Millionaires' Poor Stomach.

The worn-out stomach of the overfed millionaire is often paraded in the public prints as a horrible example of the evils attendant on the possession of a great wealth. But millionaires are not the only ones who are afflicted with bad stomachs. The proportion is far greater among the toilers. Deyspepsia and indigestion are rampant among these people, and they suffer far worse tortures than the millionaire unless they avail themselves of a standard medicine like Green's August Flower, which has been a favorite household remedy for all stomach troubles for over thirty-five years. August Flower rouses the torpid liver, thus creating appetite and insuring perfect digestion. It tones and vitalizes the entire system and makes life worth living, no matter what your station. Trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c.

More of Them Wanted.

Burwell Tribune: The other day we seen a young man hand his father a five-dollar william that he had earned husking corn. "I don't need the money," he said by way of explanation, "and you may need it." The boy didn't have a red vest, he had never been "out for a good time" with other young men, had not learned to play pool nor never set in a poker game, yet he "didn't need the money." It was about the hardest jolt we have had for many a day—but we'd like to be jolted that way often. The world needs millions of boys of this sort. There are plenty of fops for the giddy females to play with; plenty of young booze-fighters and plenty of sports. There's a demand for steady, honest, honorable, manly young men. May their tribe increase.
