J. W. Wagers and family arrived home from their California trip, last Thursday. They were favorably impressed with California but have no intention of leaving Holt county as yet.

Last Saturday as Charles Haynes and Lou Clyde were coming to town, one of the bolts holding the tongue of the buggy came out, allowing the tongue to drop down on one side, which frightened the team and started them to running, throwing Charles and Lou out. The team made a circle through town, running into Dr. Bryan's hedge row, which stopped them. The buggy was broken some, but Charles and Lou escaped safe and sound, except for a few scratches and bruises.—The Reporter.

CHAMBERS
Fire west of Amelia made a few move in haste last week Wednesday night and the wire fence phone from Amelia to Riley's ranch likely saved many times its cost. The fire started from Lierman Bros. from a pile of hay ashes. L. P. Moss having been at work in their store until late saw the blaze and telephoned Riley's to find out where it was. They were all in bed but soon answered to the call and upon looking out discovered that the fire was then testing a guard within 80 rods of their buildings. Prompt action saved all loss except the burning of 200 or 300 oak posts belonging to Lierman's, which were piled near their buildings and could not be saved. Mr. Lierman was at Inez when the fire started but was quickly notified by means of Riley's long distance phone. He with many others soon came, some on the run and some on a nag. At Lierman's place they found the fire within a few feet of the house and sheds, but all were saved.—Amelia item in The Bugle.
