not without its days of unbearable heat, but still we have the katydid's words word for it that fall and frost are not far away.

FUSION FINDS A WAY

Holt County Populists and Democrats Wed for the Fight

HARMON WINS COURT CLERKSHIP

Separate Conventions, Each Getting Piece of Ticket.

Treas. . . D. J. Cronin, pop., incumbent Clerk . . . L. A. Jilson, pop., Atkinson Clerk Court, John A. Harmon, dem., O'Neill.
Sheriff . . . Will Purdy, dem., Inman Judge, J. M. Morgan, dem., incumbent Superintendent, R. E. Slaymaker, pop., Stuart.
Assessor, W. B. Cooper, pop., Chambers Coroner, Dr. B. T. Trueblood, incumbent.
Surveyor . . . M. F. Norton, incumbent

The above is the output of two separate conventions held in O'Neill last Saturday, the one under populism's banner, the other of the house Bourbons. The arrangement makes a fusion ticket, and gives the campaign for this fall but two tickets, as has been customary in the past. The conventions showed that pops are no longer the whole thing in "reform," but they must share with their equally ardent reform brethren, the democrats, the spoils of politics. They have some good men on their ticket, men who have not been in the habit of holding up the public or private, as the suspicious gang with whom, unfortunately, they are identified say all republicans are guilty, and which said gang is not in the best of repute in the public eye itself.

There was much activity in the democratic conclave over the contest for clerk of the district court. The battle lay between Frank Campbell and John Harmon, Harmon leading the plum.

Severe Attack Of Grip Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, Editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu."
